OLD NORTH MEETING HOUSE FROM 1762 TO 1837.

SKETCH OF THE NORTH CHURCH,

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.,

From 1712 to 1854.— By H. C. K.

Prepared for the Society's late Social Gathering.

"Therefore, Honorable and worthy countrymen," said Capt. Smith to the New Hampshire colonists," let not the meanness of the word fish distaste you, for it will afford you as good gold as the mines of Potosi, with less hazard and charge, and more certainty and facility."

This discloses in the briefest manner the origin of Portsmouth, for that lofty and self forgetting devotion to great principles which baptized many of the early settlements lining the New England coast, never put its seal on the brow of Strawberry Bank. Its first colonists—fish mongers of London, more intent on trade than religion—arrived three years after the Pilgrims at Plymouth. They first settled at Little Harbor, nor was it until seven years that houses began to dot the ridge which run along from Pitts Street to Chapel Hill, then called The Bank. Here the church with its wholesome discipline and heavenly comforts found an early home. Though a chapel and parsonage seem to have been built, no regular provision was made for a settled ministry until 1640, when twenty of the inhabitants deeded to some church wardens fifty acres of land for a glebe, twelve of which lay in what is now the most compact part of the city: and seventeen years after the town voted to build a meeting house on a rise of land a few rods south of the south mill dam. Hitherto there had been but transient preaching; but the progress of the new meeting house, quickening the religious instincts of the settlers, they resolved to have a minister, and thirty-six subscribers called a young man of rising fame, Joshua Moodey, from the neighboring colony of Massachusetts. This was in 1658. He accepted the call and the town voted to settle him. And as a proof, we take it, of their readiness to remove all hindrances in the way of the new preacher's usefulness, the town meeting ordered a cage to be made to punish those who slept or took tobacco on the Lord's Day, during the public service. Such cages might not be amiss now-a-days. Mr. Moodey was a brave, able and zealous preacher; and when we think of his moral field, a trading community long isolated from the ordinances of the gospel, with diversities of religious opinions, if opinions at all; or what might be worse, indifference to all religion; with little or no spiritual affinities for the Puritan element of sister colonies, we need not wonder that thirteen years of instruction and labor were necessary before a church could be gathered. Professing christians from other places had meanwhile moved to Portsmouth, who felt they could no "longer satisfy themselves to live without those strengthening and edifying ordinances which their souls tasted the good of in times past and others well affected to the work, professed their longings after the fat and marrowed things of God's house." Little meetings of conference, confession and prayer were held from house to house, "to the mutual refreshing and endearing of the speakers, and to the awakening and warning of the neighbors who were permitted to be present." The civil authority was made acquainted with their wishes, and in 1671, several churches were invited to come and assist in the formation of the first church in Portsmouth and the "ordination of officers therein." These were the church in Cambridge, of which Mr. Moodey was a member, and those of Ipswich, Rowley, and Hampton. Eight members with the minister entered into a covenant of their faith in Christ, and with appropriate solemnities he was ordained their Pastor. A Deacon also was set apart by the imposition of hand and prayer. And thus after a lapse of nearly fifty years, this little branch of the spiritual vine was planted in feebleness but in faith upon our native soil. More than ten years of pastoral labor went by, when political troubles disturbed the peace of the people of God. In 1684, a member of the church was charged with false swearing in relation to the seizure of a fishing smack in the harbor, and though the matter was hushed up to the Governor, not so to the minister. In an attempt to ferret out the truth, the Governor commanded him to desist; but zealous for the honor of the church, he preached a sermon upon the evil of false swearing, and boldly called the offender to an account; who, unable to brave the searching and pungent preaching of his minister, made a public confession of his sin. This the imperious spirit of Governor Cranfield could not brook, and he determined to wreak his vengeance on Mr. Moodey. For this purpose he determined to put into execution the Conformity Act of Charles the 2d, which was at that time scattering thousands of the best subjects in England. He therefore, as Governor, issued a formal edict, which declared "that all persons who desired it should be admitted to the Lord's Supper, according to the Liturgy of the English church." The Governor then sent word to the pastor, that he and two of his friends intended to partake of this sacrament on the next Lord's day.

Mr. Moodey promptly and boldly refused to receive them, for which he was arrested and thrown into jail at Great Island, now called New Castle. "Our menester lyes in prison and a fammine of the Word of God cominge upon us," writes one in that dark day. "The Sabbath is come, but no preaching at the Banke. Mutyonies have been made that Mr. Moodey may goe up and preach on the Lord's daye, tho' hee come down to prisson at night, or that naibor ministers might be permitted to come and preach, or that the people might come down to the prison and heare as many as could, but nothing will doe. Good Mrs. Martin was buried, being not able to live above one Sabbath after the shutting up the doors of the sanctuary." Nor was the sorrow of the bereaved flock less keen than that of the imprisoned pastor. In the absence of the Governor, he obtained leave from his deputy to permit preaching, and thus he pours out his soul in a letter to a brother clergyman at Rowley, beseeching his assistance. "Pray for me that God would thoroughly humble, pardon, sanctify and comfort me. Who shall deliver me from this body of death? Blessed be God for Jesus Christ. O, consider that my poor flock have fasted about forty days and must now be an hungered. Have pity upon them, have pity upon them, oh thou my friend, and when you have taken yr turn we shall hope for some other. Let this good work for the House of God be done, that you may be blest of God for good. You will thereby not only visit me in prison, but feed a great multitude of the hungry and thirsty little ones in Christ, which will be accounted for at that day."

After thirteen weeks imprisonment Mr. Moodey was released, on condition of his leaving the colony. He went to Boston, where he staid ten years, his old and endeared flock never losing their hold upon him. In 1693, all obstacles having been removed, he returned to labor four years longer among the people of Portsmouth, when death removed him to the rewards of the faithful in Heaven. His last words to a brother clergyman were, "The life of the churches—the life of the churches, and the power of godliness in them, I beseech you to look after that." Checkered as his ministry had been, it was blessed of God; one hundred and sixty were gathered into the church during his ministry, and such was the power of his preaching that families walked from Greenland, six or eight miles, to attend the Sabbath service. What provision was made in the counsels of the dying pastor for his successor, we do not know; but within a month after his death, a call was issued to Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, the son of President Rogers of Harvard College, a descendant of the martyr, whose spiritual gifts marked many of that illustrious line.

As settlements thickened on the Bank, and the old meeting house became battered by the storms of more than fifty winters, the town voted to build a new one on the corner of the glebe land in the northerly part of the town. The movement excited a fierce opposition; town meetings and counter town meetings, votes and counter votes agitated the community, while still the building went up, and when completed, the majority decided it should be the settled meeting house of the town, and a vote of the church removed Mr. Rogers from the old sanctuary to the new. This was the old three storied pile, whose double galleries and square pews and huge oak posts and braces are within the memory of the present generation. A picture of this House is given on this sheet.

In 1740, permission was given by the parish to "any persons or number of persons to procure a clock at their own cost, to set it up in the steeple of their meetin' house, so that its hammer might strike on the bell." This permission was accepted a few years after, by Daniel Peirce and several other gentlemen, who purchased a clock and presented it to the town on the 25th of March, 1749. This clock, many years afterwards, on the introduction of a new one, was removed to the tower of the old South Meeting House, where it did good service till a recent period. The new clock, which took its place, was made by that faithful and accurate workman, Mr. Simon Willard, in the year 1803, and after the constant wear of about fifty years, is pronounced about as good as new. It is to be used in the new tower, with the old bell, as a connecting link between the past and the present.

The present bell bears the date of 1763, its immediate predecessor, the record says, having become cracked, was sent to England to be recast and was lost on the voyage.

Mr. Rogers' able ministry continued until 1728, when his death took place, and he was buried in the old burial place called the "Point of Graves." Rev. John Fitch, from Ipswich, succeeded him, on the salary of 130 pounds a year, and the "contribution of strangers." After a pious and useful ministry of twenty years, the influence of age creeping upon him, a young clergyman from Boston, Samuel Langdon, master of a grammar-school in town, was invited to assist Mr. Fitch in his pastoral labors. Within a year, 1746, the old minister ceased from his earthly work, and the new one entered upon all the responsibilities of the ministerial office. For twenty seven years he was the faithful preacher and laborious pastor of the North Church, when his learning and piety secured to him the Presidency of Harvard College, and he removed to Cambridge. In the interval of five years between his departure and the settlement of Rev. Joseph Buckminster, Dr. Stiles of Newport, driven from his flock by the calamities of the war, supplied the North Church pulpit for a year, and he might have long remained to bless the town with his able ministry, had not Yale College invited him to the President's chair.

Massachusetts again gave one of her sons, and Rev. Joseph Buckminster, in the early part of 1779, was ordained over the old North Church.—Portsmouth had been now long distinguished for its wealth and the generous hospitality of its principal families. The elegance and splendor of the old country were reproduced in this part of the new. Cocked hats and gold headed canes, embroidered waistcoats and gold laced coats glided up the aisles of the old meeting house; while chariots with liveried footmen were standing at the door. Politics and pleasure divided the breasts of the people, and little room was left for the exercise of that holy living required by the elevated standard of Buckminster's theology.—Thirty three years of faithful and indefatigable labor passed away, whose fruit, not all seen by our dim vision, is yet gathered up in the eternal harvest.

Mr. Buckminster's death took place in June, 1812, while on a journey in quest of health, at Bennington, Vermont, spreading grief throughout his flock and over a large circle of relatives and friends. He was among the last of a generation of revered ministers, who in addition to learning and talents, magnified the dignity of the clerical office; and whose priestly garments won respect from the old, inspired the young with awe, and were ever a silent remembrancer of the interests of that kingdom which is not of this world.

Rev. Israel W. Putnam, another of the Bay State sons, succeeded Dr. Buckminster. After a ministry of twenty years, marked by powerful revivals and the ingathering of many into the church of our Lord, he left in 1835 for another field of labor, leaving many hearts knit to him by the tenderest ties of christian affection.

The antiquated architecture of the old sanctuary it was now thought, needed to be remodeled; and though many an old parishioner shed over the restless spirit of reform, the old pile, both inside and out, was converted into a respectable looking meeting house of more modern style.

Rev. Edwin Holt was the first occupant of the re-formed sanctuary. He was installed in 1836, and resigned his charge for a parish in New York, in 1842.

Rev. Rufus W. Clark was his successor, who after a popular ministry of nine years, accepted a call at the Maverick church in East Boston, in 1851.

The present pastor, Rev. Henry D. Moore, was installed in August, 1853. But the "North," the holy place where our fathers worshipped, has done its work for the generations gone by; it was decrepit with age; it had lost its hold upon the affections of the people of the present;—it has been swept away, and a "New North," better suited to the tastes and demands of the present age, has risen on the old site. When a vote of the parish decided to tear down the old and build a "New," thirty seven parishioners came forward with generous subscriptions, from one hundred to three thousand dollars, according to their means, until they reached the sum of 24,000; the utmost harmony and willingness to cooperate have hitherto presided over the councils of the building committee and the minds of the parish, and no serious hindrance has stayed the progress of the work. May the glory of this latter house be greater than the former."

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1855.

☞ We wish you a happy New Year!

FACTS FOR CONSIDERATION.

An intelligent friend informs us that a firm in Dover, who formerly did not trade in liquors, now sell 2000 barrels of Rum per annum, chiefly to go into Maine. Of course these sales for Maine are made in consequence of the difficulties of a public sale in that State. It may be added, that these sales are unlawful in this State; they violate our present liquor law.

The business of manufacturing whiskey and high wines is largely carried on in the city of Albany. The Register says there is a single concern, doing a business of some $200,000 per annum, that every day converts over 400 bushels of honest Indian corn into maddening, poisonous, destructive Whiskey! Another house does a business of some $350,000 to $400,000 per annum. But recently, the house last spoken of received an order from France for 15,000 gallons of this alcohol. This will go over there, be tinkered up into highly colored and flavored liquids, and come here, one of these days, labelled "Old Q," "Otard," "Cognac," and what not, and sold at prices yielding enormous profit. This business of whiskey making and rectifying must reach full $1,000,000 per annum in that city.

Liquor Law in New York.—The New York Tribune does not look for the passage of such a prohibitory liquor law in that State as was passed by the last New York Legislature, for it says:

Now the temperance men, for party's sake and for their own sakes, are substantially agreed on this ground:—1, That some prohibitory bill must be passed; and 2, That it must be drawn as mild as possible. They desire a law that will shut up low, miserable grog shops, where bad liquor is sold, and bear as lightly as possible on genteel, respectable establishments, where pure liquor is dispensed at generous prices. They wish to satisfy their temperance supporters, yet retain the favor of the distillers, importers, and respectable venders of alcoholic beverages. And they are prompt and liberal in their denunciations of all who take a different view of the matter as fanatics, impracticables, &c., &c.

All this does not suit the Tribune, which contends that a most stringent liquor law should be passed, and that such a law alone can be enforced. The Temperance men spoken of, we suppose, are those who belong to the Legislature, and who were elevated on some new and special pledge of what they would do. If the Tribune is right in its statements, they are not so safe as men would be, who were chosen for what they had been, and had done, without pledges.

Three Trials for a Verdict.—At Norwich, Conn., on Wednesday, the jury brought in a verdict against the New London, Willimantic and Palmer Railroad Company, and in favor of Crocker, the plaintiff, of eight thousand two hundred and ninety one dollars. The court was of opinion that the sum was too large, and sent them out again. They subsequently came in with seven thousand two hundred and sixty dollars. But the court considered this rather excessive, and sent them out once more. This time they brought in six thousand five hundred, which was accepted and entered as the final award. Curious proceeding.—Boston Courier.

Very curious on the part of the court; and very accommodating, on the part of the jury. If the latter body had known their rights and duties, they would have brought in the same verdict again and again.

The "Ocean" Disaster. — The local board of United States Inspectors of steam vessels, Boston district, have investigated the facts in the case of the collision between the steamers Ocean and Canada, and made up their decision. The Inspectors (Messrs. Increase S. Hill and Andrew Burnham) say:

From the testimony, we believe the Canada was on the starboard bow of the Ocean when first seen by the Ocean's pilots, and her red, or larboard light was hid from them; and that the Canada did not alter her course. We also believe if the Ocean had kept her course, she would have passed the Canada at least three hundred feet to the north.

The printed diagrams explain the rules and regulations to be observed by all pilots of passenger steamers in passing each other by night, two copies of which were on board the Ocean. These rules in regard to lights, are observed not only by American and British steamers, but, (so far as we are informed) by all other nations. It appears to us that the position of the steamers Canada and Ocean, when first seen by each other, was very nearly that which is represented in the fourth section of said diagrams, and we believe the collision occurred through a mistaken belief on the part of the pilots of the Ocean, that they were bound to go to the right at all hazards.

As the law justifies no mistakes, it becomes our duty to revoke the licenses of Richard Donovan, George Stilphen, and James Collins, for not observing the rules and regulations made by the supervising inspectors, for the government of pilots of steamers in passing each other at night.

Opening a Letter.—Greenleaf C. Bachelder was arraigned before Commissioner Woodbury at Boston, on Saturday last, on the charge of having taken from the post office at Effingham, and opened, a letter not belonging to him, with the intent of prying into the secrets and correspondence of another.—He was bound over in $800 to answer at the next U. S. District Court of New Hampshire, and gave bail to that amount.

POST OFFICE THIEF.

The Boston Courier states, that the postmaster of Boston has known, for several weeks past, that packages of letters had been abstracted from the post office from time to time, and that in many instances large sums of money contained in them had been stolen. Two letters from Lowell—one containing a five hundred dollar bill and the other three one hundred dollar bills—were among the number stolen; and other letters with money in them, were known to be taken.

The postmaster watched, diligently, the movements of Joseph B. Spear, a clerk in the newspaper delivery department, whose occasional unauthorized interference with packages of letters led him to suspect him as the embezzler; but Mr. Bailey, although convinced in his own mind that Mr. Spear had stolen letters and money, could not fasten any particular act upon him. To stop the leakage, however, he discharged Mr. Spear on the 18th instant.

Since that time, having thrown the ex-clerk upon his own resources, the postmaster has kept constant watch upon him, and learning the other day that he had offered a five hundred dollar bill on a Lowell bank in payment for a watch, at a store on Washington street—and that the shop-keeper being unable to change the note he produced a one hundred dollar bill of a bank in the same city—Mr Bailey on Friday sent for Spear. The latter called at the post office, and the postmaster asked him some questions about his watch and the money taken from the Lowell letters. At first he denied everything, then confessed a little, and by degrees it came out that he has been stealing letters almost daily from the middle of November till the day of his discharge. He said that he had spent large sums of money—and the number of his trinkets showed that he had, foolishly; but he restored about $841.50, including $700 of the Lowell money.

Mr. Bailey at once made a complaint before United States Commissioner C. P. Curtis, Jr. Spear was taken into custody, and held for examination in the sum of $5000.

The prisoner is a young man, a native of Baltimore, and has a wife and two children. He has hitherto enjoyed the confidence of his employers and the respect of those who knew him. It has been ascertained that the principal packages of letters stolen by Spear were mailed at Lowell, Providence, Worcester, Lynn, Salem and Newburyport. His mode of operating was something like this: When the mail arrived, he would enter the assorting department, and now and then, when not observed, throw into his basket a bundle of letters. These he would secrete in the newspaper delivery department until alone, when he would open the letters, and, having pocketed the money found in them, burn the letters in the stove. He confesses that he has destroyed a very large number of letters from time to time.

Hagar the Martyr.—Fetridge & Co., of Boston, have just published a neat volume of 360 pages, entitled "Hagar the Martyr, or Passion and Reality. A tale of the North and South. By Mrs. H. Marion Stephens."

This is no series of tales, but a veritable novel, with a beginning, middle and end; an interesting, connected tale, with a moral.

Mrs. Stephens says in her preface—"Hagar is no ideal creation: and there are ten thousand Hagars the country through, who only need an encouraging word and a kindly look to wile them back to peace and virtue." She dedicates the book to the women of America.

The work is for sale by J. F. Shores, Jr. in this city.

Harper's Magazine, for Jan. 1855, is just received from Fetridge & Co. via J. F. Shores, Jr. of this city.

The number opens with a life of General Jackson, beautifully illustrated. The next article is the closing chapter of Napoleon Bonaparte, by Abbott, with numerous engravings. There are many excellent papers in this number, especially some chapters of the Newcomes.

The Missing Schooner Found.—We learn from the Salem Journal that the schr. Atlantic, of Salem, which ran ashore on Cohasset rocks a few days since, and as soon as the terrified captain and crew had succeeded in reaching the land, turned about, much to their astonishment, and sailed off before the wind on her own hook, without a word of adieu, has been picked up at sea by a Provincetown pilot boat, and taken into Provincetown harbor. Her larboard bow was badly chafed when she struck, and she had leaked a little, so that her cargo of corn was somewhat damaged. She sustained no very serious injury, however, and will be ready to sail for Salem when ordered. The Atlantic is owned by R. W. Ropes & Co. of Salem.

The Late T. W. Dorr.—The Pawtucket Chronicle says of Mr. Dorr—"He had warm friends and bitter enemies, and there is no person now living who knew him sufficiently unprejudiced to write his epitaph. He had his faults, as all men have; but among them was not that of pursuing one course in sunshine and another in storm. The powers of man could not turn him from the purposes of his heart."

The suppression of grain distilleries in France has relieved but little the distress in the northern departments. A large quantity of the beet-root is sent to them from Belgium for distillation. The extraction of alcohol from Indian Corn, horse-chestnuts, and dog's-grass, is widely prosecuted. Every substance imagined to be distilled, is thrown into the alembic.

The rise in the western rivers, announced by telegraph, is highly important to business interests, as it enables shippers to get forward to southern and eastern markets large amounts of produce, which have heretofore been locked up.

LOCAL.

☞ The engraving of the Old North Church, on our first page, was taken from a drawing made within a few days by Robert Gray, Esq., from measurements preserved by Dr. Geo. G. Brewster, aided by the memory of themselves and others of the "old folks."—It is a fair representation of the old house, but the engraver, in his hurry, hardly did justice to the sketch given for a pattern.

Mr. Gregory has an accurate daguerreotype of the house lately torn down, and will furnish copies.

☞ The Temperance Lecture announced for this evening at the Temple, is postponed, on account of the indisposition of the speaker.

☞ The Musical Convention at the Hanover Street Chapel, offers a rare opportunity for pleasure and profit, to all who have music in their souls. See advertisement and circulars.

☞ The Young Ladies' Sewing Circle connected with the Middle Street Society in this city, announce a Tea Party or Levee at Jefferson Hall, on Wednesday and Thursday Evenings of the present week.

Portsmouth, Dec. 30, 1854.

Breaking Through the Ice.— One of the Hudson River passenger sleighs broke the ice, on Tuesday afternoon, about three o'clock, while crossing the river from East Albany to this city. The sleigh contained between fifteen and twenty passengers, all of whom were nearly submerged, but it is beleived none were drowned. Mr. Frederick Staabe, a German, who was one of the passengers, gives the following account of the occurrence:

"I was a passenger on the sleigh from East Albany which broke through—occupied a seat about midway from the driver and the end. As we entered the ferry cut, the rear end of the sleigh commenced sinking, and immediately the ice gave way, the sleigh continuing to sink. The horses also broke through the ice. I should think there were about twenty persons in the sleigh at the time. Several passengers jumped out upon the ice. A young man who sat near me reached the solid ice, and I took hold of his coat and was helped out. I was in the water up to my neck. When I reached the solid ice the heads of the horses were all that could be seen above water. I assisted two ladies out. One was almost entirely under water. I took hold of her clothing near her neck, and as I raised her up she grabbed my arm and was thus drawn upon the ice. The second lady was in the water near the horses. I got hold of her arm and pulled her out. The ice near the sleigh sunk down, and the water covered it for some distance. While assisting the ladies out I was in the water up to my knees. I think all were rescued. Several men from the ferry boats came to our assistence and helped a number of passengers out of the sleigh and water."—Albany Argus.

An Imposition.—At the inquest on the body of an Irish woman named Ellen Cotter, found drowned at Lewis's wharf, Boston, it was testified to that while she had $145 in the Savings Bank, and $15 in bills at home, she had been for two years a public charge to the city of Boston. Such cases are quite numerous. Several years ago, an Irishman and his wife, who were receiving public relief, were found to be in possession of $3000, profitably invested.—Traveller.

The Writing force of England.—In the English census returns, literature made by no means a conspicuous figure, only five hundred and twenty four authors being set down, one hundred and forty one literary private secretaries, and one thousand three hundred and twenty editors and writers, together with two hundred and seven reporters for newspapers, and short hand writers.

Promotion of the Non-Commissioned Officers. — Sixteen officers' commissions have already been given, in the British army in the Crimea, to non-commissioned officers who had distinguished themselves in action, or otherwise by good conduct. This is calculated, if followed up in a liberal spirit, to infuse new courage and energy into the entire army.

Middletown Silver Mines.—It is stated in the Middletown (Conn.) News that these mines have been sold for $125,000 to capitalists in England, who are preparing to send out a strong force of miners to prosecute the business on a large scale. In the opinion of geologists the works are deemed valuable, and their worth will now no doubt be thoroughly tested.

New Orleans, Dec. 27.—The old cotton house of Brander & McCenna in this city, suspended payment to-day, and their liabilities are very heavy. Their suspension has been caused by their acceptance of the drafts of Edward Matthews, who has also failed in consequence of his inability to get to market large quantities of lard, of which he is the possessor at St. Louis.

John W. Rose of North Bradford, while on trial at New Haven for assault with intent to kill, tumbled his lawyer over in the court room while he was urging the plea of insanity in behalf of his client. The counsellor was not seriously injured. The Attorney General withdrew the case, and the prisoner was sent back to jail to be treated for insanity.

Ancient Harmony Revived.

THE Company of Veterans are hereby notified to meet at the Piscataqua House, on MONDAY Evening, Jan. 1, at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Dec. 29.

SENATE.—The annual appropriation bills for the post office and the army, for the year ending in July, 1856, came in from the House and were referred to the committee on finance.

On Tuesday Mr. Badger will call up the bill increasing the pay of Judges and Congressmen. Adjourned.

SATURDAY, Dec. 30.

House.—Several Executive communications were received.

Mr. Washburn of Me. asked leave to offer a resolution that the Secretary of Navy, if in his judgment not inconsistent with the naval service, provide a ship for the conveyance of works of art and industry to France for the Great Exhibition at Paris, next year.

Mr. Hamilton, of Maryland, objected.

No quorum being present, the House adj. till Tuesday.

DEMARARA, Nov. 25.—The dry season has been a short one compared with ordinary years, but it has been more intense and destructive in its operations than the drouth of any other year we can remember. Ground provisions have suffered the most severely, and their price has risen accordingly. We have had an occasional arrival of a few immigrants, and one important departure. The Sandford sailed the other day, carrying away 251 Coolies, possessing among them no less a sum than $21,000 in silver money, after a five years' residence. They must have been industrious and saving, of course, to have hoarded such a sum, and it is to be presumed that the plantation on which they were employed benefitted in a proportionate ratio. The advance on the price of sugar and rum at home has, of course, cheered the colonial heart, but business still remains dull, although stocks are not diminishing. The colony is healthy.

NEW YORK, 29th.

SENTENCED.—Fitzgibbon, who was recently convicted of robbing the mails in our post office, was this morning sentenced to ten years in the State Prison.

The Supposed Slaver.—The schooner George H. Townsend, which was seized on suspicion of being fitted out at this port for the slave trade, has been permitted to depart on her voyage, on security for $5000 being given, and the necessary stipulations being entered into by her master.

Arrest for Fraud.—Thos. C. Thompson, of Ithaca, has been arrested and held to bail in $5000, charged by the American Magnetic Sewing Machine Company with obtaining $50,000 of the stock of that company by false pretences, selling them certain improvements of which he was not the inventor.

TORONTO, 29th.—The extensive cabinet manufactory of Messrs, Jacques & Hayes, in this city, one of the most extensive in Canada, was destroyed by fire last night, together with nearly the whole of its contents. Loss $160,000. The insurance on the property is very small. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment by this disaster.

The Northampton Gazette complains that Prof. Clark, of Amherst College, lectured in that town upon a scientific subject, to an audience of two dozen, while the next evening Barnum, prince of humbug, lectured on "Humbugs" to an audience of about 1200.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—In the Senate of Missouri, on Monday, Mr. McCracken, anti-Bentonite, was elected Secretary, and in the House Wm. Newland was elected Speaker, twenty Benton men voting for him.

The Governor's message had not been delivered.

The Whig members had adopted a platform, discountenancing in every way the efforts of the Fresoilers and Abolitionists to continue the agitation of slavery, and declaring they will not vote for any person for Senator who is not favorable to their views and the Nebraska Bill.

WASHINGTON, 28th.—The administration is anxious for the annexation of the Sandwich Islands, but the sentiments of Congress are not favorable to immediate action. Our legislators want to know, first, what is to be done in reference to Cuba, and seem indisposed to take up the subject till the plan of the administration is developed.

In the New York Marine Court last week, a carter, named Van Holland, was compelled to pay $200 for wantonly running his cart wheel over the fore foot of the horse of another carter named Sweet, whereby the poor animal's foot was so much injured that it was found necessary to shoot him.

The Mousam River bank bills are not received at the Suffolk Bank; but we are told that the bank is perfectly sound, and holders of bills are cautioned not to sacrifice them, as we are assured that arrangements will soon be made to redeem them.

Capt. Hamilton, of Portland, has been missing from his home for some time. He had $150 with him when he left home, and was last seen in a cellar at the corner of Commercial street and Long wharf, in Boston.

No Danger.

But I shall continue to sell all kinds of Fancy Goods, Embroideries, Trimmings, &c. at extremely low prices.

Sagamore House,

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the success of the enterprise bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information regarding the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that secret party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinnest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal authority of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "Herts, Brothers' Patent, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S

Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE

RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are Prolapsus Uteri, or Falling of the Womb; Fluor Albus, or Whites; Chronic Inflammation of the Womb; Incipient Hemorrhage or Flooding; Painful, Suppressed, and Irregular Menstruation, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the Uterine Catholicon, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GALE, 33 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

EMELINE COLESWORTHY,
New Bedford, Mass.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1855.

THE HARTFORD TIMES.

A few days ago, in copying some statements about the operation of a law in Connecticut, purporting to come from the Hartford Times, we remarked that we were not acquainted with the paper, and therefore did not know how much weight to give its testimony.

Its character for veracity and sound judgment can now be fairly inferred from the following sentences, which we find in another paper, credited to the Hartford Times:

Here there has been more drunkenness than ever before. If the liquors are not openly sold, they are plenty enough at every corner. It is getting to be fashionable to drink and offer strong drink to others. The Maine Law has done this.

Every sober man of sound judgment, will have his own opinion on the question whether the fashions of drinking and offering drink, which certainly exist in Portsmouth to-day, are the offspring of the Maine Law which does not exist here, or of our New Hampshire law which has never been enforced here.

Every man who has lived here long enough, knows full well, that the fashion of public drinking, and of offering drinks, prevailed here forty years ago, far more than now.—And all such know that especially in regard to offering drinks, there was ten fold more then than now. No prohibitory law then existed; but there was a license law, throwing the garb of legality and respectability round the traffic and the use of the article: and the customs of moral, religious, polite and refined society, as well as the customs of the vile and debased, all conspired to make a fashion stronger than law, in favor of drinking.—And as to offering drinks, no man was then thought to be civil, who did not offer them to every guest.

Some remnants of these wretched fashions remain to this day, having never been entirely driven out; though they have been greatly diminished. When they revive a little, drunkenness of course revives with them. They have somewhat revived here during the past five years, not, as every man knows, because of temperance laws here,—for no laws attempting prohibition have been enforced.

Now, we may presume, that when New Hampshire passes a law like the Connecticut liquor law, some paper in this State, (like the Hartford Times) will have an editor who will visit a private bar-room or club room, and then tell us gravely that it is fashionable to drink and offer liquors: and add, "The Maine Law has done this."

He may possibly find somebody who can believe him; but we can't. Nor can we believe such a compound of folly and falsehood as is presented by the few sentences we have quoted from the Hartford Times. It is inconsistent with itself; it is contradicted by better testimony. It is, moreover, just the same story which we heard from Maine, two years ago, and which has since been abundantly proved to be a falsehood. A fashion fifty years old, can hardly be the offspring of a law which has not yet lived six months.—Drunkenness no doubt exists in Hartford: but the new law did not bring it there.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENTS AT SOUTH BERWICK.—We have received from a correspondent at South Berwick, the modus operandi of the friends of temperance in that town. A subscription to the amount of $6000 was raised among those favorable to the execution of the Maine law, to be paid as needed to a committee of five, chosen to put the law into execution. This committee consists of James Cushing, John Plumer, Humphrey Brackett, of South Berwick; Levi Clark and a Mr. Pierce, of Berwick;—and they are proving themselves worthy the name of law officers. During the last week, they arrested and brought before Justice Chas. E. Norton, Ivory Chadbourne, of Berwick—who, being proved a common seller, paid $200 and destroyed his own liquors, (part of seventeen barrels); Oliver Worster, of Berwick—proved a common seller, paid $244, and destroyed his own liquors; one Horn, of Berwick, paid $100, and destroyed his own liquors; Levi Reed, of the Washington House—paid $40, and destroyed his liquors; Oliver Parsons, of South Berwick—paid $126.50; and Benjamin Stillings—agrees to pay $175, when he gets it.

These sums were paid the committee to discontinue the suits for which they were prepared.

Upwards of one thousand gallons of liquors have been poured down the streets—the dealers being especially provoked that they are obliged to stave in the heads of their own casks.

The committee are prepared to commence on the lower order of grog-shops the present week,—being determined to entirely eradicate the rum traffic in Berwick.

The balance, after paying costs of prosecution, is to be distributed among the poor of the town.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

EXETER, N. H., Jan. 1, 1855.

I see by the Chronicle, that the business men of your city generally "kept Christmas." A good idea. Americans, especially Yankees, are too much afraid of keeping holy days or holidays. Here the day passed like other week-days. Services were held in the Unitarian Church on Christmas Eve. The house was dressed for the occasion—tastefully, with the exception of a star and cross placed one above the other over the pulpit. The star was so much the larger, that the cross appeared as if intended but to support it.

On the evening of Christmas, Prof. Hitchcock delivered his lecture on Labor before the Exeter Lyceum. Not even the complaint of its being too long, have I heard—though it certainly could with advantage be condensed and shortened one-third. Prof. H. is very popular in this his former place of residence. Matthew Hale Smith delivers the next lecture. Lucy Stone is to deliver two lectures on her own account, here, this week, upon woman's Rights, tickets at nincepence—and she will have full houses.

Fairs have been the rage here, as I see they have with you. One was held on Tuesday evening by the Unitarian Society, the proceeds to be used to purchase books for the Sunday School Library. Another by the Methodist Society, in aid of their minister, was given on Wednesday evening, and was very successful. Persons of all denominations attended both, and such occasions probably serve more than any other means to wear off that stiffness too often exhibited between different sects. The various games of chance—having some slight resemblance to lotteries,—encouraged at all such gatherings, are not a whit more objectionable because they are employed to subserve a good object.

The popular "Old Folk's Concert" given a short time since in your city, seems to have made the old folks here realize that they, too, might be able to get up something of the kind, and bring out the native talent, which only needs this incentive to cause it to shine with renewed brightness. Exeter has long been famous for its singers, and we may expect soon to have such a concert as shall prove like "wine that needs no bush."

The Know Nothings are said to have a large lodge here, and the good people of "our village," believing that "the wise man thinks he knows nothing—the fool all things," will help at the next election to roll on the tide of popular resistance to the encroachments and aggressions of the Roman Catholic Church. J.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for December, is on our table, from Leonard Scott & Co., publishers, New York. The number begins with The Story of the Campaign, Chapter I. It is written by an officer now in the Crimea, and will be continued, if he lives, from month to month. It is well written: and we need not say it is interesting, as it deals in description and detail.

THE SCHOOL JOURNAL, for the use of scholars, a valuable help to easy and useful composition. By a Teacher. This, and the American School Hymn Book, by Asa Fitz, are new and seasonable books for schools, just published, and for sale in this city by Mr. J. H. Foster.

DEATH OF A VETERAN PRINTER.—Mr. William Hoit, for a life-long time, and until very lately, a resident of Concord, died in Pembroke, last Thursday, at the age of 71. Mr. H. was a Printer by profession, and long known and much respected by the great body of Printers here and elsewhere, wherever he was known as the "Old Veteran," an appellation conferred upon him as an honorary title with the craft on account of age, experience, and a preciseness in which he indulged in the execution of his work. He has, probably, set and distributed more amount of types than any other man now in the State, if not more than any one who ever lived in it; and touching him there are now remembered many interesting and amusing anecdotes. But of his life we may speak more fully hereafter. We hear of his death just before going to press, and will only add, it was long his living desire that, when at last his "form" was to be laid away as "dead matter," it might be borne there by youthful members of "the craft," and followed by the men of the quill, the case and the press. This will be done; and many of those who knew him well, his fellow-citizens, will repair to the house of the son of the deceased, Mr. William Hoit, on Spring Street, at 1 o'clock, P. M., this afternoon, to render the last services and pay the last attention to what yet remains on earth of "THE OLD VETERAN."—Voice of the Stockholders.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—According to the Montreal Herald, Newfoundland will not, under the general clauses of the reciprocity treaty, obtain the benefit of its provisions. This, however, does not affect its coming into full operation, so far as the other British North American colonies are concerned, a special provision having been made for Newfoundland. Nova Scotia has just accepted the terms of the treaty; Canada, New Brunswick and Prince Edward's Island having done so previously, it would appear that nothing now remains to give it full effect but the proclamation of the United States President. Free trade will then be substantially established between British America and the United States.—Portland Advertiser.

LOCAL.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

DECISION IN THE CASE, ANDREW J. BECK vs. OLIVER HANSCOM.

As we expected, the Superior Court have decided to dismiss the petition of Ex-Marshal Beck for a writ of Mandamus. So the cockade of Marshal Hanscom will not be surrendered, and his authority will not hereafter be questioned.

Thus ends the effort of a portion of the Aldermen, by resorting to a legal (?) process, to delay the business of the city, to oppose its interest and the proper execution of law, and to incur a large debt for the city to pay.—They first neglected their duty, refusing to go into Convention for the choice of city officers, and then instituted legal proceedings by which they supposed they would be sustained in taking advantage of their own wrong.

The result did not answer their expectation—but we presume nobody else is sorry to see this promising law-suit nipped in the bud. The less we have of it, the less we have to pay taxes for; and the more peace we have to be thankful for.

We do not much like some provisions of our amended charter: but we have never doubted, since we first read them, that they should be interpreted exactly as the Court has now interpreted them, in sustaining the City Government as it is.

We presume this is the end of the strife in our present City Council, as the year is mostly gone. It will be the people's fault if they don't set the matter all right next March.

LIGHT HOUSES.

We have seen at the Custom House in this city, a beautiful apparatus for a brilliant and flashing light, which is to be put up in the Light House on Whale's Back. We would suggest that some substantial repairs and improvements ought to be made on the Light-house itself, to render it more comfortable as a residence.

The new apparatus is called the Fresnel Lens. A similar apparatus on a larger scale, is erected on Boon Island Light House. Great improvements have been made in the whole matter of coast lights, within a few years. This species of lens is to be regarded as not one of the least.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS.—At the High School for Girls, Mr. Nichols, the principal, received a Pie-knife as a present from the pupils.

Miss Hanscom, an assistant, received a Daguerreotype of each member of the first class. And Miss Gray, the other assistant, received a writing case.

The pupils of the Male High School, as we are informed by one of their number, have selected as a New Years' Present, for Mr. A. M. Payson, principal, Longfellow's Poetical Works, richly illustrated; and for Mrs. Hill, the Assistant, a superb Album of Remembrance.

Pupils of Miss Caroline Mason, in the first District, presented their teacher with a pair of silver butter knives.

Mr. S. M. DeMeritt, who may be regarded as a model school-teacher, has for several years made a new year's Address to his scholars, in the form of a friendly letter, printed—thus inculcating sound advice and good counsel, at the same time that he bestows this token of remembrance on each.

The amount of funds to aid the poor received in the month of December is as follows:—

Dec. 15th, $10; 18, $2; 22, $1; do $2; 23, $5; 27, $5; 31, $1; total $26.

AMOS ABBOTT, City Missionary.
Jan. 1st, 1855.

LYCEUM.—Mr. Whipple's Lecture this evening, at the Mechanics' Lyceum, will be on Heroism.

☞ The Musical Convention at the Hanover Street Chapel, opens this forenoon at 10 o'clock. Prof. Baker, who is the director, is one of the most popular and successful conductors in the country.

KITTERY POINT BRIDGE.—We understand the bridge to be so thoroughly repaired and strengthened that stages and other carriages pass as usual.

The superiority of American inventive genius, not only over that of our English progenitors, but indeed of all other nations, has become too tangible to be disputed. It was notorious at the World's Fair in London, that the Americans far outstripped all others in the useful inventions which supplied. We beat the English in vessels, railroads, telegraphs and manufactures by power. We are beating them in the scientific arts of Chemistry and Medicine, as we have long beat the rest of mankind.

A new and practical proof of this assertion is shown in the fact that the principal remedies of the allied armies of the East are furnished from the laboratory of our own countrymen.—Dr. J. C. AYER of Lowell is filling orders for immense quantities of his Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills, for both the land and sea forces in Turkey. His medicines have been tried and approved by those in power, who have found them the most reliable which they could procure for the exigencies in which they are to be employed.—N. Y. City Times.

FRENCH LANGUAGE.

MONSIEUR G. H. LEON has the honor to announce to those wishing to acquire the enviable accomplishment of expressing themselves fluently in French, that besides his present Classes, he will commence New Classes for Young Ladies, on Wednesday, Jan. 3, 1855—one for Beginners, and the other for those having already some knowledge of French. Pupils as young as thirteen years, will be received.

Those who wish may form their classes among their friends and meet at their own residences.

For terms, &c. please call at Mr. J. F. Shores's Bookstore, on Wednesday and Thursday, from 3 to 4 P. M.

An Evening Class for Gentlemen, will also commence on Wednesday, Jan. 3, at 7 P.M. d28 2w

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC.

SANDY HOOK, Dec. 31, 3.45 P. M.—The Collins steamship Atlantic, Capt. West, with Liverpool dates to the 16th inst., has just arrived. She brings one hundred passengers, among whom is D. E. Sickles, Esq., Secretary of Legation at London. The Atlantic met with the accident to her rudder on her day of sailing, and had been but a short time out. She has had boisterous westerly weather ever since leaving Liverpool.

The brokers of Liverpool had agreed to close the produce markets during the whole Christmas week, re-opening for business on the 2d of January.

The packet ship Queen of the West, of New York, had been wrecked in Cardigan Bay. The crew and passengers were saved.

The news from the seat of war is without any interest whatever. The allies find that they can do nothing with their heavy battery guns, on account of the trenches being filled with water.

Omar Pasha, at the last advices, was at Anapa, embarking 18,000 Turkish troops for the Crimea.

Parliament was opened on the 12th, by the Queen in person, with the following speech:

My Lords and Gentlemen:—I have called you together at this unusual period of the year, in order that, by your assistance, I may take such measures as will enable me to prosecute the war, in which we are engaged, with the utmost vigor and effect. This assistance, I know, will be readily given, for I cannot doubt that you share my conviction of the necessity of augmenting my forces, now engaged in the Crimea. The exertions they have made, and the victories they have obtained, are not exceeded in the brightest pages of our history, and have filled me with admiration and gratitude. * * * *

I have also concluded a treaty with the United States of America, by which subjects of long and difficult discussion have been equitably settled. * * * * *

My Lords and Gentlemen:—I rely with confidence upon your patriotism and public spirit. I feel assured that, in the momentous contest in which we are engaged, you will exhibit to the world the example of a united people. Thus shall we obtain the respect of other nations, and may trust that, by the blessing of God, we shall bring the war to a successful termination.

The passage relative to the victories of the Crimea, which her Majesty declared had filled her with gratitude and admiration, was delivered with a graceful emotion. Her Majesty, having delivered her speech, rose, and giving her hand to Prince Albert, left the House. The Assembly then dispersed.

The Queen's speech produced no quotable fluctuations of the funds.

If the negotiations now pending do not produce peace, Russia will call out sixteen men in every thousand throughout the empire (which is equal to a million of men,) to take the field as early as possible.

LATEST FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.—There is a report from Sebastopol, that 5000 Russians had retired from their second line of defence.

SEVEN DAYS LATER NEWS.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—The steamship Daniel Webster has arrived at this port with California news to Dec. 8.

The Star of the West left San Juan 23d, for New York, with 250 passengers and $700,000 in specie.

A Russian privateer has arrived at San Francisco, having escaped the allied fleet.

The U. S. Frigate Columbia, with Minister Wheeler and ex-Consul Fabens on board, had arrived at Greytown, at which port there were three British ships of war. The Princeton, which was at Aspinwall, was daily expected at Greytown.

ROBBING THE CHURCH.—An old cavalry officer in England proposes an easy way of raising $3,000,000 a year to supply additional cavalry regiments for the present year, viz.: by confiscating the revenues wasted on bishops, deans and chapters. The old reprobate thinks, no doubt, that it is very inconsistent to have preaching and praying at home while engaged in such a work of slaughter abroad.

QUEEN CHRISTINA.—A Paris letter writer says that this exiled lady is now comfortably established with her family in the beautiful domain and chateau of Malmaison, and lives there in very handsome style. All the honors usual for a royal personage have been paid her. The emperor and empress returned at an early day the visit of the queen and her husband the duke, and most of the Spaniards of distinction sojourning in Paris had paid their respects at Malmaison.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 29.—A homicide affair occurred in Naugatuck, in this county, at 2 o'clock this morning. The house of Mr. Henry Sears was broken open, and robbed of $200. Mrs. Sears's head was fractured, and her young child, who was sleeping with her, was killed. Mr. Sears was sleeping in another part of the house, and was not awakened. The murderers are yet at large.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "American governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

HERTS BROTHERS'
AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping; also in Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE OF THE WOMB; Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the URINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S URINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

. . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 28, 1854.—The story about a treaty in progress to purchase the Galilapagos Islands is not credited here. If such a treaty is negotiated, the President will reject it. The project for offering the mediation of our government to the European belligerents is rapidly gaining favor in influential quarters.

It is stated on credible authority that the government of Nicaragua has proposed to cede the whole of its Territory to the United States, in order to secure to that region a firm and staple government,—but that the Clayton Bulwer Treaty prevents the President from entertaining the proposition.

Mr. Buchanan has exerted himself to the utmost, to make some arrangment with Great Britian, for the abrogation of the treaty name or for the admission of the interpretation of that instrument as rendered by the United States,—but hitherto without result. In the meantime England holds on to her colonization of the Ruatan Islands; and her logwood cutters, have, during the year, despite all the remonstrances of Nicaragua, extended their operations still an additional three hundred miles into the territory of that republic, under color of the British privilege to cut logwood at the Belize. Several prominent public men, including Mr. Clayton, are in favor of forcing England to keep her treaty, and recede from her pretensions in Central America.

Colonel Benton says he has the Pacific Railroad in his trunk,—that he has the names of Abbott Lawrence and twenty-five other gentlemen of great wealth and financial ability, who propose to undertake the construction of the railroad to the Pacific on their own account, if Congress will pass a bill granting them the simple right of way. He will move the bill at an early day, and expects to carry it.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER.—WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Senator Chase contemplates moving in the Senate soon, in favor of his bill of last session, to prohibit slavery in the territories, and will make a comprehensive argument in behalf of the measure.

It is not believed here, that the President will send the Dominician treaty to the Senate for its consideration, even if it should be finally accepted by the Dominican Legislature. There is a decided opposition among Southern Senators to the equality of color clauses, that would be almost certain to compass its defeat.

Some difficulty begins to be apprehended relative to the expected Sandwich Islands treaty, also growing out of the difficulty of harmonizing our theory of political equality of mankind, with our national prejudices against dark skins.

The feeling in relation to Capt. Gibson's case is growing, and the prospect is that the President and Mr. Marcy will be severely handled in Congress in reference to the doctrine promulgated by them, that the observance of the "forms of law," in a despotic country, constitutes a conclusive answer to every demand of reclamation for outrage upon our citizens. Col. Orr and others expect to show that no such principle ever has been, or ever can be recognized by our Government.

A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune gives the following anecdote of Sam Houston:

In the year 1816 or 1817, I was on such terms of intimacy with Sam Houston as might exist between a boy of sixteen and a man of twenty four or five. He had been suffering from sickness, which had put him on his back for several days. I called to see him.

* * 'But,' said he, 'I have been reflecting on the trifling good for nothing life I lead, and I am going to change it.' 'Well,' said I, 'what character will you appear in next?' 'I will quit the army,' said he, 'I will study law. I will go to Congress. I will be Governor of this State, and I will be President of the United States before I die.' Of course I could not refrain from a loud laugh at this, considering it mere idle talk, which could scarcely have the consistency of a dream in his mind. Said he, 'you will see; I am quite serious. I feel it in me.'

Sam has thus far succeeded according to that early programme, and probably now feels that it is in him to succeed to the Presidency. We shall see if it is in the people to him there. 1856 will afford him the last chance, and he will not let it slip without an effort.—Newburyport Herald.

IDA MAY.—The Portland Enquirer affirms 'upon reliable authority' that the widow of Rev. Charles T. Torrey, is the author of Ida May. Mr. Torrey it will be recollected died in prison in Baltimore, where he had been committed upon a charge of kidnapping slaves. Mrs. Torrey's maiden name was Mary Ide, daughter of Dr. Ide, of Medway, Mass. She felicitously names her literary offspring Ida May, after herself, with a slight variation.

In a card to the Boston Journal Mrs. Torrey disclaims the authorship.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1855.

BOSTON MATTERS.

We have read Mayor Smith's Annual Address with some care, and obtained from it considerable information. The Daily Advertiser says—"Its great fault, like that of the preceding year, is its want of practical and statesmanlike adaptation of means to ends. The Mayor sees that it would be a fine thing to have the city government smoothly carried on, and important improvements introduced, while taxes are maintained at a low rate. He utterly fails to point out how these inconsistent advantages can both be secured."

The Mayor, as it is well known, went into office, last year, with the prospect that he would enforce the new liquor law in the city. It is equally well known that he has not accomplished much in this direction. Let us see his apology for the failure.

Under a series of perplexing difficulties, the police have placed before the Grand Jury, in six months, four hundred and fifty-five violations of this law. A more vexatious service is rarely undertaken, since obliging witnesses to speak the truth is quite beyond the ability of public functionaries. An unrelaxing pressure of criminal cases, together with the proverbial failure to prove in all instances, the infraction, where it was not believed a shade of doubt would be raised, has often stood in the way of an indictment. Very ardent friends of the law have often made confidential complaints against offenders, but find, on the slightest intimation of being wanted as evidence, quite beyond the reach of a subpœna—yet strange as it is true, they are loudest in their denunciations against the Mayor for not enforcing the penalties of an outraged law.

Those familiar with the working of self-interest in these prosecutions, to evade the penalties of a conviction, represent that there is a fearful amount of hypocrisy, misrepresentation, and wilful perjuries committed. * * *

When presentments are sent to the municipal court, which is always overtasked with a plethoric docket, the prosecuting powers have repeatedly had the extreme mortification of having no heed given to them whatever, on account of the pressing nature of cases of another description. By long delays, evidence collected with discrimination gradually wastes away by removals and death.

Again, through the obstinate perversity of witnesses, cases break down when least expected. Thus the city fails to accomplish all that has been undertaken, through the inability of a tribunal created by the Commonwealth for the county of Suffolk to take cognizance of presentments by the Grand Jury.

A wholesome temperance sentiment pervades this community. Leading men give to it their interest and example. Health, morals, human happiness and intellectual progress are promoted by simply conforming to a physiological law which nature impressed on every animal but man. Left to the exercise of his own erring judgment, less powerful than instincts in the races below him, he first yields and then falls a victim to a vice he abhors. * * * *

Having briefly shown why violators are not punished, if the City Council wish to uphold and sustain the dignity of that law, a petition must be sent to the Legislature for the organization of a new court to meet the exigency. With three judges authorized to hold monthly terms, and two courts in session the same day, losses of time, now deplored, would not occur. The anomalous feature of having three presiding judges from the country, alternately, with vastly more demanded of them than they can ever do, in the Municipal Court, is a sufficient apology, for asking for a tribunal adequate to the labors imposed upon it in the County of Suffolk.

We have no doubt all this is true, and it amounts to what we have often said, viz: that no such law can be enforced without great difficulty, and much opposition, in a city like Boston; where hundreds of dealers form a phalanx, supported in the rear by 10,000 drunkards and 50,000 drinkers. Moreover, the law there, was amended by its opponents so as to make it weak in some points and odious in others.

But in the country towns of Massachusetts, it has done something notwithstanding its defects. Boston is the Sebastopol of Massachusetts, and indeed of New England. If taken at all, it must be managed somewhat as Kossuth says of the other Sebastopol, in the Crimea, viz: by a battle fought at Warsaw. A blow on either side, struck in Portland or Hartford, in Concord or Lowell, is felt in Boston.

SHIP CARPENTERS.—The following communication, says the Boston Advertiser, is from a source which would recommend it to attention, did not the pertinency of the advice at the present time render the authority of a name unnecessary:

We hear great complaints of the want of employment in our ship yards, and so long as these dull times continue in the freighting business, the complaints will be heard, and much suffering among our worthy mechanics must be the result, unless shipbuilders will turn their attention to putting up a smaller class of vessels, the want of which is severely felt in our coasting trade, and particularly in coal carriers. Let shipbuilders then keep their men together by building small crafts for this purpose, giving them wages sufficient for their support until better times come.—There is much material in our ship yards which will answer admirably to build small vessels, and which must lie and rot on the ground unless something of this kind is done.

It is said that the Russian war has already made eleven thousand widows in England.

The Recorded Will, or Truth and Not Fiction; remarkably illustrating the Case of Divine Providence.

This is the title of a new book, just published by Tappan & Whittemore of Boston, and for sale by J. F. Shores, jr. of this city.

The book is written by a Clergyman's Widow,—and it may add interest to the perusal of it here, to say that she is none other than our native townswoman, Mrs. Bigelow, a daughter of Mr. Samuel Tappan, who taught the North School fifty years ago, and who lived in a house on the top of the hill in High street. In this house, the scene is laid, of one of the best chapters in the book.

Many of the characters introduced are well known to us, and to some of our readers.—Two of these characters are Rev. Wm. B. and D. D. Tappan, the former of wider fame as a poet and a man, than as a preacher.

Truthfulness stands out on every page of the book; and so does a melancholy yet hopeful resignation tinged by the gloomy theology of the writer. It is a New England book all over, and will abundantly repay repeated perusals. It is a view of the world as it is, taken through a lens of sombrous grey or melancholy green: A sketch of good men and women struggling in the sea of life, just kept above water by hope, but every moment troubled by the fear of sinking to rise no more.

THE STEAMER WILLIAM PENN.—A correspondent of the New York Courier gives the following account of the accident to the American steamer Wm. Penn in the Dardanelles, reported some time since:

Constantinople, November 13.—On the 8th inst., in coming through the Dardanelles at night, the vessel, in a thick rain, got over upon the Asiatic shore, the Straits being very narrow. The chart indicated no danger, but it seems that a fort, recently built, has formed a sand spit just large enough to pick up the Wm. Penn. As soon as the fort was perceived, the helm was put to starboard, but as the vessel was steaming slowly, her bow was slewed round by the current, and the vessel struck the ground hard and fast. She laid very comfortably till morning—being aground only forward, with plenty of water aft. A French man-of-war steamer tried to pull us off but did not succeed. In the mean time a Turkish Pacha came on board and requested that the troops should be sent to the barracks on shore, and offered to furnish boats and men for the purpose. We landed everything in two days, when the vessel floated off without injury, received the troops again on board and sailed for her destination.

We had as many men and boats as could possibly work, and yet the Pacha would not accept the slightest compensation. He was a Christian sort of Mahometan; he would not drink wine but would imbibe champagne, which being made after the time of the Prophet, he did not consider as forbidden, especially as he was very fond of it.

Cowper's funny poem about Mahometans eating up the Hog, and Christians swallowing the World, would not be out of place as an appendage to this story, or as a commentary on the times.

A CHANCE STILL LEFT FOR THE BOSTON MILITARY.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, closes his letter with the following paragraph:

"The purchaser of Anthony Burns is David McDaniel, of Nash county, North Carolina, a whilom acquaintance of mine. He is a horse racer and gambler by profession, of Virginia origin, and recruited his fortune about a dozen years ago, by marrying a young lady of the county in which he lives. Anthony, having many friends in Boston, cannot they raise a few hundred dollars for his restoration to his family and friends? His case is a hard one every way, and particularly that, after having tasted the sweets of Freedom, he should be thrust back into the gloom of slavery. Who will move in the matter?"

Is there any of that money left, or has it all gone for cigars and champagne? Can the gallant editor of the South Boston Gazette inform us?—Boston Telegraph.

This is in bad taste. Let the soldiers buy his freedom if they please, but don't urge them. Perhaps the man Anthony, if he loves liberty, may see a chance to run away a second time;—and if so, he will probably shun Boston and steer for Canada.

☞ Henry F. French, Esq., of Exeter, in a witty letter to the editor of the News Letter, denies most emphatically that he is to be a Know Nothing candidate for Governor. He disclaims all desire for political place, and thinks it no joke to be called a prominent member of an order with which he never had any connection. Mr. French is a lawyer of considerable talent, in the enjoyment of a lucrative practice, and spends his leisure time in agricultural pursuits. The nearest he comes to being a Know Nothing is, that he is co-editor of the N. E. Farmer with his brother in law, Mr. Simon Brown, the present K. N. Lieut. Governor elect of Massachusetts, who together, make one of the best agricultural journals in the country.

FAILURES.—Private despatches from New York to merchants in Boston report three large failures in that city, viz, Messrs. Wadsworth & Sheldon, Wall street bankers, whose liabilities are about $2,500,000, and assets said to amount to about a million over that amount; a ship chandlery firm, and a commission merchant.

LOCAL.

☞ Mr. E. P. Whipple, of Boston, lectured at the Lyceum on Tuesday evening: subject, Heroism. As a foil to the Hero, the lecturer described, dissected and analyzed a character which he called a Sneak. This part of the lecture was a good specimen of invective against meanness; and not much beyond this. But the description of Heroism was in all parts able, and in some admirable.

The lecturer spoke of Heroism as having its root or origin in sentiment, and as being genius embodied in action. He considered the Heroic Soldier, Patriot, Reformer and Saint; and beautifully characterized them all as spiritual and positive, not negative. Thus the heroic soldier was not moved by fear of shame, but by love of glory; the heroic patriot did not hate other countries, but loved his own; the true heroic reformer was not so much a hater of falsehood as a lover of truth; and the heroic saint was not moved to virtue by the fear of hell but by the hopes and visions of heaven.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION opened well on Tuesday morning, at Hanover St. Chapel. Prof. Baker is assisted by Mr. H. Hinton, who executes finely on the nice Chapel Organ and the Grand Piano. Upwards of fifty ladies and gentlemen were present at the opening; the number was increased one-half in the afternoon, and to about a hundred and fifty in the evening.

The Convention have in rehearsal a fine programme for the Concert on Thursday evening. Mrs. Long, who is to take part will be present this evening. She is a splendid singer.

The Convention opens at half-past 10 this morning, half-past 2 in the afternoon, and half-past seven in the evening.

☞ It is said the Judges of the Superior Court will give a written opinion on our City Marshal case, if requested. We hope it will be requested, then, and given so plainly as to cut off all private interpretations of a statute whose intent was unmistakable.

☞ An excellent opportunity to acquire a knowledge of the French language, from a native Parisian, may be seen by referring to the advertisement of Prof. Leon.

☞ Prof. Townsend is to give two Free Lectures on Phrenology, &c., on Friday and Saturday evenings, at the Temple. See Advertisement.

☞ These splendid evenings are being well used by sleighing parties. Among others, about fifty of the neighbors and friends of Capt. Ball of Greenland, were most hospitably welcomed around the re-illuminated Christmas Tree at his residence, on Monday evening; and were not satisfied till they had stripped it of its beautiful abundance of fruit and ornament.

WEARE BANK.—This new Bank went into operation at Hampton Falls, on Monday. Some of its bills have made their appearance in this city, and look very finely. We had a sight at one yesterday, but such is the demand for the use of money, we could only have time for an hasty examination. The twos have an excellent likeness of Gov. Baker, and if they circulate as freely throughout the State, as that distinguished gentleman did when he wished to secure the Know Nothing nomination for Governor, they will have a good run; but in these tight times, when bank notes are wanted to take up notes at banks, more than for any other purpose, we think the new bills will come home about as fast as they can be issued.

APPOINTMENT.—Albert Greenleaf, Esq., Navy Agent at this point, has been appointed by the Secretary of the Interior to be army pension agent, (as well as navy pension agent, to which post we announced his appointment some days since,) vice Robert W. Latham, resigned.

PARDON OF DR. BEALE.—A despatch from Philadelphia, dated Saturday evening, says: "It is reported here this evening on reliable authority, that Dr. Beale has been pardoned by the Governor, and that he will be liberated from custody on Monday."

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—The pardon of Dr. Beale has not yet been officially received, but his friends confidently expect it to-morrow. Judges Black, Lewis and Woodward, of the Supreme Court, have given written opinions in the case, styling the verdict of the jury illegal.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—A melancholy instance of the distress at present prevailing in this city came to light to-day. An Englishman named John Murphy who has a wife and five children, committed suicide on account of their distressed condition, and while the coroner was holding an inquest on the body, intelligence was received that the youngest child had died of starvation, having had nothing to eat for two days.

HARTFORD, Dec. 30.—Charles Sigourney, Esq., one of our oldest and most highly respected merchants, died very suddenly this afternoon of apoplexy. He was the husband of Mrs. L. H. Sigourney, the Poetess.

EXPLOSION OF GAS.—Considerable damage was done last Friday morning, to the building recently erected in Salem by the Asiatic Banking Company. In seeking for a leak in a gas pipe between the floors, a lighted match was used, when the escaped gas exploded with a tremendous report, making a complete wreck of everything in the immediate vicinity. Two or three persons present at the time were somewhat injured, but not seriously.

DIPLOMACY IN DOMINICA.—The N. Y. Tribune has the following:—"We have received some curious and interesting intelligence of a late date from St. Domingo city. Our advices are to Nov. 25. The treaty concluded and signed on Oct. 5, on the part of the United States by Gen. Cazneau, and on the part of the Dominican Republic by two special Commissioners appointed for the purpose had been published by the Dominican Government, but the last step of our duplex Embassador, was to address a note to the Dominican Minister of Foreign Affairs withdrawing this very hard got treaty!"

The Tribune says, "in justice to both Mrs. and Mr. Cazneau, it must be stated that this attempt to withdraw the treaty was ordered by no less a personage than Mr. Secretary Marcy himself." When the document reached Washington, it was found that by some oversight, it bound the United States to allow the people of Dominica all the privileges and favors in this country, granted to white citizens of the most favored nations. This according to the Tribune, has induced Mr. Marcy to seek to have it cancelled.

DEFALCATION.—The Worcester Spy says that David Higgins, editor and publisher of the Worcester Journal has disappeared, being a defaulter to the Rail Road Corporation (he was station master at Oakdale) and to a large number of persons who have accommodated him with funds, in sums ranging from $10 to $500 each. His partner loses $2,100. Higgins was last heard from in New York on his way to Kansas.

JOHN HANCOCK'S CARRIAGE.—A carriage, formerly belonging to John Hancock, is now in possession of Hon. A. W. H. Clapp, who is having it repaired for winter use. It has been for some time in the Clapp family, but we doubt if many who have often seen it know its former history. Connected with such associations as it is, we esteem this a valuable possession, and admire the taste that keeps "the old carriage" in good repair. The coat of arms of the Hancock family was emblazoned on the panels, and is yet to be seen beneath the paint in its present respectable appearance.—State of Maine.

COL. DONIPHAN.—The Jefferson Mo. Enquirer of Dec 23 learns that Col. Doniphan, of Clay, met with a serious accident on his way to that city. The horses attached to the stage ran away, upsetting the stage, and injuring Col. D. in such a manner as to make his recovery doubtful.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the
Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,
Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.
Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTER TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.
These FAGERAS, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.
If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament to any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.
These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

JAMES A. WOODBURY.

Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal (through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"SIR,—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

HERTS BROTHERS

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

Caution.—The immense celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each Box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S

Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE

RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE OF FLOODING; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

David B. Elkins, died Nov. 25, 1854, aged 56 years—by a fracture of the skull.—Exeter News Letter.

WENDELL PHILLIPS delivered one of the lectures of the anti-slavery course in Boston on Thursday evening. He took the ultra abolition ground, and advocated it with consummate tact and ability. The Boston Courier thus comments upon it:

"His subject was the character and extent of the anti-slavery feeling in New England, and never were the splendid abilities of this most accomplished and able fanatic more amply displayed than on that occasion. Sentiments the most repugnant to the feelings of every patriot, and to those of nine-tenths of even the abolitionists themselves, were absolutely applauded when clothed in the graceful and the magnificent diction of the anti slavery Cicero. * * *

Topics of the most odious character—topics which an ordinary man would have been hissed and pelted for alluding to—topics, such as the dissolution of the Union and the destruction of the Constitution—were dwelt upon with such unparallelled force and beauty, that disapprobation of the subject was lost and overwhelmed in admiration of the man. * * *

Truly there has been a great change since 1850, but great as it is, it is insufficient to explain the favor with which this abolition orator was received by an audience such as is seldom collected even in this city. It was the lecture of the course thus far, and can be exceeded only by Wendell Phillips himself."

Considering who the orator was, and who the critic is, we must pronounce the above the highest praise for eloquence we ever read.—The same critic sinks Cassius M. Clay's lecture on the Beautiful, down to the lowest notch, as we suspect it deserves.

NEW BEDFORD SHIPPING.—The N. Bedford Mercury gives an account of ship building in New Bedford and vicinity, for the years 1853-4, and says:—"We find that during the years 1853-'54, there has been 6,749 tons of shipping added to the whale-fishery, and 4,492 tons to the merchant service, making an aggregate of 11,341 tons built in this district. During the present year, there have been 5 ships and 1 barque, amounting to 2,800 tons withdrawn from the whale-fishery, and nearly or quite all of them put into the merchant service. There have been lost at sea during the year, 6 ships, 1 barque, and 1 brig, amounting to 2,806 tons, making the aggregate of 5,606 tons lost and withdrawn in this district. There have been added to the whale fishery, 6 ships and 6 barques, amounting to 4,442 tons, showing a diminution of 1,164 tons for the year 1854."

Hon. Cornelius Darrah, a lawyer of much distinction, and formerly a member of Congress, died at his residence in Pittsburg on Friday last. He fell a victim to intemperence.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1855.

BREAD AND WAR.

The Albany Knickerbocker very pertinently says:

People cannot understand why breadstuffs do not recede more rapidly. We will point out one reason: All the grain exporting ports of the Black Sea have been blockaded by the Allies. The consequence is that wheat sells for forty cents a bushel at Odessa, while at Liverpool its market value is over two dollars a bushel. Were it not for these blockades, flour would sell, not only in the English markets, but in ours, for five dollars a barrel.

Having copied the above paragraph to show the direct effect of the war on breadstuffs,—now let us copy the following, from a Glasgow, Scotland, paper, to show its indirect effect, through French laws, on British and American bread:

WHY NOT STOP THE DISTILLERIES?—Napoleon's decree is saving the food of the French people, but destroying ours. His distilleries are stopped, but ours are in extraordinary activity because they have to supply both the French and the British demand.—For every bushel saved to France, there is a bushel lost to Britain. We must either stop the distilleries or pay more for food than any other people in Europe.

Will not some benevolent and discriminating friend, be so kind as to tell us, if he can, which is the greater curse of the two, the English distillery or the Russian war. And will some other friend tell us which of the two is the more fatal thirst in Europe, that for a brother's blood, or that for hot and rebellious liquors to poison the drinker's own.

For the Chronicle.

PRISON PUNISHMENT, No. 4.

It is a grand harvest time for our prison system. In almost all the city prisons, far and near, a whole host of scaly scamps have taken advantage of the generous provision of our laws, to secure to themselves very comfortable board and lodgings at the public cost. This is a great country, that will give every miserable thief and disturber a comfortable shelter from the cold, and wholesome victuals for his greedy stomach, as a reward for wickedness. O how we wish the wife and children of the wicked man were as well provided for as he is, who has left them to starve, while he would steal, and swill down rum; and then he boarded well at public cost, for sinning thus. This great world has raised Solomons, and Solons too, or the wonder is, who would have made us laws!

The multitude of famishing and woe-struck creatures, who pine in want, degraded and unpitied, who sigh even for death to rid them of their sorrows, have husbands and fathers in our jails, living at ease and faring well.—Why must this wretched foolery continue? Why must we honor laws which burn a double curse of shame and want into the very soul of innocence, and pay a profit to the very kings of crime, by furnishing to them better circumstances than they have ever sought by honest industry or persevering prudence. We hate these horrid laws, that positively pay a price for wickedness.

"A Humane System of punishment!" Yes, this is called a humane system, because it puts the criminal in comfortable circumstances, and allows him time to consider of his ways! It is wonderful! Send a man or a woman into a very nest of felons, that they may learn to be virtuous! Even boys and girls are thrown into county and city prisons, to have the company of the oldest rogues and rascals. What a school of reflection! But there they are, and the criminal manufactory is in full blast. How long will it take for this country to become a fit place for the centre of millennial peace and glory, if our prison system is kept working, and dens of death are kept open and operating, which take a man in with only one evil spirit in him, and send him out with two?

What punishment ought a Christian people to inflict on innocence? Why, neglect, contempt, starvation, and a tax to feed the guilty, says the law. What punishment should such a people inflict upon the guilty? A safe retreat from storms, three smoking meals per day, and a comfortable bed at night. So says the law, and who can say that the law is not pure wisdom? C.

NEW YORK.—Failures and losses are the order of the day. Besides Wadsworth and Sheldon, bankers, whom we have mentioned as failing for $2,500,000, the New York papers of Jan. 2, say—

The failure of Messrs. Belcher & Co., sugar refiners, St. Louis, for $2,000,000, was announced this afternoon. It has also involved the two following houses in this city: Messrs. Foster & Stephenson, ship owners, and bankers, for $306,000, and Winthrop G. Ray, stock broker, for $220,000. Some Boston houses are also said to be losers to the extent of nearly $1,000,000.

The cargo of the last ship Queen of the West, was valued at $98,000, and, with the ship, was largely insured in Wall street. The ship Pride of the Sea, was also insured here for $98,000. The cargoes insured in England for £35,000.

BURIALS IN CITIES.

The Mayor of Boston says, in his late address—

Burials within the city are not to be continued after April, without special permission under peculiar circumstances, and then only temporarily. Masses of decomposing animal remains in tombs and under churches, cannot remain there with impunity in the heart of a city.

An interdiction of intermural burials is the first sanitary law that should be rigidly observed. A suitable cemetery, however, ought to be found in the environs. A tract of fifty five acres, approached by two railroads, at Readville, of a gravelly, dry soil, having an undulating surface, belonging to the city, could be set apart for a burial field with little or no preparation.

Trees, shrubbery and flowers, finely cultivated, are giving a pleasant aspect to all the burying yards. Statuary, suitably placed among the sepulchral monuments, also contributes to relieve them of their sombre appearance. Defective masonry in the range of above ground tombs on Washington street, combined with the action of ice in winter, allowing mephitic exhalations to escape, offensive to the residents of the vicinity, indicates that they should be taken down and sunk below the sidewalk, and an iron fence substituted for the gloomy stone wall in front. By this alteration, equivalent to giving a third spacious square to that pleasant part of the city, it would add immensely to the cheerful appearance, health and comfort of those who dwell in that neighborhood.

Many of these remarks apply as well to Portsmouth, as to Boston. Boston, like this city, has some old burial grounds that were creditable to the place an hundred years ago; these old places are beautified by Trees, and Shrubs, and Flowers, as ours ought to be now.

Boston, also, has an apology for a burial ground, of later date, but it is only an apology. The beautiful private ground at Mount Auburn, answers no essential purpose as a place of burial for the people of Boston. A few, and only a very few, of the wealthy families of Boston, bury their dead in that genteel and costly cemetery.

Our beautiful and costly private grounds answer a better purpose for us, than Mount Auburn for Boston. Nevertheless our city ought by all means speedily to secure a large and cheap suburban Cemetery, which would be as it ought, suitable and creditable, for an hundred years to come.

THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.—THE QUESTION SETTLED.—A dispatch has been received in Paris, announcing the result of the deliberations of the Bishops assembled at Rome to consider the Immaculate Conception. The number of "votes" was 576, including proxies, and about 120 Bishops actually present. Of these, 450 pronounced by acclamation for the new dogma; 32 voices questioned the appropriateness of such a discussion just now; while only 4 votes protested both against the dogma and against the right of the Holy Sea to decide a question of that importance without a regular council. Of these 4 votes, 2, it is rumored, are contributed by French prelates—namely, M. Oliver, Bishop of Evreux, and the other the Archbishop of Paris himself.—London Globe.

CHARGE OF HOMICIDE.—On Monday, the 25th ult., Anthony Gruber, a resident of East Boston, visited Lynn with a private team, in company with a female. While in Lynn, as is alleged, Gruber drove furiously through the streets, and in so doing run against and knocked down a lady 72 years of age, named Ann Curry, injuring her so seriously that she died on Saturday last. A coroner's inquest was held on the body, and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that she came to her death through the carelessness and reckless conduct of Gruber. Upon this verdict, a warrant was issued for Gruber's arrest on the charge of manslaughter, and this forenoon, the Police of Station No. 7, arrested him at East Boston and conveyed him to Lynn for examination.—Boston Cour.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.—The House of Assembly of New Foundland, on the 16th of November last, unanimously adopted resolutions, among which was one that they can entertain no doubt the measures necessary to the acceptance of the Treaty will be among the first acts of the House in its usual session in January, and that a copy of the resolutions be transmitted to the Governor, with a request that he will forward the same to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the British Minister at Washington, for their information.

THE TRIAL OF MR. GREEN.—The Chicago papers contain reports of the trial, as far as the 26th, of Mr. George W. Green, a gentleman of wealth and high standing in that city, upon a charge of poisoning his wife. The trial had continued eight days at the date of the reports, and the testimony against the prisoner was very strong. One of his sons, twenty years of age, testified that he had left his father's house two years previous on account of his father's treatment to his mother. Mr. Green had behaved very badly to her, and upon one occasion had knocked her down with his fist. Another son of the prisoner, twenty-three years of age, testified that the accused had often whipped the deceased, and had threatened to poison her. He had heard her say that Mr. Green had attempted to poison her. He had seen the prisoner knock her down and beat her. The testimony elicited from two sisters of the deceased, Mrs. Noble and Mrs. Blanc, was much to the same effect as that of the sons—showing that he had expressed a great affection for one of them, and had often wished that his wife was out of the way.

GOOD SPEED.—A little stir was excited among some of our citizens interested in horses, by a trial of speed of two animals owned on Main street. Distance 7 1-2 miles. The "Ainsworth mare" came in ahead—making the very respectable time of 27 minutes and 54 seconds.—Concord Patriot.

LOCAL.

THE CONCERT by the members of the Musical Convention, at the Temple this evening, will be one of the most pleasing entertainments since the days of the New Hampshire Musical Society. The choir will number upwards of a hundred, including many of our best singers; and the programme is varied and excellent—consisting of sacred and secular music, anthems, choruses, glees, songs, &c. Prof. Baker, the director, is one of the best of leaders, and is ably assisted by Mr. Hinton, who presides with great skill and taste at the Grand Piano. Mrs. Long is an excellent vocalist—one of the most pleasing we ever listened to. All who attend, will be richly repaid in the performance, besides doing something to encourage musical development and progress in this region.

The Convention has been attended with increasing numbers and growing interest, from the opening. It closes this afternoon, at the Hanover Street Chapel.

THE FAIR by the ladies connected with the Middle Street Society, opened at Jefferson Hall, at 7 o'clock last evening. We have not been able to call in and see the arrangements—but from the well-known hospitality and courtesy of the gentlemen of the Society, in response to an audience,—we can well expect the most unbounded success on the part of the ladies, in this respect, of gratifying all who attend. May they be equally successful in all others. We have no doubt they will be—for we judge considerably from the knowledge displayed by "the Committee" in the distribution of tickets, &c.

P. S.—"Just as we expected." We find, on a brief visit to the Hall, that every thing is finely arranged,—and the lively crowd present guarantees success.

A New York paper says that during the past year the journals of the United States, both city and country, have suffered a greater depression in their business affairs than was ever experienced in any preceding twelve-month.

The N. Y. Tribune announces the sale of Mr. Collins's three remaining steamers to the Cunard Co., for $750,000. They are to replace steamers withdrawn for Government service, and will continue to ply between New York and Liverpool.

According to the census there are 347,445 slaveholders in the United States. Among them are two who hold over a thousand each; nine who hold 756; fifty six who hold 400; and one hundred and eighty seven who hold 260.

It is reported that Governor Clark of New York keeps a Maine Law pledge in the Executive Chamber at Albany, which every applicant for office must first sign before his claim will be listened to.—Boston Chronicle.

It is stated that there are, at the present time, 27,000 females of good character, in New York, quite destitute of any means of support.

The three men who a few weeks since robbed the Windham (Con.) Bank of $22,000, have been sentenced—two to nine and one to seven years in the State Prison.

A Modern Lady: a woman who pays thirty dollars to a French milliner for a bonch of ribbons and a tuft of feathers, but fails to pay $2 50 which she owes her seamstress.

Fred. Douglas was to lecture at Syracuse on the 4th, the proceeds to be appropriated to assist slaves in effecting their escape.

Secretary Guthrie is said to be the wealthiest citizen of Louisville. His property in one district is taxed at half a million of dollars.

There is no malady more severe than not to be content with one's lot.

CONCERT.

THE Members of the Second F. W. Baptist Sabbath School held a Concert at the Old South Meeting House on Tuesday, Dec. 26, 1854; and at nine o'clock, thinking it impossible to get through until a late hour—by the earnest solicitations of many influential men of the city, concluded to close, and repeat it at another time; they will therefore give another Concert on TUESDAY evening, Jan. 9, 1855.

Hours open at 6½ o'clock; Concert to commence at 7 o'clock.

Tickets, Ten cents, to be had at the Door.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Jan. 2.

In the Senate the proceedings were unimportant. In the House the bill remodelling the Diplomatic and Consular system of the United States, was postponed until next Tuesday. A message was received from the President giving his reasons for the veto of the River and Harbor bill, which was referred to the committee of the whole. A bill to prevent the introduction of foreign paupers and criminals into the United States was referred.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The President's veto message to-day, indirectly re-affirms the propriety of railroad land grants for internal improvements, as essential to a judicious management of the public property.

Specific works of internal improvement when manifestly required by the exigencies of the naval or the military service are constitutional.

The principle is that when any particular improvement, whether by land or sea, is necessary for the execution of a power of Congress, enumerated in the Constitution, then only can the power make it be claimed as the incident of an express grant to the federal government.

In reference to improvements of rivers and lakes, in aid of navigation, the President is very indefinite; but after reviewing the acts of Congress sustained by decisions of the Supreme Court he refers the question to the discretion of Congress and the responsibility of the executive.

The President recommends the absolute acquisition by the government of lands, on which public improvements are proposed to be made, the same as in the case of arsenals and forts.

He also suggests that each individual appropriation for internal improvements, be put in a separate bill, so as to stand on its own merits.

In conclusion the President recommends that all internal improvements which are not necessary for the execution of undoubtful powers of the general government, be left to individual enterprise, or to the separate States, to be provided for out of their own resources or by means of tonnage duties.

Private despatches announce the election of an anti-Nebraska speaker of the Assembly, in Illinois. It is considered that this makes certain the defeat of Gen. Shields as a candidate for re-election to the Senate of the United States.

A rumor is current here that the President is about to recommend war measures against Spain, on account of her refusal to atone for the serious outrages charged against her. I am satisfied that this rumor is unfounded.

The report that Hon. Sam Houston will resign his seat in the Senate, at the close of the present session, is contradicted by seemingly good authority.—Cor. Boston Adv.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Dr. Graham, convicted of the manslaughter of Col. Loring, was yesterday conveyed to the State Prison at Sing Sing, to undergo his seven years imprisonment. It is understood that he will be employed as assistant physician of the Prison.

The Frenchman, De Corn, under sentence of death in this city, has been pardoned by Gov. Seymour, in consequence of the urgent solicitation of the French Minister.

FATAL RESULT.—The New Haven papers state that Mrs. Henry Sears, the lady who was severely wounded by burglars on the night of the 29th instant, at the house of her husband in Naugatuck, Ct., and whose child was killed by them at the same time, has died of injuries which she received.

Sagamore House,

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within "half a minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties m y turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

Daguerreotypes.

EVERY body and their friends are now having their Pictures at

Boutelle's Saloon on Hanover street,

And that all may have a change, he will stop a short time longer. To parents he would say—bring in their little ones and get a type of them that shall show in after years the tiny features of their infant days; and to the beaux and sweet hearts who have exchanged many a token and merry glance—come now and exchange faces and have something to wink at when alone. A fine assortment of CASES and LOCKETS, all of which will be sold cheap. o16

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different styles; MARBLE TOP CENTER TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT AND MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FAGERAS, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

JAMES A. WOODBURY.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered, on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can have avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most reliful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Late Commissioner of Patents."

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-similie of the Manufacturers' name.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INTERNAL HEMORRHAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

. . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

AN INTERESTING RAILROAD CASE DECIDED.—At an adjourned term of the United States Circuit Court held in Detroit a few weeks ago, the case of Horace Coit vs. the Michigan Southern Railroad Company came up, and occupied the attention of the court for the space of a week. The facts of the case were as follows:—Two years ago, Mr. Coit was riding in the cars of the defendants, and when within six miles of Chicago, while crossing over a small branch of the road which connects the Illinois State line with the junction, a slight collision took place between the train on which he rode and another one, jarring Mr. Coit in such a way that a spinal affection resulted, which ultimately rendered him an incurable cripple. The suit was for $20,000 damages. The defence claimed that the short piece of road upon which the accident occurred was off their chartered line, and therefore they were not liable. Some fifty witnesses were in attendance during the trial, and the jury at length returned a verdict for damages in the sum of $8,000,—which verdict is said to be in accordance with the decided some year or two since in the State of Connecticut, regarding the responsibility of a company that sold through tickets, passing the passenger over the road of another company.

DEATH OF GOV. MOREHEAD.—The Hon. James T. Morehead, formerly Governor of Kentucky, and U. S. Senator from that State, died at Covington, Ken., on Friday morning last, at the age of 57. He was born in the county of Ballitt, Ken., 24th May, 1797. After completing his studies, he opened an office for the practice of law in Bowling Green. In the years 1828, '29, and '30, he was a member of the Kentucky Legislature. In 1832 he was elected Lieut. Governor of Kentucky, and by the death of Governor Breathitt, in 1834, he became Governor of the State. In 1838 he was appointed President of the Board of Internal Improvements, which office he held until 1841, when he was elected to the Senate of the United States for the term of six years, which office he filled with distinguished ability. Subsequently he removed to Covington, opposite Cincinnati, and resumed the practice of his profession, in which place he died.

COWARDICE OF LORD FORTH.— The London correspondent of the New York Tribune gives the following account of the cowardice and disgrace of a scion of the nobility in the Crimea:

The case of Lord Forth has excited general indignation. It is as follows: He is a very young officer, a minor, and as it seems, not much of a hero. In the battle of the Alma, he threw himself on the ground, and screamed —"I am frightened, I can't fight!" Lord Raglan sent him word that in the next battle he was expected to distinguish himself by his gallantry, that his cowardice might be forgotten. But at Inkermann he again behaved as cowardly; two officers, therefore, were sent by the General-in-Chief to cast away his epaulettes, to break his sword, and kick him out of the camp. He returned to England a disgraced man; his family disown him and the clubs are closed against him.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE JERSEY SHORE.—Within the last ten months, about seven hundred lives have been lost on the shores of New Jersey. The General Government have recently established twenty-eight life-saving stations on this coast, with a general superintendent of the whole, and a local superintendent to each station house. These parties are to be paid a per diem compensation while engaged about wrecks. These twenty-eight houses are so near each other that wreck signals can be seen from station to station through the whole line, and speedy relief be thus obtained.—Transcript.

A proposition has been introduced into the South Carolina Legislature for the re-opening of the African slave trade.

KEEP COOL.—Those calm and rational exhortations to 'Take it coolly,' and 'Never cry for spilled milk,' are all very good until they are needed. They are extremely salutary before the fever kindles, or the milk is spilled; but in the presence of pain or the advent of disaster, to all those who are not gifted with fortitude by nature, or have not been disciplined in the school of affliction, they are about as effectual as whistling in the teeth of a nor'-wes-ter.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1855.

OATHS.

The Atlas thinks the whole Know Nothing Legislature will be indictable under the following provision from the Revised Statutes:

"If any person shall administer, or assume to administer to another, any oath, or any obligation in the nature of an oath, which is not required or authorized by law, or if any person shall voluntarily suffer any such oath or obligation to be administered to him, or shall voluntarily take the same, he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, nor less than five dollars."

The members of the secret Order administer and have administered to them an oath of the most solemn nature, not required or authorized by law.—Boston paper.

This whole matter of oaths, needs overhauling. The nature of an oath is often greatly mistaken; its obligations misunderstood; its uses perverted. But the whole matter is quite simple.

Truth is better than falsehood. No man wishes to be deceived in matters of any consequence; and therefore, by the Golden Rule, every man should tell the truth. On this principle the ninth commandment says, Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. That is, you have no right to injure him, in his property, reputation, liberty or life, by your falsehood.

Not a word is said in this command about false swearing, or swearing at all; though it is often unfairly quoted as bearing specially against what is called perjury.

Jesus, the Great Teacher says,—It has been said of old time, thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths. But I say unto you Swear not at all—but let your yea be yea, and your nay nay,—for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil.

Here the idea of Jesus is, as plainly as words can express it, that Truth and Simplicity are valuable; but an added oath is always mischievous or worthless.

Other moralists, assuming themselves to be wiser or better than he, have explained this away, and advocated oaths; but we have on the whole, preferred his teaching to theirs.

Politicians and lawgivers have always stuffed their legislative, executive and judicial proceedings full of oaths; no doubt on the ground that oaths would make liars tell the truth, and cause sluggards to do their duty. And yet, strange but true, they have enacted many laws to punish men for taking the oath falsely.

Men should do justly, keep their promise, and tell the truth, without an oath. Good men will do so. But the government is afraid to trust men; and so it says to the witness, "Hold up your right hand! Now you solemnly swear that you will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. So help you God." The witness is now supposed to be sworn, and under some new obligation to tell the truth. The lawyers and some doctors in Divinity say that the swearer's oath means, "God bless me if I tell the truth—but curse me if I tell a lie."

This is doubtless supposed by some persons to be a great safeguard. Perhaps it may be in some few cases,—but we imagine very few.

Now the lawmakers, having fancied that oaths promoted truth, in Court,—have seen that other people fancied a similar effect to come from oaths, out of Court. And really, we cannot see why the one may not be as innocent or valuable as the other; provided in both cases the act promised is good in itself. Any oath to do wrong, is of itself null and void, and can bind nobody. The oath, if it is any thing, is a promise made to God: and do we suppose that God holds us obliged to lie, and rob, and murder, because we have sworn to him, or by his name, that we will?

The makers of the above silly statute of Massachusetts, doubtless supposed they were doing some great thing when they made it: but they would have done far better had they abolished nine-tenths of all their judicial oaths.

Lawgivers long ago found out that the Friends or Quakers would not take oaths at all; yet they were often called upon as witnesses and otherwise, where their services were important, and sometimes indispensable.

Laws were therefore made and now exist in England and this country, allowing Quakers to testify, or act, on what is called affirmation, in which the Quaker does nothing at all, but just to tell his story or to do his duty without any oath whatever. The law officer says to the Quaker, "This you do under the pains and penalties of perjury."

By these pains and penalties the Quaker understands that a fine and the States Prison await him if he tells a lie. We understand it in the same way. Some persons explain it to mean invoking a curse from God, on the Quaker's head, especially an endless curse in the future life—but the Quaker don't believe a single word of it. He neither invokes the curse, nor believes in any such penalty, tho' he don't say a word about it. Say, he does not attach any such authority to the Bible, as most of the men profess to do, who make him affirm, and then interpret the affirmation as his oath. Yet he reverences the Bible more, and generally obeys it better, than most of them. But he considers the Light Within (which we call conscience) as the censor of the Word, and says, the Letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life. In short, the true Quaker feels bound to tell the truth because he loves it, but cares not a straw about the formal Affirmation; he feels no sanction of an oath; he fears no curse; he deems God his friend. The law has simply accommodated itself to his views and prejudices; that is all. And we fancy the law generally deceives itself when it relies on the oaths of liars, rather than on the simple word of true men who will not swear.

Great Britain long ago threw away the whole bundle of custom house oaths, as a mere budget of trash. We wish our Government would do likewise.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Chronicle says:

The bill known as the "Old Soldier's Bill," will undoubtedly be passed with very little, if any, opposition. It is designed to place those officers and soldiers who served in the war of 1812 on an equal footing with those engaged in the war with Mexico. It will give to each of said officers and soldiers, who served for any length of time in said war, or to their widows and children, 160 acres of land.

The "Neal Dow Law" of the City Council of Washington has been disposed of in a summary manner by the Circuit Court, to which a case was carried by appeal, for the purpose of testing the validity of said law. His Honor Judge Morrell announced the judgment, which was, that the Maine law which the city fathers had concocted was unconstitutional, and therefore null and void. The Supreme Court is making considerable headway in its docket. A very important case, involving a large amount of money, has occupied the attention of the Court for a few days past. It is an appealed case from the United States Circuit Court of Washington. The appellees, Benjamin C. Clark and W. H. Y. Hackett, are Boston merchants.

If the whole of this news turns out to be as accurate as the last sentence of it, it must be quite valuable. Mr. Hackett happens to be a Portsmouth Lawyer, not a Boston merchant.

The same correspondent says—

We are now in the midst of the holidays. Christmas commenced here on the Sabbath, and was ushered in by the firing of cannon and the shouts of the multitude. Instead of chaunted hymns of praise in celebration of the World's Redeemer, the ribald song was heard upon the midnight air, and riot and rowdyism "held illimitable dominion over all." No effort was made by the city government to check the populace in their disgraceful encroachments upon the Sabbath, but they were permitted to revel in scenes of drunkenness, which, in any other city, would have been deemed sufficiently alarming to warrant the reading of the riot act.

By the time this reaches you, "New Year's Day" will have arrived. In Washington, business will be suspended, and everybody will keep "open house." The President, as well as his Cabinet and all the Foreign Ministers, will treat the crowd to "apple toddy," and before the day shall have been half spent a universal good feeling will prevail throughout the entire metropolis.

This item on apple-toddy and good feelings, with the rowdyism on Sunday at Christmas, should be read in the same breath with the legal decision against the new law. One is a fine comment on the other. Drunkenness reigns in Washington: and is protected there by the constitution! Is it so?

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.—The Senate unanimously chose H. W. Benchley of Worcester, President; and the House elected D. C. Eddy of Lowell, Speaker, by a vote of 262 in 325. The Boston Transcript says:

The Speaker of the House is a Baptist clergyman, from Lowell; the Clerk is a printer connected with the Pittsfield Eagle. The President of the Senate is a Republican; of the Clerk we Know Nothing. It will be seen that three of the four officers are from the cities of the Commonwealth, and western Massachusetts has the share falling to the back towns. There is much gratification in political circles at the defeat of those parties who have been so industriously at work for weeks to secure exalted stations. Many salutatory addresses are in the pockets of the defeated candidates. The rural districts show much spirit.

VACCINATION.—Dr. Smith, Mayor of Boston, says in his message:

An existing regulation that ought invariably to be complied with to the letter, insists upon the vaccination of every child as a prerequisite for entering the public schools. That no parent may plead inability to secure the family against a dreadful scourge, the operation is free to all applicants.

An hour's industry is better than a month's mourning.

The Liverpool correspondent of the New York Tribune, says, the private letters from the Crimea, which are not in the papers, call the campaign a complete failure, and Layard, the distinguished traveller, who was present at the Alma and at Balaklava and Inkermann, calls the battle of Inkermann a fatal victory, prognosticating defeat.

ALBANY, Jan. 3d.—Much excitement is manifested here in consequence of the interference of the Catholic priests in distroying books of a religous character, which were given to children at the Alms House, on Sunday last by Mrs. Parmalee, wife of the Mayor. Four teachers, appointed by the influence of the priests, and acting under their directions, seized the books and destroyed them. The excitement will be increased when the facts are published in the morning papers.

☞ In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, application was made for the use of Jefferson Hall, for a Levee for benevolent purposes.

A petition was presented that the city accept Linden street—laid on the table.

Numerous bills were presented, and most of them approved; notwithstanding the recent decision of the Superior Court, the bill of the City Marshal, for services, was laid on the table.

Certain repairs and improvements to the Brick Market were ordered to be made, under the direction of a committee.

☞ The Concert by the Musical Convention on Thursday evening, passed off to the satisfaction of everybody present—thus finely closing a very interesting and successful musical jubilee—of which we shall give the Secretary's official report to-morrow.

MAMMOTH ICE HOUSE.—Messrs. Thos. Norton and R. V. Rand are building a storehouse for the Rockingham Ice Company, on Parker Street, near Bridge Street. It is to be 106 feet long, and 70 feet wide, with 20 foot posts. It will have three roofs, running parallel with Parker street. It covers about 8,000 feet of land, and will contain about 400 tons of ice.

☞ The Ladies' Fair for the Middle Street Church, it will be seen, will be continued this evening, closing with an Auction.

☞ Free Lecture on Phrenology, &c. this evening, at the Temple. See advertisement.

AUGUSTA, ME., Jan. 4.—The Legislature of Maine met this morning, and both houses were organized. Franklin Muzzey, of Bangor, was elected President, and L. O. Cowan, of Saco, Secretary of the Senate—both elections being unanimous; John H. Knowlton Assistant Secretary. Sidney Perham, of Woodstock, was elected Speaker of the House, —Baker, Clerk.

Messrs. Editors:—SIR—Some friend to a good cause would have it known that the Old South Committee did verbally report about in the city the name of the Collector to whom they alluded as "picking their pockets" before they inserted that notice of "criminal proceedings." On this point, that individual challenged them for proof, for which, after much hard pumping, they failed, as the Collector proved the contrary by his subscription book and other sources. Now the "Old South Committee" as appears in the Chronicle of Dec 30, did make a trial to keep all these facts in the dark: as they say, "they know not to whom we allude," and why did not this or that society take it. Thus the reader will discover at once that the O. S. committee are guilty of gross dishonesty, because they did know at whom their dull pointed arrow was aimed, though it missed. And here they deny a fact which can be proved, sinking them deeper and deeper into a net which will hold them till they own up honestly. Our meeting on Hanover street is not aided by any association whatever. W. G.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS
PILLS THAT ARE PILLS!

PROF. HAYES, State Chemist of Massachusetts, says they are the best of all PILLS, and annexed are the men who certify that Dost. Hayes knows, viz:—
LEMUEL SHAW, Ch. Justice Supreme Court of Mass.
EMORY WASHBURN, Governor of Mass.
W. C. PLUNKETT, Lieut. GOV. of MASS.
EDWARD EVERETT, Ex-Sec. of State and US Senator.
ROBERT C. WINTHROP, Ex-Speaker House Rep. U. S.
ABBOT LAWRENCE, Minister Plenipo. to Gt. Britain;

MEN WHO ARE MEN.

Among the diseases this Pill has cured with astonishing rapidity, we may mention
Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the Blood and stimulating the System, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach: such as Deafness, partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstructions of its functions. They are the best Purgative Medicine ever discovered, and you will but need to use them once to know it.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The mail steamship Asia, brings dates from Liverpool to the 22d of December. Nothing of importance had been effected at Sebastopol. Sorties from the garrison were of frequent occurrence, but they had always proved unsuccessful. Two Russian war steamers from Sebastopol, had also taken a position commanding the flank of the French land forces, and opened their fire, but they were soon compelled by steamers from the allied fleet to return into the harbor. Omar Pasha's contingent of 45,000 men,would soon be sent to the Crimea.

Steam propeller Sarah Sands, which left Liverpool on the 6th ult., for Portland, was passed by the Asia, on the 24th, putting back to Liverpool.

British funds quiet; corn and flour unchanged during the week; cotton nearly as before.

Freights at Liverpool to U. S. unchanged, but a considerable falling off in supply of dead weight.

On the 6th the Russian war steamer Vladimir, and another steamer unknown, came out of Sebastopol, and took up a position off the Quarantine Fort, commanding the flank of the French land forces, and opened a fire, but the English steamers Valorous and Terrible, and a French steamer bore down upon them, and compelled them to re-enter the harbor, protected by the Russian batteries.

The Russians were making continuous sallies against the French position, but they were at all times promptly repulsed. The 9th, 90th, and part of the 34th British regiments, had landed since the 4th.

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 28.—During the day, the Russian fire upon the British lines has been at the rate of one gun every five minutes. The English lookout man cries "Tower Redan," or "Garden battery," when plump comes a ball, and slap goes another in answer. But the fire on the French lines is kept up in a more lively manner, and with some effect upon their earthworks and parallels. Every night, at nine o'clock, the flag staff, quarantine and wall batteries open furious canonades which last from twenty-five to forty-five minutes, as hard and fast as the men can load the guns, right into the French lines, and then follows instantly a sally, the result of which is invariably unsuccessful. The Russians push a strong column out of the place, rush towards the first line, drive in the pickets and riflemen, get up to the first parallel, sometimes into it, occasionally beyond it and close to the second parallel; are received as they advance by the French covering parties with a deadly fire. They halt and fire in return, are charged by the French, who rout and pursue them into the town, but are obliged to retire by the flank fire of the batteries and street guns. In this way the French lose forty or fifty men, but the loss of the Russians in these sorties must be considerable. Frequently they repeat these performances about day break.

Nov. 29.—We have storms of wind and rain to-day. The Russians have much strengthened their defences, have scarped the ground in front of their batteries, and constructed a strong abattis in front of their lines. The fire of the Allies has continued feeble. The general prospects on the south side are that the Russians mount one hundred guns more than when the siege commenced. On the contrary, the British have erected a very powerful new battery on the eminence north of the valley of Inkerman, and commanding every house in Sebastopol. Its fire has not yet opened. This is another and a great step towards the complete investment of the place. Since the seige began twenty British soldiers have deserted to the Russians, Russian deserters say provisions and ammunition are becoming scarce in Sebastopol, but there is no famine for either. To-day it was observed that the Russians are arming their ships in the harbor, probably to attempt a surprise by sea.

GREAT BRITAIN.—President Pierce's Message was published in England on the 18th ult. The public mind was so occupied by the war that the message was passed over almost without remark.

The bill to enlist 40,000 Germans had awakened protracted debates in Parliament. Mr. D'Israeli and his party, in the House of Commons, opposed it, but would not throw any unfair obstacle in the way. Sir E. Lytton Bulwer moved that it be read that day, six months.

Mr. Milner Gibson said the enlistment of foreign mercenaries, independently of their governments, was a violation of the principle of neutrality, and might be taken advantage of by Russia, to hire privateers from the United States.

LATEST.—Friday evening.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer gave notice that he will propose that the duty on tea remain at eighteen pence per pound till peace be restored.

The foreign enlistment was read a third time in the House of Commons, and passed by a majority of 38. The foreign enlistment is strongly repugnant to the feelings of the people, and is regarded as a job to put money into the purses of cousins, the Hanovers and Gothas, in exchange for a few thousand of their spare subjects.

Debate also ensued on the militia bill, the Earl of Derby and his party opposing the removal of the militia, which is essentially a home force, to foreign garrisons. He did not, however, move an amendment. Consequently the bill was read a second time, and passed through the Committee.

Lord John Russell stated that the number of troops France was willing to send to the war was only limited by the number of transports furnished to carry them. England did not propose to take Frenchmen into their pay before the passage of the foreign enlistment bill.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer proposes to transfer the deposits in the Savings banks, amounting to £33,000,000, from the Bank of England into the Government three per cent. debt. The proposal is regarded unfavorably, and has somewhat depressed the funds.

A CENTENNIAL CHIME.—The Philadelphia Ledger says that the bell ringers of Christ Church, in that city, celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the first ringing of a peal of bells in the steeple of that church on New Year's eve. They were rung for the first time on the 31st of December, 1854, and were the second full chime of bells put up in the United States—that on the Old North, in Boston, being the first.

A NEW YEAR'S FIGHT.—On Monday morning, about 3 o'clock, the vicinity of Water street, Charlestown, was disturbed by the outcries of a woman; and on the arrival of a watchman, it was found that Mary Shea and John Hickey—an Irish couple, who were "setting up" together—had got into a fight, from jealousy, and that, although John had rather the worst of it, Mary was the noisiest. They were both arrested, and on examination were fined $1 each and costs.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. Edd dy's success, I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HERTS BROTHERS

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-similie of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE

RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLOOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 57 Mill street.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.—Nobody thinks now, of looking at Regular Nominations, to guess who will be governor or representative. In the Manchester Mirror we saw a hint, some days ago, that the Know Nothings might nominate Mayor Walker, or some other one of a dozen candidates for governor.

Now we see a suggestion of a more earnest kind in the Independent Democrat, nominating Hon. Wm. Claggett of this city, for Congress. It is signed "One of his friends," and runs thus:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE INDEPENDENT DEMOCRAT:—We recommend the Hon. William Claggett, as a candidate for Representative to the next Congress from district No. 1. He is a gentleman too well known in this State for me to say anything in his favor; having held many offices of honor and trust, both National and State. It is the wish of many of his friends that he may be chosen to fill the office at the next election.

We are not in the Know Nothing cabinet, and therefore cannot tell what Mr. C.'s chances of election may be; at their hands. He has nothing to hope from the old parties, now, though he was formerly popular, and has held important offices, the last in Portsmouth Custom House under Jackson and Van Buren.

THE LIFE BOATS OF MISS DIX.—In a letter from H. Ball, Esq., of Halifax, to a New York gentleman, occurs the following passage, which we copy for the benefit of those good and kind people who assisted Miss Dix in her efforts to provide means for the rescue and safety of the crews of shipwrecked vessels upon Sable Island:

"I wrote Miss Dix yesterday, giving her information, which I am sure will be to her, as it will also to all who have aided in her work of benevolence, very gratifying, that one hundred and eighty persons, passengers and crew of the ship Arcadian, from Antwerp, have been rescued, chiefly, if not entirely, by the life boats supplied by her. The other boats, it is said, could not have reached the vessel, in consequence of the heavy sea. It was only a day or two before the ship was wrecked, that the large boat which had been sent back for repairs had arrived on the island,—no opportunity having occurred to send them from here sooner. By her superior suitability for the work, all the crew and passengers, men, women, and children, were saved from perishing in the waves. The ship turned over on the bank, and the sea beat into and over her, so that even their clothing could not be saved; and I am now sending to the island, clothing, blankets, &c, provided by our Legislature; and provision is made to support them while here, and to procure passage for as many as shall wish to proceed to your country."

A HEALTHY PLACE.—The Exeter (N. H.) News Letter says that in the town of Hampton, near Exeter, during the last hundred years, there have occured fourteen hundred and fifty-eight deaths, or an average less than fifteen a year. The greatest number of deaths in a year was in 1853, when thirty-four persons died. In the year 1790 but five deaths were chronicled upon the records of the town. Of the above fourteen hundred and fifty-eight persons, four hundred and twenty-six were over seventy years of age, two hundred and twenty over eighty years, thirty-nine over ninety, and one a hundred and four.

Hampton has a population of eleven hundred inhabitants.

Mrs. Mary Collins, residing about seven miles from Abingdon, Va., is certainly not less than one hundred and twenty years old, and is believed to be near one hundred and thirty. She yet attends to a great deal of work about the farm of her son, with whom she resides.

Mr. Bright and Joseph Sturge, the well known Quakers, are defending themselves from the attacks made upon them for their censure of the Russian war. At a recent meeting in Rochdale, in reply to some remarks of a clergyman, Mr Bright pointed to the fact that the Emperor of Russia, had been a regular contributor to the funds of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

The number of railroad accidents in the United States in 1854 was 193, killed 186, wounded 589. In 1853 the number was 138, killed 234, wounded 496. The number of lives lost by fires in buildings in 1854 was 171. The number of steamboat accidents in the United States last year was 48; persons killed 537, wounded 225. In 1853 there were 31 accidents; 319 killed, 158 wounded.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1855.

CHAPLAINS.—The Massachusetts House of Representatives, balloted on Thursday for Chaplain, when the vote stood for John H. Twombly of Roxbury, 90; Theodore Parker of Boston, 65; Charles S. Macready of Newton, 56; William Bell of Boston, 43; William Bushman of Newton, 22; N. M. Gaylord of Boston, 14; and many scattering; of course there was no choice.

Mr. George of Boston moved to amend so that the two highest on the list should be invited to officiate as Chaplains alternately.

Mr. Eames of Malden hoped this motion would not prevail. He thought it would be a disgrace to the House if one of those persons should be elected to serve as its Chaplain.

This was received with hisses and loud expressions of disapprobation from different parts of the House.

Mr. Prince of Essex was astonished at the sentiment expressed by Mr. Eames, and he proceeded to speak in extravagant terms of eulogy of Rev. Theodore Parker, whom he considered "one of the greatest men of the age."

[Applause, hisses, stamping, &c.]

Mr. Slack of Boston, the Speaker having succeeded in obtaining order, and explaining that the two persons who had received the highest number of votes were Rev. Mr. Twombly of Roxbury, and Rev. Theodore Parker of Boston, then took the floor. He thought it his duty, as one of the humblest friends of Mr. Parker, to defend his character, styling him a man of "the most exemplary purity and of true christian demeanor," devoting his life to inculcating the principles of benevolence and humanity.

Mr. Eames denied that his remarks had any personal bearing, and he repeated that he thought the proposition now before the House would, if adopted, be a disgrace. He hoped the amendment would not prevail. Some few hisses were again made in different parts of the house.

Mr. Eames donkeyized himself, not by opposing any candidate, which he had a right to do if he chose, but by denying that his remarks had a personal bearing. If they did not have such a bearing, they had neither force nor meaning.

On a second ballot Rev. J. H. Twombly had 216, and was chosen; Rev. Theodore Parker, 172; Rev. William Bell, 15; Rev. Mr. Macready, 10.

The first ballot shows the real choice of the members: the second shows chiefly the great desire of the House to make a choice and proceed to business. It shows also to some extent the balance of esteem and prejudice towards Mr. Parker.

WHEAT AT CHICAGO. — SPECULATORS BUYING LARGELY. — We understand that there are a large number of persons buying wheat in this market for Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and the eastern States, and that the demand is rapidly increasing. It is not probable, under such circumstances, that any considerable surplus can accumulate in our warehouses between this and the opening of navigation next spring. This opinion is becoming very prevalent, and gives the price of wheat an advancing tendency.

The Sandusky (Ohio) Register has the following:

NEW FEATURE IN THE PRODUCE TRADE. It is reported that large amounts of gold have been received from Europe, and sent into Wisconsin, Illinois and Canada, for the purchase of provisions for the army in the East. The purchases are kept, as far as possible, a secret, and are made through American houses, yet the fact of the deposit of foreign gold has transpired, and it is a general belief that the purchases are on English and French account.

This is good news for the great holders of bread stuff and meat at the west: but not so good for the eaters on the sea coast, in New York city, for instance, where 27,000 women, and we know not how many men, are out of work and famishing for bread, with flour at $10 or $12 per barrel. Now the Western operation on wheat, and the Eastern War, are likely to grind the faces of these poor, and to produce we know not what other effects, by their distress and discontent.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—The State Senate has organized. The election of officers shows an anti-Nebraska majority of one.

In the Illinois Legislature on Tuesday, Thomas Turner, anti-Nebraska, was elected Speaker.

These two items of news, directly contradict many assertions which have been made in New Hampshire, of favor in Illinois for Mr. Douglas's Nebraska bill. It does not seem, now, to be any more popular in Illinois, than in New Hampshire.

The Rector of the Christ Church, Salem street, Boston; the old treasurer of the same, and some wardens, past and present, had an unpleasant scene, something like an open quarrel, in church, last Sunday. From the church, the trouble has gone into the Police Court, for the benefit of the lawyers.

SINGING.

NEW BEDFORD, Dec. 30.

Messrs Editors:—I have observed in a late number of your paper an allusion to my name, in connection with the late "Old Folks' Concert," with an expressed desire that I should participate in the second Concert of the old music. It would afford me much pleasure to witness another scene as pleasant as that of the first, in Portsmouth.

I hardly know why it is a scene of so much pleasure to me to be in the midst of singers and singing; but perhaps it is to be accounted for by two simple ideas which are associated with singing, in my mind. One of these is, (as doubtless with many others) the idea of the home of my childhood, where, as the youngest of nine children, (all now living) in company with my father and mother, I learned in early childhood to sing the soul-stirring music of a past age. My parents, after filling more than four score years, have both within the last five years ceased to sing among mortals. My brothers and sisters have become widely separated, and nothing carries me back to the scenes which can never be repeated, like the old tunes, in which I hear again, as it were the voices of the loved ones of early life.

The other idea is one of hope. In that bright world which hope points out to me, there must be music. There will be singing in heaven. It will be so. Who will lead the choir in glory, I do not know; but I would like to sing there, and sing too with the "Old Folks," and the "Young Folks," with whom I have sung in Portsmouth.

There is something exceedingly pleasant in the fact that the "Old Folks" are singing.—Among all the sweet songsters of the grove, there is not one other so much admired as the nightingale. She sings at sunset; and her nightly song wakes the world to love and peace. You have heard the sunset-singers, in Portsmouth, in its old Temple, and, whether I may be there or not, I hope that Nightingale Band will again sing, and I also hope that many of the young larks will learn their sweet songs, and join in concert.

There is life, and power, and love, in music. It makes the world better. Whatever makes the world better, it is lawful for a minister of Christ to encourage. I have participated with the young singers, and I remember every one of them with love. May they be like charity and love, "Meek and lowly, pure and holy." This fondness of the morning songsters makes me also fond of country life, where the birds sing with the breaking of day, and at noon fly away to some cool, quiet spot, in the shady grove.

I have left Portsmouth, as you see, and the friends I found there; not because I would, but because, as I judge, it was necessary.—But my heart's good will is there as ever.

In this uncertain life I can make no certain promise for a time so far distant as the Concert, as to complying with the wish expressed in your kind and very flattering notice.

Yours, truly, A. G. COMINGS.

BALL OF THE GRANITE GUARDS.—The annual ball of the Granite Guards came off at Concord, on Thursday evening, 4th inst., on which occasion the splendid new hall in Phœnix Block was dedicated. A large number were present, many of whom came from Manchester, Boston, Portsmouth, Hanover, and other distant places. Lyon's Quadrille Band, of Boston, consisting of eight performers, furnished excellent music. Four different individuals tried to call the changes distinctly, but the whole lot were not worth a "continental." The utmost good feeling and sociability prevailed, and all went merry as a marriage bell. The dancing was kept up with spirit till morning. T.

NATURALIZATION.—The Boston Mail expresses views on this subject, coinciding almost exactly with those we have often advanced; and says:

So far as naturalization confers the right to hold and transmit real property, and to government protection, no one will object to giving to persons of foreign birth the benefit thereof, and such benefit might readily be secured by a modification of the law which would debar them from exercising the privilege of voting. The injunction of the Constitution that Congress shall establish uniform laws upon the subject of naturalization, would not be infringed by the proposed change, for the amended law would still be uniform in its operation, and though withholding the right to vote, would confer valuable privileges upon persons who came here from other lands.

VERDICT IN A RAILROAD CASE.—In the Supreme Court, on Tuesday, in the case of Nehemiah H. Stone vs. the Boston & Maine Railroad, for $10,000 damages for injuries from an accident on that road at the time President Pierce's son was killed, the jury returned a verdict for defendants, after an hour's absence. The case has occupied nearly nine days. The Post states that the defendants once offered to settle with plaintiff by paying him $5,000.—Boston Mail.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Mayor Wood's determination to effect a reform in the administration of municipal affairs in this city, created much excitement. The complaint book has already received a large number of entries, and there is already a marked improvement in the department of police.

The London Diogenes in his last number represents the postman "who knocks at every body's door." He is Death! At his side is a bag of letters from the East. With one hand he touches a knocker on a coronetted door—with the other, he raps with his knuckles at the door of a washer woman.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 1.—At a disturbance which took place in this city on Saturday night, four men were badly stabbed in the abdomen, three of them mortally. Two of the rioters have been arrested. All the parties were Irish. Business is completely suspended here to-day.

It is said there are over one thousand boot and shoe-makers out of employment in Lynn.

LOCAL.

THE MUSICAL CONVENTION.

Agreeably to the call issued by friends of music in Portsmouth, a Convention of singers was held at the beautiful Hanover Street Chapel in this city, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 2d, 3d and 4th, 1855.—Prof. B. F. Baker, of Boston, was the director; and Mr. T. H. Hinton pianist.

At the opening session there were present about fifty ladies and gentlemen, mostly residents of Portsmouth; in the afternoon the number increased to about eighty, and at the evening session one hundred and fifty were in attendance. The number continued to increase throughout the entire session of the Convention—at one or two meetings amounting to about two hundred—evincing a commendable general interest in the proceedings.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Convention was organized. Mr. Pearson invited Mr. Amos Abbott to the chair. A committee of three, consisting of Messrs. John P. Payson, Amos Abbott and John G. Tompson, jr., was chosen to consider the matter, and make report as to the best means of proceeding, with reference to future meetings, of a like character with the present convention.

At the close of the evening rehearsal, Mr. Abbott in the chair, the committee reported as the best means of securing to this vicinity the advantages of Musical mass meetings in future—to elect officers for the present body, consisting of a President, Vice President, and a Secretary. The following gentlemen were chosen: For President, John Christie; Vice President, Amos Pearson; Secretary, Frank W. Miller. And these were authorized to call, and make all necessary arrangements for another convention, at such time and place as may in their judgment be expedient. The meeting then adjourned.

This Convention has been an interesting occasion for all lovers of music, and we doubt not but that when a similar opportunity shall be offered for musical enjoyment and improvement, the next year, a much larger number will avail themselves of its advantages, not only in Portsmouth, but from all the neighboring towns.

Prof. Baker proved himself a thorough master of his business—and won hosts of friends here as he does everywhere. He understands how to instruct without wearying, to encourage without flattering, and to reprove without souring. There was but one voice of entire satisfaction with his manner of conducting the Convention. In the name of its members, we trust to have his aid on other similar occasions.

To his assistant also, Mr. Hinton, for his able performance on the piano and organ, was due much of the pleasantness and success of the Convention.

May this be but the commencement of a new era in music in Portsmouth, and Rockingham County; and the beginning of an interest which shall increase till a knowledge of singing shall be as universal with us as is the acquaintance with the alphabet, the pen and the multiplication table.

The following resolutions were reported at the recess of the Concert given by the Convention, at the Temple on Thursday evening, —were read by the President, and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the power to make and appreciate music, is among the most elevating and ennobling faculties with which we are endowed, and is therefore worthy of the most strenuous, systematic and persevering culture.

That among the most obvious and efficient means for its cultivation, are Musical Conventions.

That the skill, untiring perseverance, and gentlemanly courtesy, with which Professor Baker has conducted the exercises of this convention, have won for him our firmest confidence, lasting respect and unfeigned gratitude.

That the interest and advantage of our rehearsals, and this Concert, have been greatly promoted by the superior skill and taste displayed by Mr. Hinton, upon the Piano Forte.

That great interest has been added to the latter sessions of this Convention and particularly to the Concert of this evening, by the presence and participation of Mrs. Long; and we shall ever hold in grateful and pleasant remembrance her agreeable society and sweet notes.

FRANK W. MILLER,
Sec. Rockingham Co. Musical Convention.

Portsmouth, Jan. 6, 1854.

SINGULAR PHENOMENON.—The House Bells of a gentleman in this city commenced ringing and continued at intervals through Thursday, to the amusement of some and the terror of others. The Irish help were much alarmed; but the matter was explained, by supposing the Bells were affected by a strong Galvanic Battery or Electrical Machine used in the house for medical purposes.

☞ "A Citizen" of New Castle complains in a communication to the Chronicle, that the full fare is charged for passage over the bridges between Great Island and Portsmouth, while they are so bare of snow that teams can draw but half loads. He says the evil could be easily removed, by boarding up the northerly side of the bridge rail, so that the wind could not sweep across.

DANGEROUS.—On Thursday afternoon, as a young man was examining a double barrel gun in Market street, both barrels were fired, and the balls with which they were charged lodged in the post of the door leading to Mr. I. B. Clagett's office. Loaded guns should not be played with in the streets.

☞ The second Lecture of the course before the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, will be delivered to-morrow evening, at the Stone Church, by Rev. Dr. Peabody. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

☞ Rev. H. S. Sleeper, of New Sharon, Me., will preach at the F. W. Baptist Chapel on Hanover street, to-morrow.

LAWRENCE'S

CHERRY PECTORAL.

W. F. LAWRENCE: DEAR SIR,—

It gives me pleasure to state that your CHERRY PECTORAL has given utmost satisfaction wherever it has been used. Some of the most distinguished physicians of the state, are in the habit of purchasing it in bulk, and profess themselves highly gratified with its remedial effects. I can recommend it with confidence as a very superior medicine, and have no doubt that it will earn for itself an enviable reputation. E. H. ROLLINS.

Concord, Sept. 20, 1854.

Mr. Rollins is one of the most extensive dealers in drugs and medicines in New England. As the Cherry Pectoral was first introduced in Concord, we subjoin the certificate of John F. Brown, formerly bookseller and publisher, and now city clerk of Concord, N. H., our former agent:

This certifies that I have been an agent for the sale of Medicines, now extensively known as Lawrence's Cherry Pectoral; that so far as I know it has given good satisfaction; that I have repeatedly sold it to physicians in quantity; that I am acquainted with the manufacturer of the Pectoral; that he is a physician of good repute, and that I believe him qualified to conduct the complex operations necessary for the manufacture of this medicine. JOHN F. BROWN.

Concord, N. H. April 6, 1854.

The above are but few of the many testimonials in favor of Lawrence's Cherry Pectoral. It is used under the sanction and approbated at Dartmouth College by Prof. Dixi Crosby, and the most eminent of the Medical Faculty of the N. E. states. It is

Sagamore House,

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within a pleasant ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

EVERY body and their friends are now having their Pictures at

Boutelle's Saloon on Hanover street,

And that all may have a chance, he will stop a short time longer. To parents he would say—bring in their little ones and get a type of them that shall show in after years the tiny features of their infant days; and to the beaux and sweet hearts who have exchanged many a token and merry glance—come now and exchange faces and have something to wink at when alone. A fine assortment of CASES and LOCKETS, all of which will be sold cheap. o16

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture, at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT AND MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FIXTURES, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament in any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

SOCIAL LIFE IN NEW YORK.—New York this winter is pronounced "dull." Even the theatres and opera are said to receive a precurious support. Night entertainments extending not only into the small hours, but into the grey dawn of morning, and costing $500 to $1000 each, and upwards, are much less frequent than they once were. So far as "hard times" has done this, he is entitled to the thanks of the community.—Jour. Com.

CAPTURE OF A DEER.—As the Pilot boat Lightfoot was returning from a trip down the bay, on Monday forenoon, something was discovered swimming in the water just ahead of the boat, when she was about two miles from Wood's Hole. Messrs. Coombs and Almy, two of the party on board of the Lightfoot, took the small boat and "headed" the swimmer off; and after considerable difficulty captured it and took it on board alive and in good condition. It proved to be a doe weighing about 160 lbs. It was brought to this city where it now remains.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty-five as charged by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had as much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1858," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLOOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

. . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

BREAD AND BEER IN BRITAIN.

The Scottish Temperance League has memorialized the Queen in favor of the entire stoppage of Distillation and Brewing from Grain. They say:

"Your Majesty's Memorialists cannot refrain from respectfully and earnestly calling your Majesty's attention to the operations of Brewing and Distilling carried on in the United Kingdom, in which operations are annually consumed upwards of six millions of quarters of Grain, being equivalent to the food of five millions of your majesty's subjects. And yet, large as is this quantity, it is this year being greatly increased by the recent stoppage of Brewing and Distillation in France, large purchasers of spirits having in consequence been made here for French use, so that at the very season when this country can least spare it, the waste of grain is to be larger than usual.

Your Majesty's Memorialists would respectfully urge upon Your Majesty's most gracious consideration, that this enormous waste of the bounties of a kind Providence, is not a sacrifice imposed upon the community for the acquisition of some good, otherwise unattainable; that, on the contrary, it is a wanton destruction of human food for the production of materials wholly unnecessary either as articles of diet or as beverages, the habitual use of which is largely productive of crime, pauperism, disease, insanity, and almost every variety of physical wretchedness and moral depravity. In support of these opinions in regard to intoxicating drinks, your Majesty's Memorialists would beg respectfully to quote the following testimony signed by Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir James Clark, Sir William Burnett, Dr. Neil Arnot, Dr. Richard Bright, Dr. W. J. Chambers, Dr. John Forbes, Dr. Henry Holland, and, in all, by upwards of seventeen hundred medical practitioners, including the most eminent members of the profession throughout the country. The testimony is as follows:—First, "That a very large portion of human misery, including poverty, disease, and crime, is induced by the use of alcoholic or fermented liquors as beverages;" and Second, "That total and universal abstinence from alcoholic liquors, and intoxicating beverages of all sorts, would greatly contribute to the health, the prosperity, the morality, and the happiness of the human race."

THE ONE THING.—Uncle Peter B., who flourished a few years ago among the mountains of Vermont, as an inveterate horse-dealer was one day called upon by an amateur of the "equine" in search of "something fast." The result is told as follows in the Northern Gazette:—

"There," said Uncle P. pointing at an animal in the meadow below the house, "there, sir, is a mare yonder who would trot a mile in two minutes and twenty seconds, were it not for one thing."

"Indeed," cried his companion.

"Yes," continued Uncle Peter; "she is four years old this spring, in good condition, looks well, and is a first rate mare, and would trot a mile in two minutes and twenty-seconds were it not for one thing.

"Well, what is it?" was the query.

"That mare," resumed the jockey," is in every way a good piece of property. She has a heavy mane, a switch tail, trots fair and square, and yet there is one thing only why she can't go a mile in 2:20."

"What in the old harry is it, then?" cried the amateur, impatiently.

"The distance is too great for the time, was the wag's reply.

The Cape Breton News says that operations are being carried on for the extension of the Albion mines, which will be equal to the expected increased demands for coals next season.

ANOTHER HORRIBLE MURDER.—A Wife and Mother killed by a Drunken Husband.—A horrible murder was committed at No. 32, Trinity place, last evening, by a man named Thomas Hummonds, who is employed in one of the United States Bonded warehouses in West street. He is a man of very intemperate habits.—N. Y. Evening Post 2d.

KILLING A SLAVE.—The grand jury of New Orleans have found true bills of indictment against Mrs. Aimes Dietz and Mrs. Eliza Dimitry, for the murder of a female slave by ill-treatment. On account of the age and infirmities of the prisoners the court admitted them to bail in the sum of ten thousand dollars each.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1855.

THE EIGHTH OF JANUARY.

This day is the Anniversary of the grand attack made by the British army on Gen. Jackson's line of defence before New Orleans, and of the signal repulse and decisive defeat which were inflicted on them by the American forces.

The whole country was in a state of anxiety and suspense; the British force was large and well appointed; and though the numbers of our Western Militia and Volunteers were perhaps as large or larger, yet there was some apprehension that they might not stand fire.

They proved, however, fully equal to the emergency; and Gen. Jackson showed that he was at home in the arts of defence, as well as vigorous in attack: and that he was a competent commander in a great battle, as well as a brave leader in a skirmish.

The deliverance of New Orleans was hailed with joy throughout the country:—and as this event occurred about the same time we heard the news of peace,—the popular joy was almost unbounded.

MORAL SUASION AND LEGAL PROHIBITION.—But we certainly differ widely from those of its friends who deem the Maine Law, or anything substantially resembling it, the most effective means of achieving this success. We feel deeply persuaded that the era of prohibitory laws has supplanted the golden age of the temperance reform. The palmy days of this most humane reformation were plainly those in which the reason and the heart were moved by eloquent appeal and the public judgment was indoctrinated by the noiseless diffusion of light. The substitution of legal for moral machinery, of compulsion for persuasion, of force for kindness, has tended to repel all the humbler but more efficient agencies of the cause, and to extinguish forever the graceful and resistless energies of love.—Louisville Journal.

Uncle Toby has kept this paragraph laid up for some time, for a word of comment. He wishes he could see intemperance in all its forms, cut up, root and branch. And he has not yet been able to persuade himself that there has been any golden age of temperance since he can remember. The Washingtonian effort in this place, gladdened his heart greatly, and its effects for good are visible here to this day. Yet there was drunkenness here, even in the height of that effort; and there were some interested persons in those most "palmy days," on whom the "graceful and resistless energies of love" had about as much influence as moonbeams have on a stone post.

He believes the people "down east" had some experience of the same sort: and after some years of trial, they concluded that moral suasion would do very well to melt icicles, and thaw frozen souls;—but that granite posts and trap rocks must be approached with sledge hammers and blasts.

Now the old man is a moral suasionist, decidedly, and don't believe that statute laws ever made a man honest or pure; but he knows the best men in Maine are pleased with their law, and has little or no doubt the Democracy of New Hampshire will make one something like it. When they do, he is prepared to obey it; and also to use moral suasion on the subject without ceasing. He can see no opposition between the gospel and good sound law.

THE BOSTON PILOT, the well-known Roman Catholic and Irish paper, comes out at New Year, in a new and neat typographic dress. We consider it valuable to all Irishmen who wish to hear from their old homes and friends; and altogether too Irish and Roman in spirit, for exerting a healthy American influence. We value it highly, for our own use; as we desire to learn every man's opinions from his own mouth or pen, and not from his opponents. We look to the latter, only for his acts, and especially his defects. The Pilot says of its own issue:

During the year just ended, one million five hundred and fifty thousand copies of the Pilot were printed and circulated all over the world! We can safely say that this is more than the combined circulation of all the anti-Catholic papers in the country can say.

This is about 30,000 copies a week; a pretty large number in itself considered; but not so large, when contrasted with the anti-Catholic papers, as the Pilot supposes. The Boston Bee is said to issue 15,000 per day; making three times as many as the Pilot names for itself. Other anti-Roman papers that we know of, number at least as many more; and we do not probably know half of them.

NATIONAL MAGAZINE, for Jan., 1855.—This is No. 1 of vol. 6; and contains 24 engravings, illustrative of the following articles, viz. a Biography of Schoolcraft the Traveler; Christiana at the House of the Interpreter; Plymouth, the Pilgrims and Puritans; Arctic Researches; and a Trip from St. Petersburg to Constantinople. Agent, Rev. Mr. Spaulding.

Rev. Dr. Putnam of Roxbury, preached his annual New Year's sermon on Sunday morning. At the conclusion of the service a collection of $720 was taken up for the benefit of the poor.

For the Chronicle.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

Lucy Stone lectured in Exeter on Wednesday evening of last week, upon "The political and legal disabilities of women," to an audience consisting for the greater part of ladies. She commenced by saying that the idea of women voting was generally laughed at, first, but after a little examination every decent man could not help agreeing it was but their right. One "reason" often given why this right should be denied them was because "they don't know enough." But the drunken set, the man taken from the gutter, or from the den where modesty never enters, and who could'nt tell, ten minutes after, what vote he had carried—the foreigner, so ignorant that he could neither read, nor measure the boards that covered his miserable shanty—they all could vote; but "the women don't know enough." So, politically, a woman is esteemed as lower than the drunkard, the foreigner, and the basest of men. Our forefathers fought because they considered that government good only when conducted with the consent of those governed. Then any one who will think of it, cannot but acknowledge that women should either have a voice in the making of the laws or otherwise should not be held answerable to them. The framers of our constitution said, "We, the people," meaning "we, the men." "Taxation without Representation" now applies to none but women. The slaves count three-fifths to their masters; women the whole to her master.

Another reason urged why they should not vote, is because the men are no where so filthy, so profane, so unmannerly as at the election. This, she argued, was only because the women were not there; that the men who go to the lecture, or to church with the ladies, can't go to the election, because they behave so badly, only need the ladies to keep them in order. But if attending the polls as now conducted, would'nt benefit them, then they would ask for a separate place, and invite all decent men to come and vote with them—the others might go where they pleased.

It is said that politics would have a tendency to make the women corrupt. Then men should never meddle with them. He ought to let them alone, if he is to become corrupted by them. If they voted there would be a vast amount of domestic discord. She did not present much argument here; but advised all expecting to marry, to talk it over, and to either give up all idea of marrying, or else prepare to take the consequences. But who is to take care of the baby! as if every woman was supposed to be married, and every one had a baby! But they can go to the Springs, to parties, to church, fifty-two times a year, and the baby need not suffer; but they can't go half an hour, once or twice a year, to vote, for who is to take care of the baby? Then, who will take care of the same article, if the mother has to go to Congress? Take the country through, and about one man in ten thousand has an office under government;—then probably enough women could be found, even without babies, to hold whatever offices were necessary.

Why should women vote? They have in Boston been taxed to send Simms and poor Anthony Burns back to slavery, and they could say nothing against it. On being married, in many States, she loses all right to her personal property, and in Illinois the laws forbid married women, insane persons and fools, to make wills. In Massachusetts, a wife may make a will, provided her husband signifies his permission to it by writing his name on the back; or she may make one without his permission, if she gives all her property to him.

She closed by saying that the time must soon come when the clause "All male citizens" will read "all citizens," &c, and until that time does come, women need not expect to enjoy that equality which few will deny is due them. Then let the women petition; begin now and ask all decent men to sign it (and they will do so) and then pass it to the legislature, if they get but two signatures. And if they don't succeed, then press on session after session, until they gain their object, and woman is allowed to vote as well as drunkards, foreigners, and negroes. G. P.

Exeter, Jan. 6, 1855.

TOBACCO AND POVERTY.—Some things have a strange affinity; they seem complete together, as fond lovers. For example, rum and crime, dogs and poverty, and, if I mistake not, tobacco and poverty acknowledges this mysterious affiliation.—Herald.

There is something in that.—Pilot.

There may be: Uncle Toby and his dog, taken together, are not very rich; but he questions about tobacco and poverty. He would rather make these three groups, viz.: Rum and Crime; Tobacco and Dirt; Dogs and Poverty. Neither the first nor last are infallible; for some men seem to have no fault but intemperance; and many rich men have fine dogs; but tobacco and dirt seem to be inseparable.

The Free Will Baptists in Maine number nearly 13,000 communicants, which is two thirds as many as the Congregationalists, and as many if not more than the Calvinistic Baptists.

OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.—The second concert of ancient sacred music, will be given on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24. Owing to the short time intervening, we are requested by several of the "Old Folks," to call a meeting for Rehearsal only, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 9th. See advertisement.

COURTS IN JANUARY.—Jan. 9, Probate, Portsmouth; Jan. 10, Probate, Exeter; Jan 16, Common Pleas, Dover.

THE NEW ENGLAND BARDS.—This talented Band of Singers gave a most delightful concert last evening at Deering's Hall.—Whitehouse, the tenor, is a host in himself, and the rest of the company are indeed sweet singers. Miss Curran has a voice as clear, strong, and full, pealing out like the notes of a key bugle in the distance. They give their last concert this evening, and their vocal talents should win for them a full house. The following is from the Norway Advertiser:—

"Whitehouse's New England Bards gave a concert in this village, by invitation, on Tuesday evening last, which was fully attended and very generally applauded. It is seldom we are favored with so rich a musical treat, and such performances as this company give cannot fail to draw forth the good wishes of the people, and crowded houses. We advise all lovers of good music to 'go in' and hear them, when favored with the opportunity."—Eastern Argus, Portland, Jan. 5, 1855.

The "Bards" will visit Portsmouth next week, probably. They are meeting with excellent success in the various towns they have visited.

GOVERNOR OF MAINE.—At Augusta, Jan. 5, Anson P. Morrill was elected Governor of Maine by the Legislature.

In Maine, when there is no choice of Governor by the people, the House must select two candidates from the four highest. This they did, giving Reed, whig, 116 votes, (including regular democrats,)—Morrill, 106.

Then the Senate, from these two, thus selected by the House, must choose one. In this case, they gave Morrill an unanimous vote, electing him Governor.

A HOG STORY.—A correspondent of the Dover Gazette, vouches for the truth of the following anecdote—the facts stated in which he says occurred recently within a few miles of Dover:

A farmer but a few miles from our village, finding that his cows did not give their accustomed quantity of milk, was curious to know the cause. He could not think it was stolen, until subsequently one morning he heard an unusual stir in his barn; and upon going to the spot, to his astonishment, he found two thieves;—real Hogs!—one upon each side of one of the cows, comfortably seated, extracting the milk as handily as calves. The same was afterwards repeated in the presence of other witnesses.

We (Uncle T.) had a fine heifer, near twenty years ago, who would suffer a pig to milk her, and had formed quite an attachment to this nursling, which was half as big as herself, before the bargain was found out and broken up.

SLEEVES AND SAUCE.—The most stupid and ugly fashions always last the longest. How many years the long dresses have swept the street. For the last twelve months bonnets have been flying off the the head, and so, probably, they will continue for twelve more. However, the bonnets are simply ridiculous. As to long dresses, there is somthing to be said for them. They are convenient to aged ladies. They enable them to enjoy, without atracting remark, the comfort of slippers and laced stockings and rollers for their poor old ancles. They render it impossible for young ladies to wear bluchers and high-lows, thereby avoiding damp feet, and to save washing, by making one pair of stockings last a week. So they will doubtless continue to be worn whilst the laws of fashion are dictated by a splayfooted beauty, or a lady troubled with bunions.

But this kind of apology cannot be made for hanging sleeves. They are not only absured, but inconvenient. They are always getting in the way, and the sauce, and the butter boat. Your wife cannot help you to a potato across the table but she upsets her glass and breaks it with her dangling sleeve. It may be said that your wife has no business to help potatoes—that there ought to be footmen in attendance for that purpose. Certainly, or else, she should not wear sleeves. But ladies must, of course, follow the height of fashion, whether suitable to their circumstances or not. Could not the leaders of fashion, then in pity to the less opulent classes, devise and sanction a kind of sleeves, adapted to life in a cottage whether near a wood or elsewhere—to be called cottage sleeves and to be worn by the genteel cottager-classes without prejudice to their gentility?—Punch.

PATENT SMOKE-BURNING

OIL LAMP!

THIS newly invented Lamp, so differently constructed from any other, is believed to be the BEST LAMP ever offered to the Public, for the following reasons:—

It requires only the Poorest Oil, Lard, Tallow or Grease; and with the same material, produced FOUR OR FIVE TIMES AS MUCH LIGHT As ANY other known Lamp. It is simple in its construction (consequently not liable to get out of order.) By its use, the danger from Fluid and other EXPLOSIVE COMPOUNDS is avoided; at the same time without the least odor, an amount of Light is produced truly astonishing. The economy with which it may be used makes it desirable for every one, while the price of it puts it within reach of all.

Hundreds of testimonials from those using them, may be seen at the Store of the subscriber, who is the only agent for the sale of them in this city.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Jan. 5.

In the Senate, the Military Academy Bill was passed. A memorial was presented from the Boston Board of Trade, praying that one or more vessels be sent to the relief of Dr. Kane. The proceedings in the House were of little consequence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Daniel E. Sickles, the late American Secretary of Legation in London, has returned to the United States, but with the expectation, I hear, of a better office. The country must be the gainer by the change, because there is no office under the government for which the retiring diplomatist is so clearly unfitted as the station which he has just vacated. It is expected that the Hon. John Appleton of Maine will be appointed to the vacancy. Mr. A. was named for this position before the late appointment. He was compelled to decline from family considerations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—If the democratic caucus to be held tonight should refuse to sustain the bill in amendment of the tariff—proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury, a combination in favor of the bill tariff democrats.

It is understood that the President has indirectly tendered the mediation of the United States between the belligerent powers of Europe.

In the case of George and Nancy Jones, convicted of murder in the second degree, and then, upon a second trial, of murder in the first degree, the supreme court of Texas held that the conviction of murder in the second degree was an acquittal of the higher degree, and that the subsequent conviction of murder in the first degree was erroneous. They also laid down the rule, that in all criminal cases hereafter, when it shall appear that ardent spirits were used by the jury, regardless of quantity, the verdict will be set aside. The right of a court to hold ardent spirits in such horror, "regardless of quantity," is questionable. Suppose a juror should happen to eat mince pie with brandy in it, or take pudding sauce with wine or brandy in it, would the court hold that he is therefore incapable of bringing in a true verdict? A "first race" tonguey lawyer, or even a chattering judge in his charge, would do more to confuse the mind of a juryman, than a glass or two of liquor to which he has been accustomed.—Boston Post.

After all this very ingenious special pleading, we would much prefer a sober jury to a drunken one. Those who drank no intoxicating drink would surely be sober; those who drank a glass or two, more or less, might not be exactly in that state.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—At Newfoundland the weather has been remarkably mild. The Newfoundland Times says:

On the morning of the 1st inst. the thermometer in Halifax stood at 20 degrees below zero.

At about quarter past 6 o'clock last evening, this town was visited by a succession of remarkably vivid flashes of lightning, accompanied by heavy peals of thunder—a somewhat remarkable circumstance in Newfoundland at this season of the year; and indeed we do not remember to have witnessed such mild and open weather as we have at present. There is not a blade of snow to be seen—not a particle of ice, nor the slightest indication of winter!

The Boston Traveller says:

Counterfeit threes on the Merchants' Bank, Salem, Mass., have made their appearance in this city. They are well executed and are very likely to deceive. The name of the bank is in German text and appears small for the size of the bill. It has also a light appearance. The counterfeit may easily be detected, by an examination of the words Massachusetts at the top of the bill, the C being badly engraved.

A director of the Merchants' Bank informs us that in their bills, of every denomination, the name of the bank is printed in Roman letters—not one in German text. This affords an obvious and simple test of genuineness, to the most unpractised eye.

The same plate is used for counterfeits on the Merchants Bank of Lowell.—Salem Reg.

W. F. LAWRENCE: DEAR SIR,—

It gives me pleasure to state that your CHERRY PECTORAL has given utmost satisfaction wherever it has been used. Some of the most distinguished physicians of the state, are in the habit of purchasing it in bulk, and profess themselves highly gratified with its remedial effects. I can recommend it with confidence as a very superior medicine, and have no doubt that it will earn for itself an enviable reputation. E. H. ROLLINS.

CONCORD, Sept. 20, 1854.

Mr. Rollins is one of the most extensive dealers in drugs and medicines in New England. As the Cherry Pectoral was first introduced in Concord, we subjoin the certificate of John F. Brown, formerly bookseller and publisher, and now city clerk of Concord, N. H., our former agent:

This certifies that I have been an agent for the sale of the medicine now extensively known as Lawrence's Cherry Pectoral; that so far as I know it has given good satisfaction; that I have repeatedly sold it to physicians in quantity; that I am acquainted with the manufacturer of the Pectoral; that he is a physician of good repute, and that I believe him qualified to conduct the complex operations necessary for the manufacture of this medicine. JOHN F. BROWN.

CONCORD, N. H. April 6, 1854.

The above are but few of the many testimonials in favor of Lawrence's Cherry Pectoral. It is used under the sanction and approbated at Dartmouth College by Prof. Dixi Crosby, and the most eminent of the Medical Faculty of the N. E. states. It is

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing a low price for the best of Furniture in the market, for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FRAGILES, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Sagamore House,

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

A telegraphic despatch in the Universe announces that the pope promulgated on the 10th December the decree which declares that the immaculate conception is an article of faith of the church, and that whoever denies it is a heretic.

The New Orleans Bulletin says that the portion of Texas lying north of 31 degrees, produces very excellent wheat, and the greatest quantity of it, and that paper looks forward to the time when New Orleans will be shipping superior samples of southern flour to St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HERTS BROTHERS

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE

RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLOOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

TEETOTALISM AT HER MAJESTY'S TABLE.

A British peer, when dining, lately, with the Queen, was challenged by a Royal Duchess to take wine with her. His lodship politely thanked her Grace, but declined the compliment, stating that he never took wine. The Duchess immediately turned to the Queen, and jocularly said, "Please your Majesty, here is Lord ——, who declines wine at your Majesty's table." Every eye was turned to the Queen, and not a little curiosity was evinced as to the manner in which the total abstainer would be dealt with by royalty. With smiling and graceful expression, Her Majesty replied, "There is no compulsion at my table."—English paper.

This recalls an incident which occurred some years since on board one of the New York and Liverpool liners. The birthday of the Sovereign was celebrated with unusual hilarity at dinner. The cloth having been removed, the President, after prefatory remarks, in which he took occasion to say that the toast he was about to propose, he was certain that every person present would respond with a bumper, gave "The Queen!" Among those present was a Scotchman, a resident of this country. It was perceived that he had drank but a part of his wine; thereupon a fire-eating young Englishman rose and said, "I regret to percieve, Mr. President, that a person present has slighted your request and the sentiment you proposed. I beg leave, Sir, to repeat the toast, and if it meets with a repetition of the insult, shall deem it my duty to resent it." The glasses were re-filled, and all rose to drink to it "with the honors," but the Scotchman, who kept his seat and drank no wine. As soon as the toast had been properly washed down and cheered, the volunteer champion of her Majesty remarked audibly that he would call him out for it. To which the Scotchman replied, "You may call me out,—but if you insult me, I will immediately give you the sorest thrashing you ever had in all your life." This was said in such a cool, but determined tone and manner, that every one knew he would be as good as his word, and it was equally evident from his physique that he could do it with the greatest ease. The effect upon the whole company was electrical. He was heartily applauded, and, in reply to a good-natured remark from the President, said he trusted the day would never come when the measure of a person's loyalty would be the amount he drank,—for some years' observation in different quarters of the world had satisfied him that the less a man drank of intoxicating liquors, the better citizen, man or Christian he became. The young Englishman at once made the amende honorable, and learned at the same time a salutary lesson in temperance and good manners.—N. Y. Times.

Died in New Orleans, Wm. A. B. Pace, printer, 29. He was the fastest type setter in America—averaged two thousand em's in an hour, and could sustain this speed for ten hours.—Exchange paper.

And well he might die. If he could sustain his speed for ten hours a day, at two thousand an hour (unless he was on nonpareil or pearl leaded) he couldn't be expected to live many years. We never saw a man that could do this amount of work on common matter for any length of time—and never should want to "correct the proof" of the jour. who might try to do it.—Portland Argus.

An experience of forty years and more, satisfies us that rapid compositors are generally more correct than those who set slowly.

U. T.

Madame Bishop in California having failed to draw audiences by singing operatic music in Italian and Dutch, and performing the vocal gymnastics now imagined to be "true music," blackened her face and appeared as an Ethiopian minstrel with the greatest success.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.—Conrad Bush, of Pompey, Onondaga Co., New York, died at his residence on the 21st ult., at the advanced age of 102. Mr. B. served in the American army throughout the war of the Revolution, as we learn from the Syracuse Standard, and was personally acquainted with Washington, and many other leading spirits of the Revolutionary period. At the time of his death, he resided on lands which he received from government for services rendered his country.

"Keno," one of the most dangerous of all games of chance, and which has been outlawed in almost every part of the United States, has been lately introduced in the city of San Francisco with quite a flourish. Those engaged in the business have even gone so far as to have hand bills posted at the street corners, announcing where this species of vice is most honest and worthy of patronage!

TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1855.

For the Chronicle.

POLITICS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The state of political parties in New Hampshire has been so much changed by the advent of the Know Nothings, that the most experienced wire pullers and demagogues are at loss for an answer when questioned as to the probable result of the next March election. The old parties are distracted, and have become mere shadows of their former selves. To be sure, they have held Conventions and nominated candidates; but can they elect them? Not unless they have selected men worthy of the support of the American organization. Let us glance at the condition of the aged, infirm and tottering old parties.

The Whigs—poor fellows! where are they? Echo answers, in a sepulchral voice, they have melted away and are gone; never more to be resuscitated. We cannot shed a tear for them.

The Democrats (democratic in nothing but the name) what has become of them? Last year they elected their Governor by only about a thousand majority—which was a great falling off from their customary overwhelming vote—and this year, it is said by the well informed on the subject, they will do exceedingly well if they come within a thousand votes of electing the same gentleman to the gubernatorial chair. The Democratic party in New Hampshire was said to be as firm and everlasting as the granite hills; but alas! how sadly mistaken were they who entertained such an opinion. They became corrupt and overbearing from a long period of political power—as is commonly the case with any party,—and the object with them for a number of years has been, not the promulgation of any particular principles, but simply the elevation of men to office who would work entirely for party and nothing else, and implicitly obey the dictates of a few managers. After long having the supremacy, it was supposed by their leaders it could be retained, do what they would. In the Legislature many a good measure was laid on or under the table, or postponed, among the rest a liquor law. But a great change was brought about last spring, and a still greater one will be wrought next March, when, if we are not much mistaken, the largest portion of the administration party will be men in the government employ. "Every dog has his day;" —they have heard theirs,—another will now have it.

The freesoil or anti-slavery sentiment in New Hampshire, has been strengthening for a number of years, although the one idea party, itself, has not increased much, if any, during that time. The anti-slavery feeling is now so strong, that no man who is not opposed to the extension of slavery can again be sent to Congress to represent the people of the Granite State, whichever party he may belong to.

Be say those who ought to know.

PERICLES.

ANTI-NEBRASKAISM DYING OUT.—The Administration Convention in Dist. No. 1, have nominated Hon. Geo. W. Kittredge for re-election to Congress. He voted against the Nebraska bill.

Hon. George W. Morrison, also has been nominated for re-election in Dist. No. 2. He voted with Mr. Kittredge against the bill.

The same party, at a Convention in Dist. No. 3, held at Hanover, nominated Hon. Wm. P. Wheeler of Keene, as a candidate for Congress, from that district, in place of Hon. Harry Hibbard, who voted for the same bill. Put that and that together.

The Boston Post says:—"Mr. Wheeler is quite a young man, but has acquired a reputation as a sound and able lawyer, and a staunch and reliable democrat. It is said that his popularity is increased by the circumstances of his having learnt a trade, and afterwards acquired his education by his own persevering exertions."

MR. SOULE'S DISCRETION.—The Boston Post says:

Since the opposition have ascertained that they cannot destroy Mr. Soule by falsehood, they allow he may possess some "diplomatic discretion." One of them now writes from Washington as follows:

"It is thought that Mr. Soule will keep his hold on his position as a minister to Spain, and not return this winter, as was rumored. They say that, with all his eccentric demonstrations, he has a vast residuum of diplomatic discretion, which is yet to appear."

On reading the above, Uncle T. remarked that this was very faint praise, if it were any praise at all.

A ball for the relief of the poor is to be given in New York. Would it be better to appropriate all the money received for tickets to the relief of the poor, and postpone the dancing until starvation cease?—Boston Post.

Perhaps it would, and perhaps it would'nt. Some would buy tickets who might not give; and the money spent at the ball has only changed hands; provided the dancers are really able to spend it thus.

EVASIONS OF THE LAW.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I was informed today by a gentleman of undoubted veracity, who has lately been travelling some time in Maine, that a lady of fine appearance was known to supply her neighbors with whatever quantity of milk might be called for, from her bosom; that drawn from the left would turn to Rum, and that drawn from the right would turn to Brandy, before it would be put into the vessel brought to receive it.

Another gentleman, from Saco, whose word no one would doubt that knew him, says one man has sold several families milk during the summer and fall, which milk, although taken to market in tin cans, changes in the same way as that taken from the lady's bosom.

This is a day of strange tidings, and one hardly knows how to think or act when tables are lying about the rooms, rappings are heard, and people converse with departed spirits, who telegraph through the air, without wires. Strange days these!

Went the world get dizzy and tip over—do pray tell us, Messrs. Editors—while going on at this rapid rate?

—— JONATHAN.

We suppose the above interesting statements are intended to stand in the place of arguments against the existing Law in Maine, and also against a similar proposed law in New-Hampshire. They may be true; and if so, they only prove what every sober thinker knew before, that some sots are wedded to their bottles; and that they and some men and even ladies, as they are termed will smuggle and lie without scruple.

To the question, whether the world will not get dizzy and tip over,—we answer yes; no doubt, that part of it which guzzles bad liquor under the name of milk, or under whatever other disguise it chooses to assume. The imbibers of such stuff often cheat and kill themselves, while their neighbors and friends, whom they suppose to be deceived by their secrecy, look on all the while in sorrow and pity for the miserable victims of a perverted appetite.

NAUTICAL MAGAZINE, No. 1, vol. 1, for October, 1854, is a monthly publication, designed for the ship-builder, ship-carpenter, mariner and merchant. It is a practical working book, with nautical literature enough for any one who is fond of such subjects.

Our copy of this work comes from Joel Knight, 103, Milk st., Boston, agent for N. H., Mass., &c. $5 per annum.

MR. WISE UN-WISED.—Some one thus unwises Mr. Virginia Wise, who undertook to annihilate the K. N.'s:

"Has any purpose been evinced to impose additional taxes on immigrants? None. To restrict them in the freedom of speech, or of the press? None. To interfere with the enjoyment of their religious worship? None. To deprive them of the right of trial by jury—or of the right of habeas corpus! None. To sue and give evidence in our courts? None. To exclude them from the practice of the learned professions? None. To deprive their children of the privilege of education in our common schools? None. To proscribe them socially? None whatever. Of what then can Mr. Wise complain? Does he allude merely to the disposition to extend the time of their residence in the country before naturalization? If he does, then he might with as much propriety say that the present law, requiring five years residence, was depriving them of republican privileges. For whether it shall be five years, or twenty one years, is a mere question of policy—the principle is the same. Can it be possible, that all Mr. Wise's jeremiads over the foreigners, proceed from the growing purpose to amend the naturalization laws?"

A NEW MARRIAGE LAW.—The new law concerning marriage in the State of Connecticut went into effect on the first day of January, and in future the notices of matrimonial intentions are not to be published from the pulpit as heretofore. The only preliminary ceremony required will be this: The persons to be wedded must make application to the town clerk, receive from him a certificate, and pay him twenty-five cents therefor. The conditions of the law being then fulfilled, they can go and have the knot tied by any ordained minister, judge, or justice of the peace, in the town.

A NEW MAINE LAW.—We understand that a spick and span new Maine Law, drafted by the Hon. Mr. Sewall, has been printed in Cornhill. The old statute is to be broken up as unseaworthy. The new law, which is to take its place, is warranted to be Judge Shaw-proof and Judge Curtis-proof. Pecuniary penalties are to be done away with—imprisonment is to take their place in all cases. —Boston Chronicle.

NEWSPAPER COMPETITION.—Postmaster Fowler of New York, on New Year's day opened the proposals which he had received for advertising the lists of uncalled for letters for the ensuing year. There were but two competitors for the contract, the Herald and Sun. From the testimony it appeared that the daily issue of the Herald during the month of December has ranged from 34,651 to 39,133, while that of the Sun has varied from 45,302 to 47,510. So the Post Office advertising will in all probability be given to the Sun.

EGYPT.—M. Lesseppe, ex-French Consul in Egypt, has obtained a firman, granting authority to a joint stock company to build a canal across the Isthmus of Suez, the company to collect tolls for 99 years. The canal is to be completed in twelve years, and the Viceroy, without expending any money, is to have fifteen per cent. of the profits.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.—William Walch and George Stokles were tried before Justice Parker on Monday forenoon, for an assault on Levi Brackett, with a club, on Saturday evening, Dec. 30. They were required to give bonds in the sum of $400 each for their appearance at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas.

CONCERT.—There is to be a second Concert at the Old South Meeting House, this evening—the net proceeds to aid the Second Free Will Baptist Society, which holds its meetings at that place. We have heard some who attended the first concert, speak well of the entertainment—and we hope those who labor in the good cause, may be well encouraged.

☞ We have been obliged to change carriers on our West list, once or twice recently—which may account for any irregularity in the delivery of the Chronicle in that part of the city. Any omission or mistake will be rectified as soon as possible, on being made known at the office.

☞ In addition to the New Year's presents which we have already mentioned, we learn that Mr. John P. Payson received from his scholars a splendid illustrated edition of Cassell's Natural History.

☞ We understand that Daniel Marcy, Esq. of this city, was nominated as the democratic candidate for Senator in Dist. No. 1, by a Convention held at Greenland on Monday.

☞ The Second "Old Folks' Concert" is to be given at the Temple, on the evening of Wednesday, January 24th. The Committee on Programme have at our request, furnished us with a copy of their selection:—

PROGRAMME.

FIRST PART.

1 Denmark;	9 Calvary;

There will be a rehearsal this evening at 7 o'clock.

☞ Friend Stevens of Meredith Bridge, at the commencement of a new volume, has changed the name of his paper from the "Belknap Gazette" to the "Winnipisaukee Gazette." He has a perfect right to do as he chooses in the matter, but we dislike the change.

A MISTAKE.—The Boston correspondent of the N. Y. Post writes that up to this time in the organization of the Massachusetts State legislature, not a man of Mr. Gardner, governor elect's selection has been appointed.—The same writer says:

"Some of the members, in seeing Mr. Stevens, the sergeant-at-arms, going about, putting things in order, and noticing how polite and accommodating he was, mistook him for Governor Washburn, and began to repent of the part which they had taken in removing so good-natured a man from the public service, but were consoled on their mistake being corrected."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—Mr. Thomas, of Shelby County, Ky., sold one of his black men yesterday; but when they undertook to handcuff the poor fellow, to carry him off down the river, away from his wife and child, he broke loose, and ran to a wood-pile, seized an axe, laid his hand on a block, and cut it smooth off at the wrist. Still, Dr. Adams can see "a South side view of slavery." I have been born and raised in Kentucky, and I never have seen any South side to slavery, according to the sense he conveys.—Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

ASSAULT AND ABDUCTION.—A most daring and successful outrage was committed about a mile and a half from our village on Sunday evening last. It appears that at about nine o'clock on that evening, one Leonard Sperry proceeded to the house of Mr. Dart, toll-gatherer for the Plankroad Co., Utica, forcibly entered his dwelling, after all were in bed, severely pounded and assaulted Mr. Dart, abducted his wife, also taking some $50 of the funds of the Plankroad Company.—Sheriff Cook and two constables have been "on track," but could not obtain information of his whereabouts.—Boonville (N. Y.) Ledger.

ALBANY, Jan. 4.—In reference to the recent outrage, in destroying religious books, by Roman Catholic teachers, the Alms House Committee of the Common Council passed a provision forbidding the farther visits of teachers of that sect, until ample apology is made.

PATTERSON, N. J., Jan. 4.—Early this morning, the body of Mr. John Blundell, a highly esteemed resident of this city, was found in the raceway leading to the wire factory. He arose from his bed during the night and is supposed to have committed suicide.

A VIGILANT MAYOR.—The Rochester Union says that the Mayor of that city has given orders for the arrest of all skates which may be found traversing the icy sidewalks of the city. That is, he has directed his officers to seize all boys whom they may find skating about the streets, lay them down, pull off their skates and bring the latter articles to the police office. A bushel or two of skates had been brought in at last accounts.

A DRUNKEN CAPTAIN.—Captain Peal, late commander of the Golden Era, from Melbourne to Liverpool, was placed before Mr. Mansfield on Wednesday, on the charge of having imperilled the lives of those on board by long continued intoxication and neglect of duty. The evidence went to show a general course of drunken conduct on the part of the captain. He has been committed for trial at the assizes.—London paper.

Ancient Harmony Revived.

The next meeting of the "Old Folks," for Rehearsal, will be held AT EXCHANGE HALL, on TUESDAY Evening, the 9th inst., at 7 o'clock. All who participated in the last Concert, and others acquainted with the old Music, are invited to attend.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The steam boiler at Stephens's factory, on 21st street, near 6th avenue, exploded with tremendous force this morning, shattering the rear part of the building to attoms, and seriously injuring the engineer. The other part of the building took fire and was destroyed.

The Presbyterian church of Dr. Burchard, on 13th street, near 5th avenue, an elegant and costly building, was entirely destroyed by fire, this morning. Loss about $25,000.

The law for closing the liquor shops on Sunday, was strictly enforced yesterday, by our new Mayor, and but few drunken men were seen.

The mass meeting in the Park, to consider the prevailing distress, was a failure.

FROM DOMINICA.—By late advices from the city of San Domingo, we learn that on the 6th ult., the Congress of the Dominican Republic voted upon the ratification of the Cazneau treaty with the United States, rejecting it by a large majority. Particulars we have not yet heard, though from another source—and one entitled to implicit confidence—we are informed that, pending the discussion of the treaty by Congress, a British and two French men-of-war were constantly in the harbor, exercising a very officious influence against the projects of our Government.

Rumor of an affair, also occurring at the same place, has come to our knowledge, about which only the most indefinite information can be obtained, yet which, without doubt, has foundation in fact. It is to the effect that an American, Capt. Hutchins, of the brig Lousia, chartered at St. Thomas some weeks ago, for some provocation or other, shot into a boat in which was her British Majesty's Consul for the city of San Domingo, for which he had been arrested and thrown into prison to await trial—the said rumor says by a court martial. There is no doubt that something of the kind has taken place.—New York Tribune, Jan. 3.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—If the free traders find any difficulty in getting their measures through the Committee of Ways and Means, their policy will be simply to pass a bill reducing the duties twenty-five per cent. under the schedules of the act of 1846.

Gen. Houston arrived in Washington this evening. He has not resigned his seat in the Senate, but intends to do so next fall.

NEW YORK, 6th.—Messrs. Clark & Coleman, flour and provision dealers, failed yesterday, and it was the pressure of their stock upon the market which caused the decline in flour and pork.

PHILADELPHIA, 6th. — The case of the Commercial Bank, charged with violating its charter by usurous practices, has come before the Supreme Court. The Judge has raised the question of the jurisdiction of the Court in the cause.

WHEELING, Jan. 3.—There are nine feet of water in the channel. A number of steamers have arrived, loaded down with produce for the Atlantic cities. The railroad is loading 800 tons daily.

SHIP BURNT.—The Bath Mirror states that a new ship of about 1200 tons, belonging to Mr. Achorn, of Waldoboro', was destroyed by fire at Muscongus, on the night of the 2d inst. She was not quite rigged.

Messrs. Carter & Co., ship brokers of London, have suspended payment, in consequence of the trustees of Edward Oliver withholding Oliver's vouchers against the Admiralty for freight, advanced by Messrs. Carter & Co.'s acceptances. Their liabilities are about £80,000 sterling, and their assets probably more.

Mr. Marsh, our late Minister to Turkey, has recently publicly stated, that he finds the Mohammedan faith possessed of many more points of resemblance to the Christian than it has credit for, and thinks that the Bible must supersede the Koran with the aid of the Koran, rather than in spite of it.

EFFECT OF THE WAR ON BUSINESS.—Accounts from England mention that the booksellers are complaining of the dulness of the season. Yet the war has greatly increased the sale of the newspapers, particularly the illustrated journals. It is announced that the sale of the Illustrated London News has reached to one hundred and fifty thousand copies per week, and the price of advertisements in it has been advanced to fifty cents a line.

Splendid Furniture.
THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the
Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,
Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.
Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.
These FIXTURES, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.
If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.
These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Sagamore House,
FRYE'S POINT, RYE, N. H.
THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.
The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.
This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.
The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

The remains of Madame Sontag have been finally embarked at Vera Cruz for Hamburg. The transfer could not have been made, the agent of Count Rossi informs the Picayune, otherwise than it was, without incurring an enormous expense, which would have seriously injured the children of the deceased.

Madame Clesinger, the wife of the celebrated sculptor, and the daughter of Madame George Sand, who was brought up by her mother as a deist, and taught to deny all revelation, publicly abjured the principles in which she was educated, and was received into the bosom of Catholicism by the communicating "es premiere communion" in the church of the Sacre Cœur, on the 9th.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or, the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear, or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clap boards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,
JAMES A. WOODBURY.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

H. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, H. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

HERTS BROTHERS
AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinnest paper, and are warranted not to corrode.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE OR Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

Morning Chronicle.

THE EVANGELICAL RELIGIONISTS of the Old Bay State have been startled, this week, by the attempt of a portion of the legislature to elect Theodore Parker chaplain of the House. As much by the influence of the orthodox clergymen as by any means, a new political party is in power. When the 3,000 clergymen had their remonstrance spurned in the United States Senate, sermon after sermon was preached and printed upon "the Nebraska iniquity" and the corruption of politicians, and the minds of the people were prepared for a change of parties. Just then came up the Know Nothings, and parsons and people were there; and freely and publicly have priestcraft and popery been denounced on all hands. Did it never occur to such preachers, that they were leading the way over prostrate Romanism to the consideration of the theories and acts of other religious bodies?—that many of the men with whom they associated to attack Catholicism would just as soon, if opportunity presented, attack them?—that with many it was not more a love of truth than a love of freedom from all church restraint that actuated them. Newburyport Herald.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.—People who have been accustomed to putting on airs with means supplied by their creditors, says the Mail, have got a hard road to travel about these times. From a variety of causes, nothing is more common than to find American women who have not the slightest idea of household duties. A writer thus alludes to this subject:—"In this neglect of household cares American females stand alone. A German lady, no matter how high her rank, never forgets that domestic labors conduce to the health of body and mind alike. An English lady, whether she be only a gentleman's wife, or a duke's, does not despise the household, and, even though she has a housekeeper, devotes a portion of her time to this, her happiest share. It is reserved for our republican fine ladies to be more choice than even their monarchical and aristocratic sisters. The result is a lassitude of mind often as fatal to the health as neglect of bodily exercise. The wife who leaves her household cares to the servants, pays the penalty which has been affixed to idleness since the foundation of the world, and either wilts away from ennui or is driven to all sorts of fashionable follies to find employment for the mind."

'So they meet on Tuesday to qualify the Governor, do they?' said Mrs. Partington to the member from Bozzelton, who had just taken a blow at the spirometer to test his ability to sustain the weight of his duties as a legislator. 'He assured her that this was a fact,' and looked at her with becoming legislative dignity. 'Well,' said she, offering him a pinch of snuff, 'wouldn't it be well to try to qualify all of the members at the same time? for goodness knows the most of 'em need qualifying enough.' The member pleaded an engagement on a committee, and disappeared behind a pillar of the state house, while the old lady went to sock Ike, who was viewing the statue of Washington, wondering how many marbles it would make if it was cut up.—Boston Post.

AN OMISSION CORRECTED.—Punch is performing a duty which Lord Raglan neglected in his official despatches. He is letting the world know the names of those lion-hearted privates and non-commissioned officers of the allied army, whose courage and presence of mind contributed as much to the victory of Inkermann as the deeds of any titled officer. The omission in Lord's Raglan's despatch has been severely criticised in England. The names of privates Coulter and Wheatley, who seized and threw an unexploded shell where it would do no harm when it burst; of Assistant Surgeon Thompson, and Sergeant Sullivan, and Patrick Magrath, are honorably mentioned by Punch.

DEATHS BY VIOLENCE IN BOSTON.—During the year 1854, the coroners of Boston held one hundred and sixty-five inquests, and found the causes of death to be as follows:

Drowned, 43; railroad accidents, 14; intemperance in drinking, 22; intemperance in eating, 1; sudden, 22; homicide, 5; infants found dead, 13; suicide, 6; (1 by hanging, 4 by poison, 1 by cutting throat,) abortion, 1; cholera, 1; accident, 12; burns, 2; suffocating by gas, 1. There was also an inquest held on a child, eight years old, killed by drinking gin given to it by a man; on an infant child left on a door step alive, but died soon afterwards, and on a new-born child, supposed to be killed by its father and mother, at No. 2 Alba court; also on a woman supposed to have been poisoned at a house of ill-fame, but in what manner could not be ascertained.—Courier.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1855.

THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION of the Virgin Mary has been settled at last, by a vote of 540, in the Pope's Council, to 32 opposition. To doubt it now is to be damned; before it was a question—now it is a fact. The democratic party allowed dissents to the fugitive slave law and the compromise measure up to the Baltimore Convention, but when they became a part of the platform all had to acquiesce. So this immaculate conception is now a plank to the Roman platform—it has been voted a truth, and is therefore a truth; for how can the church—or God who speaks through the church—tell a lie? says the Catholic. This is a very quiet way of settling a disputed point, and makes the voice of the voters the voice of God; but we do not see as they gain much, because it only carries us back one generation further, to inquire how the mother of Mary, and whether her conception was immaculate or not.—Newburyport Herald.

Yes, indeed; we have to go backward through Abraham and Noah up to Adam and Eve; a perilous experiment, to search for immaculate parity through so many generations. Perhaps, however, we shall not have to go beyond Paris, where the dogma stands some chance to be vetoed. The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald writes thus:

PARIS, Dec. 21, 1854.—Will the churches of Paris witness such scenes of jubilation as welcomed at Rome the announcement of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception? You will not be surprised at this question, if you recollect that, by the terms of the concordat between the Pope and France, this eldest daughter of the church, (and more or less wilful in her way,) the dogma cannot be legally declared in this country before it has received the visa of the State Council. It has been said that the Archbishop of Paris and another French prelate, cast the only two votes that were thrown in the solemn conclave at Rome, not indeed against the dogma in question, but against the propriety and even the right of the Pope to determine its promulgation in the actual juncture of circumstances. It is now added that the Viscount De Conneniz, Councillor of State, the witty author of the "Book of Orators," and who, as a friend of Littre, the learned translator of Strauss's "Life of Christ," has devoted considerable attention to theological topics, is elaborating a protest, which he will offer against affixing the Imperial seal to the pontifical document that exalts the Immaculate Conception into a dogma.—Meanwhile, the Siecle ventures to ridicule false miracles, in spite of the epilectic rage of the editors of the Univers.

A FUGITIVE SLAVE.—Mr. N. A. Matheas, whose regard for that portion of the race "guilty of a skin not colored like our own," is well known, on Thursday evening introduced to several of our citizens a fugitive slave from Alexandria, Virginia, and solicited small contributions in his behalf, to help him on his way to a land of freedom. He appeared to be about 20 years of age, and gave as a reason for running away, that his master intended to sell him to a Florida planter. A son of his master, of about his own age, furnished him with money to pay his fare to New York, and he walked from Portland to this city. In reply to an inquiry, he estimated his value in Virginia at $900. He left yesterday morning, by the underground railroad, for the Province of New Brunswick.—Bangor Journal.

If the runaway's story be true, the poor fellow did not show much discretion in betraying his master's son; and the editor of the Bangor Journal showed none at all, in publishing this part of the story. If false, it can do neither good nor harm; if true, it may injure a benevolent and humane young man.

THE THING TO DO IT WITH.—A Democrat in one of the small towns in Hillsborough county, says: "We have resolved that this Niggerism and Know Nothingism must be put down, and I conclude that the Patriot is the thing to do it with." This is correct; those wretched political hobbies must be exposed and exploded, and a wide circulation of Democratic papers will do the business effectually.—Daily Patriot.

The Patriot is both able and zealous in the pursuit of its object; but whether both these dreadful heresies can be effectually put down before the Ides of March, remains to be seen.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.—The Councillor Convention, at Concord, on Tuesday, nominated Edson Hill, of Concord, for re-election in the first district.

At the County Convention held at Epping, on Tuesday, the following nominations were made:—Register, Thomas Smith, of Exeter; Treasurer, Benjamin F. Haley, of New Market; Road Commissioners, Josiah G. Hadley of Portsmouth, Samuel S. Dame of Nottingham, and Moses Bailey of Salem.

The County Convention passed strong resolutions against secret political organizations.

MASSACHUSETTS.—In Legislative Convention, on Tuesday, there were 375 votes; and of 9 Councillors chosen, the highest had 374, and the lowest 341. They then chose Ephraim Wright, Secretary of State, giving him 359 votes out of 362. This is the most unanimous voting we ever heard of, in a legislative body so numerous.

Messrs. Capron & Lathrop, enterprising manufacturers of Griswold, Ct., who thought they were doing a safe business, have been obliged to suspend in consequence of endorsing Hill & Carpenter's (Providence wool dealers) paper to the amount of $40,000. They lose $30,000, and gain plenty of experience.

LOCAL.

PORTSMOUTH: its Advantages and its Needs. This is the title of Rev. Mr. Lamson's Thanksgiving sermon, which is just published by Mr. Wm. B. Lowd.

It is a pleasant piece of reading, as a sermon; well calculated to produce a contented and thankful state of mind. And it is also abundantly suggestive of improvements really within our reach, and absolutely within the line of our duty as a city. We cannot but hope, therefore, that our citizens generally will read the discourse for themselves.

The text is "The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea I have a goodly heritage." Psalms 16: 6.

The first pleasant thing noticed, is, our living in this land, whose government is the best and freest on the globe. This, though common to all our cities, could not pass unnoticed; and it was noticed with proper limitations.

The advantages pertaining to this city especially, are: its geographical position; climate and scenery; its medium size; pure water; and healthfulness.

The preacher says we need:—A more generous public spirit, to be exhibited in fostering business here, and in the establishment of public institutions, especially a noble free library: An outlay in Public Buildings, especially High School Houses: An elevated standard of morals: and above all things a more vital and spiritual christianity.

THE UNSPEAKABLE GIFT.—This is the title of a sermon just published in this city, by Mr. Wm. B. Lowd. It was delivered in the Stone Church on the Anniversary of the City Missionary Society, by Rev. Henry D. Moore, pastor of the North Church. The sermon is from the text, II. Cor., ix: 15. "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift."

This gift, the preacher tells us, is Christ; and after an able exposition of the text in this light, he proposes the Love of God to Man, which prompted Him to give us Christ, as an example, which we may follow, in loving our fellow-man, and bestowing on them such gifts as they need.

He then passes on, practically, to consider the City Mission, and says:

"I am aware that objections may arise and do arise, in the minds of well disposed and benevolent individuals to such expressions, in such quarters, of benevolence. They say—why should the idle and the vicious and the intemperate be a drain upon our private charities? Sure enough; but why should they be a drain upon the treasury created by your municipal tax, by supporting them in your alms house or jail? And still more impressive—why should they be a drain upon the virtue, the integrity, the industry and the happiness of our business men, our social circles, our families, our sons and our daughters? Let them go at large, and they break down the safeguards of the virtue of our young men and our young women by their dissolute habits and their pernicious example, and infect the morals of the community with their poison. You cannot throw them into the river nor drive them out of the city; and the choice is between reclaiming them, that they may be no burden to you, and be useful and happy in themselves; and making them and their posterity and those who are ruined by their example, a perpetual drain upon your city treasury, with no possible return for your expenditure. As a question of municipal policy and social economy, to say nothing of the more impressive moral obligations involved in the case—as a question of policy and social economy, the liberal support of the mission in its advances toward the outcasts of society, commends itself to the enlightened judgment of the whole community. And I think I hazard nothing in stating that if the city corporation would appropriate, say one thousand dollars a year for the support of the efficient minister at large who now represents the mission in the city, which sum could be raised by a tax, say of ten cents for each inhabitant, and he, in consideration thereof, to employ his time and his talents and his energies towards the vicious of the community—leaving the parishes and the community to provide for the worthy poor—that the people would pay less, much less, for poverty, intemperance and crime; beside elevating the moral, social and business interests and conditions of the city."

WHITEHOUSE'S NEW ENGLAND BARDS.—We have several times spoken of this company of singers in commendatory terms. We did so from the encomiums we met with in our exchanges and from our personal acquaintance with Mr. Whitehouse, who is a very fine ballad singer. We have heard some celebrated artistes in our day, but for one to give us pleasure, we would choose Whitehouse. We cannot easily forget the melting tenderness of his Dying Boy,—the pathos of his Mother Dear,—or the beauties of his Annie Lawrie and Normandy Maid.

The rest of the company are capital musicians, and excellent singers in their line. Mr. Durant has a magnificent bass voice, which he uses with taste and judgment. Miss Curran is a fine singer with a delightful voice. Her rendering of the Swiss Echo Song threw our neighbors at Dover into a perfect enthusiasm.

We hope to see the Temple crowded on Wednesday night—and a welcome extended to them worthy of their merits. G.

A RICH ENTERTAINMENT.—It will be seen by the advertisement, that our citizens are this evening to enjoy another opportunity of hearing Mr. F. T. Russell read from Shakespeare. Those who have listened to his fine rendering of the poet, will be sure to avail themselves of it.

CORRECTION.—Mr. George Stokles requests us to say that it was not he who was brought up in the Police Court for pommeling a fellow citizen;—and we find on inquiry, that some one else named Stokles was guilty of the offence.

REWARD OF INGENUITY AND APPLICATION.—Our townsman Dr. Samuel Baker, sent a specimen of his work to the London World's Fair;—and in due time received the following letter, and also a large and beautiful volume of Reports, with a certificate and medal for himself.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21st, 1854.

Dear Sir:—There is now in the possession of the Executive Committee of the London Industrial Exhibition, a volume of Reports, Certificate and Medal, transmitted from London for you, and which can be had by immediate "application" to Joseph C. G. Kennedy, of this city. Very respectfully, &c.,

JOS. M. KENNEDY.

S. BAKER, Esq., Portsmouth, N. H.

The Hartford Union tells of a new style of eating oysters, practiced at the Irving House, New London. A man of rather suspicious appearance called for oysters, when the barkeeper opened a very large one, and set both shells on the counter; whereupon the customer swallowed the oyster in one half the shell, and on pretence of taking the 'broth,' drank a liquid of rather singular appearance from the other half!

This is only a new edition of the Striped Pig.

THE LODGE ROOM IN THE STATE HOUSE.—It is customary when a Clerk of the Senate is about to be qualified, for the President to announce that he is present and ready to take and subscribe to the oaths and declarations required by the Constitution and Laws of the Commonwealth; but, when the present Clerk appeared for that purpose, Mr. Benchley announced that "Peter L. Cox, Esq., Clerk elect of the Senate, is now present, and prepared to take the obligation."—Boston papers.

We think Mr. Benchley's formula an improvement on the old, especially if the Clerk is a quaker, or wishes to affirm.

CHEWING IN CHURCH.—The following lines are posted up in a church in Worcester, Mass. They would not be out of place in other latitudes:

Ye chewers of the 'noxious weed
Which grows on earth's most cursed sod,
Be pleased to clean your filthy mouths
Outside the sacred 'House of God.'

Throw out your "plug" and "Cavendish,"
Your 'tail,' your 'twist,' your 'honey-dew,'
And not presume to spit upon

EPIGRAM BY A MAN WITH A MUSTACHE.

"Men wear their beards in mourning for their brains!"
Says Chaplin, God's own fashion to oppose.
To scrape his face, he daily takes the pains,
To show the world that he has none to lose.

Messrs. Editors:—I noticed an article in the Chronicle of Jan. 5, over the signature of W. G. The article appears to be a heterogeneous mass of declarations and assumptions not found in my previous article, but in deception and falsehood. The writer ha shown off a little cunning, but not much sagacity in replying to his article. I find it so complicated that it is hard to that there chalenge for proof. Proof of what; why, just what they say their church member has accused them of. The Old South committee has said that the Hanover st people have obtained money on the credit of the Old South. We never have said that the collectors have approached people directly in the name of the Old South, but they have gone out in the name of F W Baptist, and the good people of the city have given liberally, with the strongest impressions that their donations were for the South; and with this qualification, we say that they know that we have proof positive in our own hands, and they crawl out of the very small hole that they are not responsible for people's impressions. Again, W G says they have proved the contrary by the collector's book and other sources, but but we have proof positive that people have given to the Hanover st chapel, when they never saw the inside of the collectors book, but the collector made the memorandum with his own hand, and the donors thought they were giving it for the South. But we don't say that the collector should be held responsible for people's impressions or thoughts, but we say that these donations were intended to be given to the South church. One gentleman signed ten dollars to aid the F W B. When he understood that it was for the chapel, he did not pay but three dollars. The same gentleman gave the South ten dollars. W G says the committee are guilty of gross dishonesty, because they did know at whom their dull pointed arrow was aimed. We ask, who said they did'nt know. We say we do know, and a guilty conscience needs no accuser. W G closes his wonderful article by saying they were not aided by any association whatever. Who said they were? They have been, three years, and the last year they received two hundred dollars, but the board is satisfied that their appropriation should be made to better advantage. Now let me say that this spirit of persecution is only carrying out the pledge that was made more than a year ago, that they would oppose the south meeting, inch by inch. The first place that spirit made its appearance was in the City Missionary meeting, more than a year and a half since, when they attempted to pass a resolution that the south meeting was a nuisance; but it did not fetch. Five months from that time the same spirit developed itself at the Rockingham quarterly meeting; and next on the third of Sept. the same W G made his appearance in the Old South church, and opposed the organization of that little church; and now he makes his appearance in the Chronicle. So, inch by inch, we have met this spirit of oppression, but if God be for us, it is more than all that can be against us. Now we think we have owned up honestly; if we havn't, we will next time.

L. PARKER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The U. S. sloop-of-war Falmouth put into St. Thomas on the 26th ult., leaking badly, having encountered severe gales on the coast, and being badly strained.

Some of our large hotels, including the Metropolitan, St. Nicholas, and others, have been fined under the new regime from $50 to $100 each for not having their signs over their doors.

A commission of lunatico inquirendo, it is said, has been sent out by the family of Miss Coutts, the lady who so determinedly follows up Signor Mario.

The coal statistics show that the receipts in this city from Pennsylvania, exceed those of 1853 by 651,000 tons.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The run upon the Savings Banks continues. For two days past crowds of the poorer classes have thronged the doors of the institution in Chambers street, and the Knickerbocker on the Eighth avenue. The call for deposits is probably prompted more by the necessities of the depositors than by their fears of loss.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 5.—The Roger Williams Church on Burgess street, was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning. The church was valued at $18,000, and has recently been improved. It was insured for $5000 on the building, and $1,000 on the organ.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 8.—The old mill be longing to the Peacedale Manufacturing Company in Peacedale, was destroyed by fire this morning. It was valued at $13,000, and insured for $6500 in this city, at the Atlantic and Washington offices. This is the first mill in which power looms were used in this country.

BANGOR, Jan. 8.—At a meeting of the citizens of Bangor, held to-night, the following resolution was passed: Resolved, that the Mayor be requested, in behalf of the citizens of Bangor, to petition the Legislature for an additional loan of its credit in the sum of $300,000.

NORTH CAROLINA.—On Monday last, Thomas Bragg was inaugurated as governor of North Carolina and delivered an inaugural, in which he advocates an amendment of the state constitution, so as to extend the right of suffrage by abrogating the freehold qualification for senatorial voters, and zealously urges the prosecution of a liberal system of internal improvements, especially the completion of the great Central Railroad, and its further extension east and west, inasmuch as the public debt of the state is "comparatively small and entirely within her means, her credit unimpaired, her currency in a sound though necessarily contracted condition, and the great mass of her people comparatively free from debt and unembarrassed in their circumstances."

DISCHARGED.—Anthony O. Gruber, the young man who while driving rapidly through the streets of Lynn in a sleigh, a few weeks ago, brought his horse and vehicle in contact with an elderly lady with such violence as to occasion injuries of which she subsequently died, was examined on Friday before Justice Newhall, on a charge of homicide. The magistrate not being satisfied that there was a sufficient degree of negligence on the part of the prisoner to constitute criminality, discharged the case.

DIFFICULTY ADJUSTED.—The difficulty between George D. Prentice, editor of the Louisville Journal, and Mr. Butt Hewson, an Arkansas gentleman, which, but for the manly and dignified stand taken by Mr. Prentice in relation to the practice of duelling, would have terminated in a mortal combat, has, we are glad to learn, been satisfactorily settled—Mr. Hewson having consented to have the matter referred to mutual friends for final adjustment.

As Mr. G. V. Brooke, in recently performing the character of Richard the Third, at the Liverpool Amphitheatre, fell upon the stage at the close of the fifth act, struck down by the sword of Richmond, the moment of breathless silence which followed was suddenly broken by a voice from the gallery, shouting in tones of encouraging suggestion to the conqueror, "Now's your time, old chap; off with his boots!"

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the Elegant Dining Tables of different sizes; Marble Top Center Tables; and a large assortment of French Sofas and Chairs, covered with plush or silk damask—or the Black Walnut and Mahogany Sofas, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Our rooms may be well vested in the Cane Seated Chairs, with or without rockers.

These Fragrant, as the French call them, or Wheat Nots as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those Umbrella Stands, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of Elegant Chamber Sets, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the Looking Glass, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Sagamore House,

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

CARROTS FOR MILK AND BUTTER.—It is only a few years since we had various recommendations for coloring butter to a deep golden yellow by grinding up and mixing in the pulp of the orange carrot, but the best way that we found for giving the carrot color was to pass these roots first through the cow. We have, with nothing more than an average decent cow, made seven pounds of butter a week, much resembling the best grass butter, besides using a small portion of the milk daily on the table. This was accomplished by the use of about a peck and a half of the white variety per day. We hope such of our readers as can, will experiment in the use of this root the present winter, and let us know the result.—Albany Cultivator.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, and shows that the favorable opinion expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter, much more interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to change this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HERTS BROTHERS
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1858," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands preeminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb: FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE or Flooding; FAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

THE SHIPWRECK.

Dark and heavy rolled the waters,
On a wild and stormy night,
Winds were howling o'er the billows,
Not a star sent forth its light.
While upon the angry surges,
In St. Michael's treacherous bay,
Tossed a frail bark midst the quicksands,
Her boats and spars all swept away.
Trembling men and maids were gathered,
Hushed with fear, upon the deck,
Every effort chilled with terror,
Clinging to the fated wreck.
Anguish settled on their features,
Tongue can ne'er their woes portray,
High above them reared the tempest,
On they dashed through ocean spray.
"Launch the life boat," cried a hero,
"In despair they call on thee,
Can you calmly look upon them,
Sinking in the stormy sea?"
In a moment bold hearts manned her,
Now they leap from wave to wave,
Plunging through the hissing waters,
On they speed those souls to save.
"Relief is near you," shouts the helmsman,
To the life lines every hand.
Safely in our boat we'll bear you,
'Midst the breakers to the land."
Oh! what feelings thrill their bosoms,
Unbounded joy ne'er felt before,
Thanks and tears can ne'er express them,
Hurrah! hurrah! they're safe on shore.

A FORTHCOMING WONDER.—According to a correspondent of Herapath's (English) Journal, steam power is to be superseded by "Poulson's Patent Pendulum T Lever," which will be brought before the public in about a month. Two men, in a sitting position, will be able with ease to propel a railway engine of twenty five horse power, with its full complement of carriages, at any speed attainable by steam power. The tenders and boilers of the present engines will be no longer required, and the new engines will be constructed of about one fourth the weight and say at one sixth or one eighth the cost. The wheels and frames of the present engines will be available for the new ones.

REAL PROGRESS.—There is at this time, in this city, a delegation of the Wyandot tribe of Indians, in Kansas, consisting of six persons, viz.: Tarroome, (principal chief of the tribe,) Matthew Mud-Eater, John Hicks, Silas Armstrong, George J. Clark, Joel Walker. They come to make an arrangement with the Government by which their lands in Kansas, now held by them in common, shall be divided out among them in fee as the whites own lands. Many of them are now sufficiently advanced to cultivate them to advantage when so subdivided out. This morning they had their first interview with the head of the Indian Bureau. Washington Star, Jan. 2.

Twelve of the principal brewers of Lille have just been tried by the Tribunal of Correctional Police of that town for having, in September last, formed a coalition for the purpose of increasing the price of beer from 50 to 60c the double quart. The tribunal sentenced five of the accused to fines of 2000f each; two to fines of 1000f each; one to a fine of 500f; the others to fines of 250f each; and all to pay the costs in proportion to the amount of their fines.

Who affects useless singularities, has surely a little mind.

UNION OF RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.—Arrangements have been consummated by which the societies of Rev. James Freeman Clarke, worshipping at Williams' Hall, Boston, and Thomas B. Fox, worshipping in the Indiana place church, have been united under the pastoral care of the former, who will henceforth hold his services at the church of the latter. The societies are Unitarian, and the arrangement it is hoped will prove a very advantageous one for all interested.

A young lady out west says: "When I go to the theatre, I am very careless of my dress, as the audience are too attentive to the play to observe my wardrobe; but when I go to church, I am very particular in my outward appearance, as most people go there to see how their neighbors dress and deport themselves."

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1855.

MASSACHUSETTS.

GOVERNOR GARDNER, of Massachusetts, delivered his message on Tuesday morning. Most of the papers take a very respectful notice of it.

He refers to the fact that during the last year, $38,000,000 in gold have been "squandered to purchase foreign luxuries and the products of alien labor," as discreditable to the patriotism, as it has been destructive to the business of the country, and very pertinently recommends a united determination to encourage the skill and industry of the American laborers.

The Governor recommends, in very plain language, the adoption of certain measures which shall carry out his opinions with regard to foreigners. They are under nine different heads, and they comprise some very important alterations with regard to the right of suffrage as extended to aliens in Massachusetts. The foreigner should be here twenty-one years before he should be allowed to vote, and he must also be able to read and write the English language. Alien companies should be disbanded, and aliens exempted from military duty. Perhaps the latter recommendation may be carried too far. What he says with regard to the sending back of foreign paupers and criminals is the voice of nearly the whole community, particularly with regard to those who have been sent here in that character to shift for themselves, and the wonder is that the matter has not been practically agitated before.

The new state alms-houses are admitted to be failures. We never believed that they were intended for any other profitable purpose but that of giving jobs to commissioners and contractors.

The temperance question is the second topic which comes under the notice of the Governor. He makes no recommendation with regard to the matter, except that the sections of the present liquor law which have been pronounced unconstitutional by the Supreme Court should be either repealed or amended.

The Governor recommends a partial abolition of the usury laws—fixing no legal rate of interest upon negotiable notes not having more than eight months to run. The Governor takes the general mercantile view of this much disputed subject, and it is to be hoped that the Legislature, in its wisdom, will coincide with him.

He desires to have imprisonment for debt entirely abolished, except in cases of fraud; to have the wages of labor more adequately protected; to have provision made against over-issues in stock corporations; to give holders of bank bills a prior claim over other creditors; and suggests other matters of general state interest.

It should be mentioned that the Governor appeared before the Legislature in a full dress of American manufacture, of not high cost, thereby carrying out, in practice, the doctrines of his address. The example of Governor Gardner is worthy of imitation, but the gentlemen who walk the streets of Boston, at the present day, are not extravagant, nor even showy in their dress. The ladies, who display silks, furs, and velvets, in such profusion in their outward adornment, are the expensive and extravagant persons who make their husbands and fathers feel, when they come to settle their monthly or quarterly accounts of household expenses. We may hope that such a good example from the Chief Magistrate of the state may be generally imitated, and that plainness of dress and absence of superfluous gewgaws will be characteristic of the ladies of New England at the present time.

MAINE.—The Portland Argus contains a column and more, of editorial criticism, unfavorable to Governor Morrill's message. The Argus says, among other things:

The only clear unequivocal recommendation contained in the whole document, (unless that in relation to an experimental farm be an exception) is that advising the penalty of imprisonment, for the first offence, under the Maine Law. This recommendation is not coupled with any reasoning calculated to obviate objections to the principle or expediency of the measure; but sets forth what must be done, with a despotic brevity, clearness and sweep of statement, in marked contrast with other parts of the document, and which sounds strangely familiar to our Portland ears.

Governor Morrill owes his election to the Governor's chair, to the fact of his being a Maine Law man from the start: and he urges the active enforcement of the law, with some suggested improvements.

THE UNITY OF THE SPIRIT.—We are indebted to the author for a copy of a well written "Discourse, delivered before the Christian Union Society at Saunderseville, Mass., Dec. 10, 1854, by Rev. Charles Bryant"—on the occasion of being installed as their first Pastor. The declaration states that the Society "shall be based on the religion of Jesus Christ, as he taught and exemplified it according to the Scriptures of the New Testament; and which shall furthermore be independent of all sectarian bias or control."

☞ Charles H. Woodwell, formerly of Newburyport, has been chosen President of the Franklin Typographical Society of Boston. This is a charitable association for the aid of Printers, has a Library of 3000 volumes, has been incorporated since 1827, and is very useful for the purposes for which it was formed.

Father Streeter, the venerable Universalist clergyman in this city, has united 196 couples in the bonds of wedlock during the past year. During the twenty eight years of Mr. Streeter's ministry in Boston he has married 3763 couples.—Boston Journal.

For the Chronicle.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS.

Messrs. Editors:—Permit me to call the attention of your readers to a few facts which, to my own mind, and doubtless to the minds of many others, give cheering evidence of change in the public sentiment of the people in regard to one of the vital questions of our age and country—I refer to the question of American Slavery.

At the late Anti Slavery Fair held in Boston on Christmas week, and whose flag announced it as the Twenty First of its name and object which has been holden in Boston; the receipts, notwithstanding the unprecedented pressure in the money market and the unfavorable state of the weather, amounted to four thousand eight hundred dollars as the result of sales; a large amount of useful and beautiful articles still remaining on hand, to be disposed of for the benefit of the cause hereafter. Twenty years ago the first Fair opened, and realized from its sales two hundred dollars. That was thought well done, and so it was. It is hoped that the small circle of ladies in Portsmouth, who have from year to year forwarded to the friends in Boston their testimonial of fidelity and sympathy, will be gratified and encouraged by the present aspect of the cause.

Take, in connection with this fact, another. Twenty years ago Mr. Garrison could not procure a church or a hall in which to plead the cause of the slave. Week before last, this cause gathered, in one of the largest temples in the city of Boston, an audience of two thousand persons to listen to the eloquence of Wendell Phillips. They heard him with breathless interest as he urged them to tear their Constitution to tatters, and to come out from all participation in this monstrous iniquity, this sum of all villanies, and not one expression of disapprobation was heard in all that vast assembly. Have we not abundant reason to thank God and take courage?

We know that the slave power is still fearfully dominant—that there is much of patient toil and personal sacrifice and bitter persecution to be experienced by those who are engaged in this noble, christian work. But the signs of the times are hopeful. The whole land has been aroused from its deathly slumber, and in the cheering words of Whittier,

Now o'er the blackness of the storm,
A bow of promise bends on high,
And gleams of sunshine, soft and warm,
Break through our clouded sky.

East, West and North, the shout is heard,
Of freemen rising for the right;
Each valley hath its rallying word,
Each hill its signal light.

And more than all and above all we know that the cause of anti slavery is a cause dear to the heart of Christ, and all therefore will engage the ardent sympathies of all his true disciples.

J.

HUNTS' MERCHANTS' MAGAZINE, for January, 1855, opens with an able article on Money, by Henry C. Carey. It also contains an article on the Progress of Population in the United States; a statistical View of Illinois; and a biography of Marshall P. Wilder, with a portrait. This number begins a new volume.

NEBRASKA.—The election in Nebraska for delegates to Congress, resulted in the choice of N. B. Giddings, free soil. The vote was as follows: Giddings 439; Johnson (independent) 345; Chapman (Douglas) 117; Dyson 43; Hollister 15. The Council Bluff Bugle (administration) says of Giddings:

"Not only is he opposed to the national administration, which gave Nebraska a territorial existence, and to the law for its organization, but also to the great principle of popular sovereignty, which every true hearted Nebraskian is proud to avow; and by certain corrupt and mercenary politicians, opposed to those great democratic measures, Mr. Giddings was first put forward as their candidate."

HON. D. E. SICKLES.—This gentleman, the American secretary of legation at London, has returned to the United States. We believe it is not his intention to resume his position in the legation. Letters from Mr. Buchanan show that this step was voluntarily taken by Mr. Sickles. We are very happy to know that the relations between Mr. Sickles and Mr. Buchanan continue to be of the most intimate, cordial and confidential character.—Washington Union.

In reference to this the correspondent of the New York Courier writes that it is expected that the Hon. John Appleton, editor of the Portland Argus, will be appointed to the vacancy.

MORE TROUBLE AT ERIE.—ERIE, Jan. 8. The track of the Lake Shore Railroad was torn up at Harbor Creek to-day, by order of the Commissioners of Highways, and the road has been ploughed over. The mob are now engaged in tearing down the bridge over State street. Sheriff Vincent endeavored to make arrests, but was driven from the ground by the rioters, while Judge Miles was pelted with snowballs and stones.

CATHOLIC CHURCH PROPERTY.—The troubles with regard to the ownership of the Catholic Church property at Buffalo are to be carried into the Legislature of New York. The trustees, who are all Catholics, put themselves at issue with their Bishop, and with the decisions of Bishop Hughes and Cardinal Bedini.—Boston Cour.

A despatch from New York states that the unemployed laborers of that city had another meeting in the Park on Tuesday. Banners, bearing inflammatory inscriptions, were displayed, and addresses delivered.

LOCAL.

☞ Our towpsman, Benjamin P. Shillaber, now of the Boston Post, is to lecture this evening before the Mercantile Library Association. We believe, but are not quite sure, that the lecture is poetical in its form. Every ticket, we presume, will be represented.

For the Caronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—The concert of the Second F. W. B. Sabbath School came off last Tuesday evening, before a large, respectable and attentive audience. The youthful actors displayed talent and eloquence that would do honor to older heads. Mr. Levi G. Berry, their Superintendant, merits honor for his skilful management; the whole affair was a praiseworthy entertainment. Long may this society live to bless the south portion of our city with their christian influence.

L.

BROKEN LEG.—A man whose name we did not learn, fell on the ice in Congress street, on Wednesday evening, and broke his leg.—It was set by Dr. Folsom.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—The Newburyport Herald says, an Irishman residing at No. 22, Water st., on Saturday morning about 1 o'clock, in a fit of delirium tremens, attempted suicide in the following manner: Tying one end of a rope to the bedstead, the other end he attached to his neck, and leaped from the chamber window. The occupants of the house, instead of releasing him, awakened the neighbors, with the cry of "Watch," and "murder." On the arrival of some of the neighbors, the unfortunate victim was released, more dead than alive, his face being quite black, from strangulation; and the wonder is, that he survived until help arrived.

GEN. PIERCE'S BOSTON CARRIAGE.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune furnishes a list of the contributors to the purchase of a carriage and horses for General Pierce. Among the contributors are S. D. Bradford, Enoch Train, Gorham Brooks and Edward Riddle, who gave $100 each; C. G. Greene, L. A. Dowley, E. A. Raymond, Franklin Haven, John T. Heard, Caleb Cushing, Fletcher Webster, Peter C. Brooks, and "A Friend," $50 each; Pat. Riley, Watson Freeman, Benj. Seaver, Ben. Hallet, J. Harris Smith, Andrew Pierce, Isaac O. Barnes, Geo. Roberts, Silas Pierce, Wm. Beals, Hugh Jameson, W. P. Fetridge and S. J. Thomas, $25 each; Edw. King, Z. B. Porter, Joseph Smith, Paul Willard, Postmaster Bailey, Wm. Hayden, $10 each; "two candidates for office," $8 each, and a large number of others, mostly Webster Whigs.

DR. NICHOLS'S UNITARIAN SOCIETY IN PORTLAND.—The change which has recently been made in the ministerial office of this Society has not been represented correctly in some of the newspapers. We are gratified at being able to state that the venerable and respected Dr. Nichols has not withdrawn from the pulpit which he has occupied for more than forty years. His parish is the old, or first Congregational parish in Portland. It was the original territorial parish of Falmouth, and so remained when that town was destroyed in 1775. Dr. Nichols was settled in 1809, as a colleague with Dr. Deane, who had himself been settled as associate with Rev. Mr. Smith, in 1764; so that the practice of having two colleagues in the pulpit, and of relieving the older minister by giving him the assistance of the younger, has become somewhat the normal condition of the parish in respect to its ministry.

Some time since, Dr. Nichols, in view of the condition of his age and of his health, communicated to his parish his wish to be relieved wholly from the weight of the pastoral office, and accordingly tendered his resignation for that purpose. The society declined accepting the resignation, which however was recently renewed. The society again voted, unanimously, not to accept the resignation, but to adhere to its traditional and prescriptive usage, and accordingly with great unanimity invited Rev. Horatio Stebbins, of Fitchburg, to become associate pastor.

This invitation has been accepted by Mr. Stebbins, who, it is stated, will enter upon the discharge of his duties very shortly. He will carry with him to his new field of labor the best wishes of the numerous friends who respect his personal character no less than they admire his talents.

Dr. Nichols has been a beloved and faithful pastor, and we hope that with an associate to relieve him of the chief part of the onerous duties of his office his long and useful life may be greatly protracted.—Boston Daily Ad.

ONE WEEK LATER NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTH STAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10th. The steamship North Star, from Aspinwall, arrived here at out 8 o'clock this morning, bringing about 200 passengers, $1,119,623 in gold, and the California mails to Dec. 16, brought down to Panama by the steamship John L. Stephens.

The gale at Aspinwall, by which the North Star was detained two days, was very severe, and did considerable damage to property, and caused loss of life. Brig Flying Cloud, of New York was driven ashore and became a total wreck. The captain and seven men were drowned. The brig Alvaro, of New York, and a Carthagenian schooner were lost.

The miners throughout California were still anxiously awaiting rain.

The Russian ship Kamschatka, from Sitka, supposed to be a privateer, turnes out to be of that character, mounting 10 guns, and has a crew of 120 men.

The Fresnel light, one of the largest in the world, for the Farralone Islands, has been received from Bordeaux.

At a grand ball given by the San Francisco Blue, the leader of the band dropped dead, while conducting the music.

Flour at San Francisco, Gallego and Haxall brands, $12 a 13.

Dates from Sandwich Islands are to the 25th of Nov. No mention is made of a treaty of annexation.

The whaling news is very discouraging.—Out of 50 vessels from the Arctic ocean, 30 had not a drop of oil.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Jan. 9.

In the Senate, a petition from the officers of the U. S. Frigate Constitution, was presented asking remuneration for losses sustained by the recapture of the Levant. In the House, a memorial praying for the establishment of a steam tug at the mouth of New York harbor for the protection of life and property on the New Jersey coast, was appropriately referred. A resolution to terminate the debate on the Pacific Railroad bill on the 16th was passed. The Land Graduation Bill came up, and an amendment restoring substantially the principles of the Homestead Bill was offered by Mr. Dawson of Georgia. In Committee of the Whole, Mr. Latham of California spoke in favor of the establishment of a line of steamers between San Francisco and Shanghae, touching at Sandwich Islands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Senator Norris, of New Hampshire, is suffering from disease of the heart, and it is feared that the attack will have a fatal termination. At the latest accounts he was wholly insensible. Dr. Boyle, his attending physician, says he may recover, but the chances are ten to one against him.

9:20. P. M.—Senator Norris is better, and strong hopes are entertained of his recovery. The disease is neuralgic affection of the heart.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Much dissatisfaction exists among the printers, in consequence of a new arrangement that has been made between the printers of both Houses of Congress, by which the greater part of the composition is done but once, while Congress pays for it twice. A large number of compositors are thrown out of employment, and talk of memorializing Congress on the subject.

COUNTERFEITING IN CAMBRIDGE.—William Grose, keeper of a small provision store on Harvard street, Cambridgeport, was on Thursday taken before Justice Ladd to answer to three several complaints—two for passing counterfeit $3 bills on the Merchants' Bank, Salem, and for having in his possession, for an unlawful purpose, a number of implements, dies, moulds, &c., used in counterfeiting. These latter articles were found on searching the defendant's house in Plymouth street. After a partial examination the case was postponed till next week, the prisoner being held in $9,000, and committed to East Cambridge jail for want of sureties. The developments already made tend strongly to implicate several other parties, chiefly in the same business with Grose, and who, like him, have hitherto been considered respectable. It appeared that Grose has been operating successfully for a long time in palming off spurious money.—Boston Tran.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 9.—Mayor Vultz, citizens candidate, was reelected to-day by a majority of 473 over Morgan the Know Nothing candidate. In Alleghany, Adams, citizens candidate, was reelected Mayor over the Know Nothing candidate.

Two women have been indicted recently by the grand jury at New Orleans for unreasonably whipping a slave. It is to be supposed that the abolition-whig editors will not note this circumstance.—N. H. Daily Patriot.

Splendid Furniture.
THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,
Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.
Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.
These Frames, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.
If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.
These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Sagamore House,

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.
THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.
The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.
This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.
The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

EASILY ACCOUNTED FOR.—"I say, milkman, you give your cows too much salt."—"Why—how so? How do you know how much salt I give them?" "I judge from the appearance of the milk you bring us lately! You say that salt makes the cows dry, and then they drink too much water, and that makes their milk thin, you know!" "Oh, yes—well, I shouldn't wonder if that was the cause."

The Alabama Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church recently passed resolutions expressing their decided disapproval of dancing, or tolerating any such amusements among either the ministers or members of that church—also declaring it to be a direct violation of Christian obligation to engage in buying lottery tickets.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than its favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter an unusually interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that set or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clap boards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for farther particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most faithful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

HERTS BROTHERS
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their undivided attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and cleanness of the Quill, with all the the durability of the Steel Pen, and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not blotter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLOOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

SENTIMENTALISM. — Mrs. Swisshelm, of the Saturday Visitor, noticing the publication of a new love-story, says :—

All that stuff about woman's love has been said over and over again fifty thousand times, to the great detriment of the best interests of humanity. There is no kind of necessity for using the press to persuade silly girls that it is very romantic and womanly to love a scoundrel—to leave her affections unguarded by reason or experience, and drift helplessly into sin, shame and despair, as an evidence of her unsuspecting womanhood.

It is not true that woman's affections are stronger or more durable than man's. We think the very opposite is the case; and that two-thirds of all the women who pine or die of love, do so for want of something better to do. Everything calculated to make love-sickness a becoming feminine accomplishment is a great injury; but to strew the path of the suicide with the flowers of poesy and romance is in a very high degree reprehensible.

The best motto to guard a young girl thro' the mazes of love is, "Do right and trust in God." A girl who has done nothing wrong has little cause to mourn over the fickleness of a pretended lover. Better that he should change his mind before marriage than after.

A SHERIFF IN A QUANDARY.—The Philadelphia Ledger describes an amusing scene which occurred at the Columbia Museum in that city, on Wednesday last, in consequence of a suit which had been entered against Miss Richardson, who is an enormous specimen of female corpulency now on exhibition at that establishment. The suit was to obtain damages for slander. The Ledger says :

"The writ for her arrest was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Geo. K. Wise, and that officer, in company with two others, went to the hall of exhibition for the purpose of serving the warrant. The Sheriff made known his errand, and desired Miss Richardson to accompany him. She expressed her readiness to be "taken" by the officer, but did not suggest how it was to be done. The officer was in a quandary. He had often taken a corpus before on a writ, but there was no taking process out of any Court in Pennsylvania by which he could conveniently convey a body of such enormous dimensions to the magistrate's office. He viewed the lady's proportions critically and perplexingly. Applying such of the principles of mensuration as he remembered from his school-boy days, he scientifically took her height, her breadth, her depth, her circumference and her solidity; but the other problem of her conveyance to an alderman's office he gave up in despair. There was too much space covered, and too many pounds contained, for one man's ability to master. He retired, and subsequently returned with an additional force, and a conveyance suitable to the lady's size. Again Miss Richardson was requested to go with them, but still refused unless carried. The difficulty for the day was at last settled by Miss Richardson giving a guarantee that she would not leave until after another official visit today. As Mr. D. W. C. Morris has been engaged as counsel for the fair defendant, the contest promises to be one of unusual interest.

Martin Van Buren is dead—expired at Auburn, N. Y., a few nights since—the lion of that name presented to President V. B. by the emperor of Morocco, and sold to Raymond & Co., the menagerie men. He was 30 years old, and very well bred. Requiescat—lions are of the cat family.

When Mr. L—— was discharged from the pastoral care of his church, &c., an old lady, who was very fond of him, in attempting to offer consolation, addressed him as follows:—"Ah! Mr. L——, they may say what they will, but I think as I always did—I think you a good man—ah! indeed a good man—not equal to Christ, but fully equal to Antichrist."

RUM AND WATER.—In East Bridgewater, on Monday night, an Irishman named Edward Powers, who had been keeping Christmas pretty extensively, fell into a well near his own house, and staid in the water, which was nearly up to his neck, for six or seven hours before he was discovered by some of his neighbors and released. It supposed that his rum got pretty effectually watered.

THE SHIFTS OF LAZINESS.—The Courant says there is a family in Hartford, the children of which go out early in the morning, very thinly and meanly clad, to beg for food, and returning with a supply, they dress up in good clothes and go to school! Their lazy parents own the house in which they live, and work the children hard that they may obtain a good education.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1855.

FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.

The Eastern Argus of Jan. 6, contains an earnest appeal to Congress and the Nation, in favor of the payment of these long neglected, but just claims on our own government, by some of our oldest and best citizens, and by widows, children and grandchildren of others. The Argus presumes that no one, at this day, will dispute their justice. We suppose the justice of most of these claims was never doubted by any man who examined and understood the subject: but they were resisted on party grounds, and on various other shallow pretexts. We hope, with the Argus, that the claimants may get their pay this year,—but we are not confident. That they will be paid sometime, we cannot doubt; perhaps when we go to Congress—of which important event we do not see any great prospect at present.

ILLINOIS.—The correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Springfield, Jan. 4th, says:

"The Senate was organized yesterday. Anti Nebraska men have all the offices. We have two majority in the Senate and about ten in the House. Negro Democracy is down in the mouth. Not an old official has been retained—swept clean.

The Legislature is out and out Temperance. Prohibition will pass.

From a letter in the New York Evening Post, we learn that the Douglasites in the House endeavored to prevent the organization of that body by leaving it without a quorum, but they tried this project only one day, and the next day, Hon. S. J. Turner, anti-Douglass, was chosen Speaker. In the Senate, the same game of disorganization was attempted, but it seems without success. The writer in the Post predicts the defeat of the Douglasites.

SUICIDE.—Mr. Jacob H. Brown, Messenger of the New England Bank, Boston, committed suicide Tuesday forenoon at about half past eleven o'clock, by hanging himself from the third story window of his boarding house, in Bowdoin Square. He was first seen by persons passing up Greene street. He made a cord fast inside his room and putting a noose round his neck, jumped out of the window, falling about six feet, and as is supposed, breaking his neck. He is about 28 years of age, and had been connected with the bank about four years. He went to the bank in the morning and made his exchanges as usual, after which he went to his boarding house and committed the deed. He came from Haverhill to Boston. A brother and sister of his reside in this city. No definite cause is as yet known for his committing the act, but it is rumored that there is something wrong in his affairs at the bank.—Ad.

Subsequent accounts represent that Brown was charged with a delinquency, by a Director, and that his sentiments, and not guilt, caused the suicide. Mr. Brown was treasurer of the Mercantile Library Association, whose Committee say his accounts there, stand all correct.

SHOWING PROPER RESENTMENT. — The Boston Herald of Wednesday evening contains the following notice.

COLUMBIAN ARTILLERY VOTED TO DISBAND.

To His Excellency Henry J. Gardner, Commander-in-Chief:

In consequence of what we consider to be a grievous insult to the members of Company B, 5th Regiment of Artillery, and others now in the service of your Excellency, in paragraph marked No. 5 of your Message, at a meeting held in said Company's Armory, on Tuesday evening, the 9th inst., Capt. Cass in the Chair, sixty members being present, it was unanimously voted to surrender the Charter of said Company forthwith, and Capt. Cass is hereby requested to inform the Commander-in-Chief of said vote.

THOMAS CASS, Captain Co. B,
5th Regiment of Artillery

Attested:
HUGH MCCAFFERTY, Clerk.

SURRENDER OF THE CHARTER.—Agreeable to a vote passed by the members of Company B, 5th Regiment of Artillery, instructing me to surrender the charter of said company forthwith, I hereby tender to your Excellency the charter of said company.

THOMAS CASS, Captain Co. B,
5th Regiment of Artillery.

The Federal Union and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will probably survive the shock.

DR. GRAHAM.—The New York papers say: Dr. Graham, now at Sing Sing prison, is said to have created a great disturbance there already, by getting crazy drunk on some brandy to which he had access for medical purposes. He threatened the lives of those who secured him.

There is no need of Brandy as a medicine for State Prisoners. Soap and Water would be better.

The N. Y. Messenger says there is a poor decrepit old beggar in the city of New York, whose distressed appearance rarely fails of eliciting a penny from the pockets of the benevolent, and yet who owns two fine brick houses in Brooklyn, which he has earned by his heart breaking appeals for charity.

No city missionary gives any aid to such beggars as these, as they are a mere nuisance.

It is said that Fanny Kemble is about returning to this country with the design of taking up her abode in Stockbridge, Mass. Her father has recently died in England, and she has no further ties to detain her from her adopted home.

CHILDREN AT SCHOOL.—The Newburyport Herald, speaking of schools and school Laws, says:—

The legislature should say, also, and it has already said, that the state shall not be burdened by ignorance, which is the forerunner of pauperism and crime; that any child between certain ages shall attend school for a certain length of time annually. They cannot now be legally employed in factories without a certificate of having attended school so long, and if they are not at school, and not employed, they may be and should be treated as vagrants and truants. This is right; if we are bound to support schools, children should be bound to go to school. Generally the statutes on this point are observed by manufacturing establishment, but we have known instances where they were not observed. The law might be amended, we think, by making it the duty of the school Committee or the overseers of the poor to know whether it is regarded in relation to every child, and to prosecute all violations of it; and farther to require that the certificate of attendance shall come from the school committee, and from nobody else. The word of private teachers should not be taken—the word of clergymen should not be taken;—they are unknown to the laws in such matters, and cannot always be relied on. Last year the certificate of a catholic priest in a manufacturing town in this county, was sent to prove that children had attended school so many months, when the account books of the factories showed that they had been drawing pay for the very time that be certified they were in school.

In a republican government, we should be left as far as possible to the control of a moral and well-regulated public opinion; we should have as few laws, and as little interference with personal liberty, as may be; but society has the right to protect itself, and it should exercise that right, whenever necessary, providing always that laws shall not be so stringent as to defeat themselves, but to be executed promptly and invariably.

The Boston Chronicle conjectures that the author of "Ida May" is Mrs. Mary Green Pike, a young and beautiful widow of Calais, Me. "Ida May," though the first novel, is by no means the first literary work of this lady, she having been for some time past a contributor to the Philadelphia journals.

PANAMA RAILROAD. — When the North Star left Aspinwall, there remained but three miles of the track to be laid to complete the communication from ocean to ocean by the Panama Railroad, and the the next passengers from New York are expected to make the entire transit across the Isthmus by railroad.

Mr. Charles Elliot, a fireman on the Boston and Maine Railroad, who was injured at the South Reading junction, on Tuesday, while adjusting some of the machinery of the engine, died in about 3 1-2 hours after the accident, retaining his senses to the last.

On Monday morning Olney Whipple, of Pawtucket, a respected citizen, seventy years of age, committed suicide by inhaling the gas of burning charcoal. He left letter stating as a reason for the act that he had been unfortunate in business. He leaves a wife and family.

Private William Sime, of the royal Sappers and Miners, has been convicted at Halifax of the murder of a comrade named Richard Wilkinson, by shooting him with his carbine, owing to some remarks made by the deceased about Sime's trousers. He was sentenced to death.

The official value of wine and spirits imported into the United States in 1853 was $5,199,000. During the last fiscal year it amounted to $5,675,000. There has been a considerable falling off in the import of brandy and port wine.

Just before leaving of the Lowell morning train for Boston, a man and his wife took passage in the cars; while waiting in the station house, the man, saying he would go out and light his pipe, went and threw himself from the bridge, and was drowned.

NEWSPAPER BLANKETS.—The New Haven Journal says that a large newspaper spread over the body, or enclosed between two sheets, by confining the heat, answers all the purpose of a blanket, and the fact is commended to the poor.

A letter to Lieut. Maury, requesting him to prepare a chart of the safest routes for steamers to go and come across the Atlantic, has been signed by the Marine Insurance Companies of Boston, and others, and forwarded to him at Washington.

Rev. F. Yates has disappeared from Lebanon, Illinois, not so mysteriously as he intended; for, instead of taking his word that he had drowned himself, the good people have discovered that he has eloped with a lady.

A man was recently fishing in the Medway, England, with a net, when he pulled up the body of his son, who had been drowned about a month before.

"Good Queen Bess," when she visited Worcester, borrowed two hundred pounds of the corporation, which still stands as a "bad debt" on the town books!

The strike of the engineers on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is ended, and the business of the company is going on with great activity. New men have been employed.

A letter from Saco states that two of the mills of the York Company in that town are to be stopped in consequence of the general depression in business.

It is said that prices for hire of servants this year in Virginia generally range from $10 to $20 below last year's rates.

A despatch from Chicago announces that James Harlan, whig, has been elected U. S. Senator from Iowa.

In Richmond, Virginia, a fortnight since, a rat bit an infant in a cradle so severely that it died in a few hours.

A bill passed the Illinois house of representatives on Saturday, 51 to 21, repealing all license laws.

A gentleman fishing in Saugus river, Massachusetts, pulled out three eels whose aggregate weight was eleven and a quarter pounds.

LOCAL.

☞ Mr. Shillaber read his humorous descriptive Poem on the Press, to a very numerous audience, on Thursday evening, at the Temple, in place of the usual lecture.

In his introduction, he disclaimed the purpose of adding one barley-corn to our mental stature, or turning one hair grey with wisdom; but hoped to please the hearer, and provoke his smile—to make the audience laugh with or at the speaker.

He accomplished the best of all this, and more; as he gave us many touches of genial humor, some keen strokes of satire, and not a few lines of simple but real pathos. The performance was brought within an hour, and was received with much favor and great pleasure by the audience.

☞ The Mayor and Aldermen, last evening did no business of interest, except to approve bills.

☞ Mr. Sylvester Dixon, teacher of the Franklin Grammar School, in Dist. No. 1, has resigned his place—which of course offers a vacancy for another well qualified instructor.

TOWN CLOCK.—The dials are placed on the tower of the new North Church; the clock room is ready to receive the machinery, and the superintendent of the city clocks is making the necessary arrangements for setting up the time keeper. In about a week or ten days we shall be able to note the flight of time from the four clean new faces that look down upon the city.

For the Chronicle,

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Quite a number of your readers are desirous to know if the Portsmouth Benevolent Society, which advertise a Social Gathering next week, is intended for the Howard Benevolent Society, and if the receipts are for the poor in our midst, or for the young men interested. If for the Howard Society we wish them success, and hope no one will fail to visit them. OBSERVER.

The question is pertinent, especially as the Messenger advertised it as the Howard, and it shall be answered as far as we have the needful information. We understand the Portsmouth Benevolent Society to be a new Association of young gentlemen; and their object in this social gathering, the aid of the poor in our midst, through some of the existing channels of benevolence. Those concerned are some of our most enterprising and tasteful young ladies and gentlemen, and they will without doubt meet deserved success.

☞ We have received our usual California papers from Chas. E. Rand of San Francisco; Daniel G. Waldron, of Coloma; and Edwin A. Rowe, of Trinity—all formerly of this city. They will please receive our thanks.

☞ The Weekly Chronicle may be obtained at the "Noisy Carriers," San Francisco, Cal., immediately after the arrival of each mail from New York.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The old soldiers visited Mount Vernon to-day, stopping at Fort Washington on their way back. The weather was beautiful, and the old soldiers were full of gaiety. They were accompanied by a large party of ladies. Daguerreotypes were taken of the different groups at the mansion at Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Washington and children included, and at the tomb. On reaching the National Hotel, in this city, the old soldiers were addressed by Gen. Coombs. A contribution was then raised to pay the expenses of the poor soldiers, and all retired to their several abodes, fatigued but delighted with the events of the day.

Capt. George Cannon, a member of the lower branch of the Legislature, died very suddenly at his residence in Saratoga street, East Boston, on Wednesday evening. During the evening there had been a party of children at his house, and after they had gone home he went out and returned about 10 o'clock. He had been in the house but a few moments when he was taken with violent headache and vomiting, and in about twenty minutes he died. Capt. Cannon was about 59 years old.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—The Sixty-fifth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Massachusetts commenced its session in Trinity Church in Boston, on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock There was quite a large audience present. The morning service was read by Rev. Mr. Shaw of Lanesboro', after which the usual Convention Sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Babcock of Dedham. After the sermon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by Bishop Eastburn, assisted by Bishop Burgess of Maine, and Rev. Dr. Burroughs.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 10.

SENATE.—Mr. Brodhead of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported in favor of sending one or more vessels to the relief of Dr. Kane.

Mr. Sumner of Massachusetts presented a memorial in opposition to the appointment of military men to civil positions.

The Judiciary Reform bill was taken up, the question being upon Mr. Clayton's amendment, to dispense with the circuit services of the judges of the Supreme Court, and the diminution of the present number to six, whenever the deaths of the present incumbents, by disease or otherwise, shall create vacancies.

Mr. Dawson of Georgia gave notice that to-morrow he would report a bill providing for the removal of the obstructions in the harbor of Savannah.

Mr. Weller of California presented a memorial from officers of the Army, praying for remuneration for losses sustained by the disaster to the steamship Winfield Scott.

Mr. Pratt of Maryland presented a memorial from merchants, asking Congress to provide for difficulties arising from the abolition of corporal punishment of seamen.

Mr. Clayton of Deleware presented a petition from Joel Ware, relative to further protection of American manufactures. Referred to the Committee on Manufactures.

On motion of Mr. Cass of Michigan, the first Monday of February was assigned for the consideration of the resolution of Mr. Underwood, relative to religious freedom in foreign countries.

After some debate upon it, the Senate went into executive session, and adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Richardson of Illinois introduced a bill to improve the Mississippi and its tributaries. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The bill amendatory to the land graduation act was announced as first in order, to which was pending the amendment of Mr. Dawson of Pennsylvania, giving a homestead of one hundred and sixty acres, at fourteen and a half cents per acre, on condition of actual settlement and cultivation.

Mr. Campbell of Ohio was opposed to tacking the principles of the Homestead bill on to this bill.

Mr. Dawson of Pennsylvania argued that free grants of land was a new principle.

Mr. Dawson's amendment was rejected—72 to 93. The bill was then rejected—68 to 95.

Mr. Dawson of Pennsylvania then moved to take up the business on the Speaker's table, with the view of reaching the Homestead bill, as amended by the Senate.

Pending the motion the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Democratic Senators have held a preliminary meeting, and will shortly define the position of the democracy upon the question of secret societies for political purposes. Senator Adams of Mississippi is said to be the only Democratic Senator not inclined to take ground against them.

The Tariff.—The Committee of Ways and Means will endeavor to call up, at the earliest opportunity, the bill to regulate imports reported by them during the last session. This bill continues an ad valorem duty of 100 per cent. on liquors, and establishes an ad valorem of from 5 to 25 per cent. duty on other articles. The bill of the Secretary of the Treasury continues the same ad valorem duty upon liquors, but establishes a single rate of 25 per cent. upon all articles not enumerated in a free list.

Senator Norris is more comfortable tonight. He is not, however, considered out of danger.

New Music.

NEW SONGS.—Nelly Gray; The Bivouac; Dreams of the Past; Chilian War Song; The Harvest Moon; Meet me in Heaven; Man cannot always Joyful be; Oh, Whisper what thou feelest; Come, said Jesus' sacred voice; Song of the Fugitive; Blind Girl's Request.
NEW WALTZES AND POLKAS.—Plum Polka; Diana Waltz; La Sicilienne; Margarethen Polka; Charming Polka; Second Greek Polk; Table Rock Schottische; Valse of Adieu—by Julien.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; ALMAIS FOR EXTENSION TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These ETAGERAS, as the French call them, or WRAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Sagamore House,

FROST'S POINT, RYE, N. H.

THE Proprietor of the above named House has made arrangements so as to provide for the reception of parties, at short notice, through the coming winter.

The table will be furnished with all the delicacies the market affords, as well as the substantials which are necessary in a well ordered house.

This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

The above arrangement, which is a novelty in this section, the Proprietor hopes will be duly appreciated, and that a portion of the Winter Pleasure Parties may turn toward his house, from which a fine view may be had of our rock bound coast, against which the wintry blast hurls the dashing wave.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the States and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local Interest our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

JAMES A. WOODBURY.

Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington, 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, and usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE OR Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

. . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

From the Betrothal.

THE SUCCESSFUL ISSUE OF COURTSHIP.

From little signs, like little stars,
Whose faint impression on the sense
The very looking straight at Mars,
Or only seen by confluence;
From instinct of a mutual thought,
Whence sanctity of manners flow'd;
From chance unconscious, and from what
Concealment, overconscious, show'd;
Her wrist's less weight upon my arm;
Her lowlier mien; that match'd with this;
I found, and felt with strange alarm,
I stood committed to my bliss.

I grew assured, before I ask'd,
That she'd be mine without reserve,
And in her unclaim'd graces bask'd;
At leisure, till the time should serve,
With just enough of dread to thrill
The hope, and make it trebly dear;
Thus loath to speak the word to kill
Either the hope or happy fear.

Till once, through lanes returning late,
Her laughing sisters lagg'd behind;
And, ere we reach'd her father's gate,
We paused with one presentient mind;
And, in the dim and perfumed mist,
Their coming stay'd, who, blithe and free,
And very women, loved to assist
A lover's opportunity.

Twice rose, twice died my trembling word:
The faint and frail cathedral chimes
Spake time in music, and we heard
The chafers rustling in the limes.
Her dress, that touched me where I stood;
The warmth of her confided arm;
Her bosom's gentle neighborhood;
Her pleasure in her power to charm;
Her look, her love, her form, her touch,
The least seem'd most by blissful turn,
Blissful but that it pleased too much,
And taught the wayward soul to yearn.
It was as if a harp with wires
Was traversed by the breath I drew;
And, oh, sweet meeting of desires
She, answering, own'd that she loved too.

A YOUNG DEADHEAD.—Yesterday evening, on the arrival of the Southern express train at the station house in this city, a woman who was travelling in the cars with her infant child about six months old, got out and went for a few minutes up stairs into the ladies' refreshment saloon, leaving the child asleep on a seat in one of the cars. While she was taking her coffee, however, the train went on; and when she returned she found herself in a strange place, with the train containing her child already a mile off. She had no resource but to wait for the arrival of the next train, in which she might hurry on in pursuit of the little fugitive. In the course of a short time, however, her anxiety was relieved by the arrival of the down train from Springfield, in which she found her baby. The conductor had stopped the cars at Thompsonville, where the two trains met, and put the child on board of the one coming down. The youngster was safely restored to his mother's arms, after having enjoyed a railroad ride of 25 miles by himself, with which he seemed to have been much pleased.—Hartford Times, Dec. 30.

A REMARKABLE WOMAN.—It is said that in Powhattan, Virginia, there resides a colored woman who was born the year after George the 11. ascended the throne of England, or four years before the birth of George Washington, and is now one hundred and twenty-six years old. She is often drowsy and forgetful, but at other times her memory is excellent. Her eyesight is almost as good as in her days of youth, and her appetite is unfailing. She never was visited by a physican, and never took a dose of physic, and has been the mother of sixteen children, all of whom died of old age. This reads like a Barnum story, but we give it as we find it.—Boston Journal.

BARNUM'S GIRAFFE.—This famous animal, advertised in the show bills to be seventeen feet in height, came to an untimely end on the 30th ult. He was about being shipped on board a steamer at New Orleans, when some planks gave way and precipitated his highness into the swiftly flowing waters beneath. Notwithstanding his remarkable stature he could not touch bottom, and after a few convulsive struggles submitted to his fate.

A CURIOUS PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT.—A French officer while making a reconnoisance near Sebastopol, was knocked down by the wind of a cannon ball, and the shock was so severe as to cause a paralysis of his tongue, so that he could neither move it nor speak.—Obtaining leave of absence he returned to Marseilles and placed himself under electrical treatment. After a few shocks he could move his tongue with more facility, and at length, after an unusually powerful shock, his speech was restored, and he was fully recovered.

Morning Chronicle.

THE POPE AND POLITICS.

On every important subject it is desirable to know the truth; in regard to matters of fact, it is desirable to have accurate information. We desire to get our knowledge, if we can, from high sources. Sometimes, however, the statements of two people, both apparently good authority, come in conflict. Here is a case in point.

In our own Congress, in the House of Representatives, on Thursday, the Pacific Railroad bill being before the Committee of the Whole, Mr. Chandler, of Pennsylvania, replied to that portion of Mr. Banks's Know Nothing speech which relates to the Pope's claim to interfere in the political affairs of other countries. He denied that the Pope claimed or exercised such interference.

Now Mr. Chandler, being a member of the Roman Church, ought to be good authority. But let us look a little farther:

On this same Thursday the Baltic arrived at New York, and among her news, under the head of Italy, we find this item:

A quarrel has sprung up between the king of Naples and the Jesuits on the question of the superiority of the Pope over the kings of the earth.

In this quarrel, doubtless, the king of Naples takes the ground that the pope has no dominion (for this is the superiority meant) over him—but the Jesuits maintain that he has.

The Jesuits in Italy must surely be supposed to know as much about the Pontiff's claims, as a lay disciple in America: we think they know more. No doubt Mr. Chandler believes what he says, as he is a devout Romanist. But Americans generally, suspect that the Pope, claiming as he does to be God's vicegerent over the Church universal on earth, will rule, through crafty priests in every land where his adherents manage to get the ascendancy. The conduct of the priests in this country, and the tone of their papers, have given rise to this suspicion, and have called up the great party now called the Know Nothings, or the American party.

DEATH OF SENATOR NORRIS.

On Thursday night, at 10 o'clock, Hon. Moses Norris, Senator from New Hampshire, died in Washington City, of angina pectoris, having been ill only a few days. His decease leaves this State without a Senator. Gov. Baker will of course appoint a successor, to serve till March, when Mr. Norris's term would have expired.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Monday night, the Rev. J. McLeish, Methodist minister, late of Malden, who has been to California and fallen from his caste, got into trouble while under the influence of liquor, and in order to preserve the peace it was thought by the police officers best to place him in the watch house for a temporary punishment. When partially sobered, his reflections caused him to attempt suicide, and he succeeded, with a small penknife, in partially cutting his throat; but the knife being dull, no large arteries were severed. He was found by the officer about 11 o'clock, lying on the floor of the cell, weltering in blood and apparently lifeless. Assistance was procured, and his wounds dressed. Yesterday morning he was brought to the city and placed in the Hospital. There is a bare possibility of his recovery.—Journal.

This Mr. McLeish was, a few years ago, the President, or Presiding Elder, of the Methodist Protestant Conference in the vicinity of Boston.

☞ The Dorchester Cotton and Iron Factory, at Milton Lower Mills, Mass, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night. Loss, $150,000. Insured $50,000. The fire was visible in Boston from 5 o'clock till midnight.

The Southern people have wondered that isms should be tolerated in the Northern States, and it has appeared to them easy to crush out every thing by old established factions. Lacking experience they have not understood our condition, but now that nativeism has reached them and is at work, we shall see how well they will succeed.—Newburyport Herald.

PRESENT TO THE POPE.—The Queen of England is about to present His Holiness the Pope with a brilliant tiara, ornamented with three crowns of brilliants, and with a great many pearls, rubies, emeralds and sapphires, the united value of which will be about 500,000 francs, or $20,000 English. The royal present is to be placed in a box of sculptured silver. [Bah.]

MONUMENT TO THE VIRGIN.—It is said that the Pope of Rome has decreed that, in order to perpetuate the memory of the immaculate conception, a column surmounted by a statue of the Virgin Mary, shall be erected on the Piazza de Spagna before the college of the Propaganda. The magnificent marble column, which has for a long time been laying behind the palaces of Innocent, is to be used for the purpose; and the execution of the work is to be intrusted to M. Obici, an eminent Italian sculptor.

"Ah, you don't know what mythical enthusiasm is!" said a music mad Miss to Tom Hood. "Excuse me, Madam," replied the wit, "but I do; musical enthusiasm is like turtle soup; for every quart of real, there are ninety-nine gallons of mock, and calves heads in proportion."

THE OLD FRENCH CLAIMS.

We have already mentioned that the Eastern Argus, (well known as the organ in Portland of the Regular Democratic Party,) had spoken favorably and earnestly of paying off these claims. We now copy the whole article from the Argus, endorsing its general correctness, and adding our own earnest wish that they may be paid and that speedily.

A bill reported, we think by Senator Hamlin, for the settlement of these long standing French Spoliation claims, has passed the Senate, and is now awaiting action in the House. We hope that it is not waiting in vain. We can conceive no reason why these claimants should not now have justice done them, tardy and long delayed though it be. The overflowing treasury can now easily bear this draft upon it; and no more opportune occasion will probably ever be presented for adjusting them.

The large amount of these claims have doubtless had much influence in deferring the adjustment of them; for we cannot believe that the payment of an individual claim, small comparatively in amount, but no more just than are these, would have been at all resisted by the government. On the contrary, we believe it would have been promptly settled. We further believe that had these claims been as rightfully due to the citizens of foreign countries as they are to our own citizens, they would long since have been paid.

But the amount of these claims (about five millions) should be no obstacle to their payment now. Whatever influence the amount might have in the earlier days of the government, it should occasion no reluctance now. They can be paid without being felt. We trust our government will feel it a duty to be as just to her own citizens, who are in her hands, as she would be to those of a foreign country, who might bring in aid the power of their government to enforce the satisfaction of their claims. It cannot be, we hope, that the American Government will be less magnanimous or just to her own citizens, merely because they are virtually powerless in the matter.

The justice of these claims, we presume, will not be disputed at this late day. Their validity and justice have been passed upon in the last twenty years, by some 17 committees of the U. S. Senate, and by some 13 in the House of Representatives, by all of whom Reports were made, acknowledging their validity, and recommending their payment.

In accordance with these recommendations of Committees, bills for the adjustment of these claims have passed the Senate at least half a dozen times, and the House, once, if not more times. We now take it for granted, therefore, that claims of so much importance and so much discussed as these have been, which were not valid and just, could not have obtained the sanction of so many successive committees, and we may add, of so many Senates. Indeed, we believe in the last twenty years, not a single committee has reported against them, although much talent has been arrayed, from time to time, in opposition to them.

The claims of our citizens upon the Mexican Government were assumed and promptly paid. A few millions for that purpose were not grudged: why should they be in this case? We trust this Congress will do what it can to cure the injustice of the past, by providing for the immediate payment of these claims.

THE ROMAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES.—The Metropolitan Catholic Almanac and Laity's Directory, for the year of our Lord, 1855, has just been published. The Pilot says, more care seems to have been taken than ever before, to obtain correct statistics of the Church in the United States, and the result is very satisfactory, though there is still room for further improvement. From the statements of the work we learn that in the United States there are 7 Archbishops, 33 Bishops, 2 Vicars Apostolic, 1,704 Priests, and 1,824 Churches,—showing the increase of the past year to have been 2 Bishops, 129 Priests, and 112 Churches. There are also 698 Missionary stations, 28 Colleges, 117 Female Academies, and 37 Theological Seminaries, which (including those who are studying abroad) are training up to the priesthood nearly 700 young men. With these figures before us, we cannot but think that the burdens of the American clergy will, ere many years have passed, be lightened, and one man will no longer be obliged to do the work of two or three.

British ship Prince Arthur, Sunderland, from Manila, for New York, consigned to Messrs. Lombard & Whitmore, of Boston, was off Piedra Blanca, Oct. 30, in a sinking condition. A steamer had been sent from Singapore to her assistance, but could not find her. She had encountered severe weather in the China Sea, and had 10 feet of water in her hold when last seen. Brig Mary Muckerton was lying by her to take off the crew, if necessary. British steamer Hoogly, which was sent from Singapore to assist the Prince Arthur, reached Piedra Blanca, Nov. 2, at 4 P. M., but could see nothing of the ship or the brig Mary Muckerton. Capt. Stewart, of the Hoogly, was ordered to continue the search for the Prince Arthur as long as his fuel would hold out. It is hoped that the Prince Arthur had reached some place of safety, as there is a very large amount of insurance in Boston and New-York, principally in Boston, for upwards of $236,000. The Prince Arthur is a fine new English ship of about 1,200 tons.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The official vote for Governor, as declared by the Committee of the Legislature, is H. J. Gardner 81,503; Emory Washburn 37,279; Henry W. Bishop 13,742; Henry Wilson 5843; Charles Allen 477; B. L. Wales 407; scattering 358. Total 130,249. For Lieutenant Governor, Brown 81,921; Plunkett 27,151; Stetson 13,769; Sumner 6878; Osborne 393; scattering 178. Total 130,298.

NEW YORK, JAN. 11.—The Academy of Music is crowded to suffocation by the most brilliant audience ever assembled within its walls, the event being the grand concert given by Grisi and Mario for the benefit of the poor of this city. The receipts exceed $8000. The enthusiasm is immense, and Mario and Grisi never had a more magnificent reception.

LOCAL.

"OLD FOLKS' CONCERTS."—The second is to take place at the Temple in this city, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24th. It will doubtless be as interesting and complete in all respects as the last—and greater praise it could hardly have. A good bassoon-player will add the rich bass of that instrument to the heavy chorus of wind, strings and voices; and our city's favorite poet, "A. L.," has by request, written a most beautifully appropriate and touching "Song of the Old Folks," for the occasion. Nothing in the musical line has excited so much attention here for a long time, as the "Old Folks'" first concert—and no exertion will be spared to make the next even more completely successful.

Below we give the programme.

A rehearsal is called this evening at 7 o'clock, at Exchange Hall.

We have been frequently inquired of, by letter and otherwise, respecting the time of this Concert—and our cotemporaries in this vicinity can save us a little trouble, and give the desired information to some of their readers, by noticing this matter in their columns.

The Boston Transcript has published the entire programme, and statement of arrangements.

Anonymous letters, like secret societies, are evil spoken of, quite often. There are some exceptions, however, in both. The treasurer of the Howard Benevolent Society, in this city, has recently received such a letter from the Post-office, enclosing $100. He could well afford to pocket an affront of this kind, and thank the writer, also, in behalf of the poor, whose hearts it will make glad.

☞ We are gratified to notice that Mr. Joseph G. Todd, formerly of this city, now of Washington, has been promoted to $1400 salary in the General Land Office. Mr. Todd was formerly a member of our City Council.

☞ The third Lecture of the Course before the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, will be delivered at the Temple to-morrow evening, by Rev. Henry D. Moore. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

☞ Elder J. Couch will preach at the Advent Chapel to-morrow.

☞ Rev. C. A. Eastman, of New Market, will preach at the F. W. B. Chapel on Hanover street, to-morrow.

ARREST OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.—For some time past numerous articles of freight have been stolen, while on its way over the Fitchburg, Rutland, Vermont Central and Canada Railroads, and the various corporations have paid quite a sum to make the losses good, so that the freighters should not suffer by the peculations committed upon their property. The rogues, it appears, were quite fond of wine, and hardly a basket of champagne could go over the various roads without three or four bottles being abstracted, while butter and cheese hardly stood any chance of ever seeing their rightful owners, and so particular were the scamps they would indignantly reject any butter that was not fresh and nice. A few days since an agent was sent over the road with orders to ferret out the thieves, if possible, and some facts came to his knowledge which enabled him to trace the robberies to some brakemen on the cars. Tuesday afternoon, while on his way to the city, the agent telegraphed to the superintendent of Fitchburg road that the right ones were on the train, and to have officers ready to arrest them when they arrived. When the cars reached the freight house at Charlestown, the superintendent sent for the brakemen to come to his office as he wished to see them, and upon presenting themselves they were taken in custody by a posse of police and committed to jail.—Telegraph.

OPERATIVES DISCHARGED.—We learn from the Lawrence Courier, that a large number of operatives have lately been discharged from the employ of the Bay State Mills, caused by the general depression of business. That in one department, (wool sorting) where 116 men are generally employed, they have all been discharged, with the exception of seven or eight. Various other departments are being partially stopped, as the machinery becomes free from the yarn and cloth with which they are encumbered. The prospect now is, that about one half of the works will be stopped for a period.

A memorial signed by 2000 unemployed mechanics and laborers of New York city, was presented to Mayor Wood a few days since, and would be laid by him before the City Council. The memorialists pray for an appropriation of $500,000 from the city treasury for the erection of buildings on the city lands, to be occupied by the tenantry of New York at a just and equal rent, and for the employment of as many mechanics and laborers as may be needful for a prompt and thorough completion of the work.

Ancient Harmony Revived.

The next meeting of the "Old Folks," for Rehearsal, will be held AT EXCHANGE HALL, on SATURDAY Evening, the 13th inst., at 7 o'clock. All who participated in the last Concert, and others acquainted with the old Music, are invited to attend.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Jan. 11.

In the Senate the Compensation bill was taken up.

Mr. Gillette, of Connecticut, said—if the State Judges can get along with $2,000 to $2,500 a year, why cannot the United States Judges get along with $4,000 to $4,500. After the demonstrations of the last Congress upon the Nebraska-Kansas bill, I think the members ought to be satisfied that they already receive enough, if not too much.

Mr. Badger—I am surprised at the remarks of the Senator from Connecticut. I hope those who think the present per diem allowance is sufficient compensation for their service, will, as honorable men, vote against the bill. I think my services are worth more, and rate those of other Senators as high as my own. I dont see why the Senator should bring into this discussion the Kansas Nebraska bill or the Fugitive Slave Law. I voted for the Kansas Nebraska bill, and my reasons for doing so were given on the floor of the Senate. I am responsible for them only to my constituents and my Maker. If we introduce these irritating and agitating subjects upon every occasion, whether relevant or irrelevant, we shall have discussion enough. I abandon a profitable practice to serve my country, and although not extravagant, it takes $3,000 a year, in addition to my compensation, to defray my expenses. I do not regret that service, but the country should make a fair remuneration.

Mr. Clayton of Delaware, thought the compensation of the members of Congress inadequate. He said their pay was about equal to that of one of the pages of the Senate, and half that of its messengers. He should not vote to increase his own compensation, but should vote to increase those of his successor, and of the Senators from other States.

Mr. Toucey of Connecticut, differed from his colleague. He thought it bad policy to pay public servants too small wages.

The further consideration of the subject was postponed until to-morrow at half-past 12 o'clock.

FOREIGN NEWS.

By the arrival of the Collins steamer Baltic at New York on Wednesday, we have received intelligence from Europe to the 30th ult.—seven days later than the previous advices.

Affairs before Sebastopol were unchanged up to the 20th of December, but it is asserted that a resolution had been adopted to storm the city as soon as the Turkish reinforcements should arrive.

Louis Napoleon had opened the French Legislative session in person. He asks for an additional levy of 120,000 men. The Minister of Finance was authorized to negotiate a loan of 500,000,000 francs. The British Parliament was not in session. The Foreign Enlistment bill had obtained the Royal assent, but it is said that the articles of the German confederation, forbid German subjects from entering the military service of foreign States. A high diplomatic conference was to be held at the residence of the British Minister at Vienna on the 28th of December.

The Cunard steamship Africa, from New York, arrived at Liverpool on the 24th. The propeller Sarah Sands, from Liverpool for Portland, before reported passed by the Asia, off Kinsale, had put into Cork, with damage to her sails and rigging, but would not return to Liverpool; she would repair and proceed again for Portland.

The Cunard steamship Arabia sailed from Marseilles on the 21st of December, with 1640 French soldiers for the Crimea.

Affairs before Sebastopol were unchanged, up to the 20th of December. The Russians claim to have done considerable damage to the approaches of the allies. Nevertheless, the third French parallel was completely mounted with cannon.

The reinforcements for the allies up to the 18th of December, had reached 18,000.

An official despatch from Balaklava, published in the Moniteur, says the situation of the allies is excellent.

Five thousand Turks had landed at Eupatoria. The destination of Omar Pasha's army was kept profoundly secret, but it is supposed that it will invest the North side of Sebastopol.

The railway expedition was already on its way from England, in seven steamers and two sailing ships, with all the materials for constructing a railway from Balaklava to Sebastopol.

The wretched state of the roads in the Crimea, had put a stop to most all the military operations. Communication between Perekop and Sebastopol was completely interrupted, and a week had elapsed since a courier had arrived at Odessa from Sebastopol. At last accounts, the weather had improved, and heavy frosts had set in, which had caused a renewal of activity on both sides.

Admiral Hamelin, writing on the 12th, says that "for the last few days the place had kept up a considerably brisk fire. The enemy has made two vigorous sorties against our lines, and those of the English. In each case, as soon as they reached the parapets, they were received by a well sustained fire of musketry, and repulsed at the point of the bayonet, after an obstinate struggle."

A letter in the Soldaten Freund, says, "the defence of the fortress of Sebastopol is now to be conducted on a new plan. The costly material will be removed from the bastions and the walls, and carried back to the ships.—Twenty-two ships have been equipped, and are now ready for sea. It is probable the garrison have mined the places they pretend to have left."

A Russian ukase is published, ordaining that, whoever, after a battle, shall commit acts of cruelty on the wounded or unresisting, shall suffer the penalty of death.

VIENNA, Dec. 28.—A despatch from Warsaw says that the Baltic Russian fleet have been relieved of their guns, and that they have reached Sebastopol, and also that to their presence was to be ascribed the recent heavy fire from the place, as well as the new-found boldness of the fleet.

New Guano Discoveries.—The following is an extract from a letter from Guayaquil, published in the Panama Star:—'A seaman applied to M. H. Game, Esq., U. S. Consul, some days since, for relief, stating that he had deserted from a whaling ship, and on his passage to this port, landed on the Island of La Plata. During his search for birds' eggs he found what he supposed to be guano. Mr. Game chartered a vessel, and proceeded to the Island, where he found guano to exist, according to his estimate, to the amount of five hundred thousand tons. I understand the anchorage is good, the water smooth, and that vessels may lie in ten fathoms within forty yards of the base of the cliff. He has also discovered a large quantity to exist on another island. In fact, the discovery appears of such importance that it causes a great excitement.'

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the away of any party, we mean to tell all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty materials, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HERTS BROTHERS
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

Caution.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "Herts, Brothers' Patent, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are Prolapsus Uteri, or Falling of the Womb; Fluor Albus, or Whites; Chronic Inflammation of the Womb; Incidental Hemorrage or Flooding; Painful, Suppressed, and Irregular Menstruation, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the Uterine Catholicon, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

Morning Chronicle.

LIME-WATER IN BREAD MAKING.—In bread making the vinous fermentation sometimes passes into the acid, thus rendering the bread sour and disagreeable. Liebig has lately performed a series of experiments to improve the preparation of bread, from which he comes to the conclusion that the only effective and innocuous means of improving the qualities of wheat and rye bread, is lime-water. In making dough, he advises one pint of clear lime-water to be used for every five pounds of flour.

The lime-water is first added to the flour, after which a sufficient quantity of common water is added to work the whole into good common dough, the leaven being mixed with the water.

The lime-water prevents the bread becoming sour, and is a healthy ingredient. Lime can be prepared by stirring some quick lime in a vessel containing pure cold water, then allowing the sediment to settle. The clear is then to be poured off, and kept in bottles for use. No care is required respecting the quantity of lime to be stirred in the water, as the water will only take up a certain quantity of lime, and no more.

Those who use saleratus in the raising bread are recommended to cease its use, and employ pure baker's yeast and a little lime-water.

Our bones are composed of the phosphate of lime, and those who use fine flour, require for their health a little more lime than is contained in their food. Cream of tartar and carbonate of soda are far inferior to common yeast for making healthy bread.

More cream of tartar, carbonate of soda, and saleratus, are used in Boston in making bread, in one day, than are used in all Europe in one year.

It is the extravagant use of these articles that is the cause of our young men and young women having decayed teeth. In France, in the large cities, no one makes what we in this country call family bread; hence the government is very strict in their laws regulating the manufacture of bread by the bakers. Officers are appointed to keep a strict watch over them and if detected in using, or having in their bakeries ammonia, saleratus, or carbonate of soda, they are subject to a heavy fine. We should have such laws in this city; then those of us who have to patronize the bakers, would find the staff of life a much better support than it is.—Boston Transcript. HEALTH.

INTERESTING REVOLUTIONARY RELICS.—In addition to the human skeleton which was discovered by some workmen near Bunker Hill on Friday last, we are told that on the following day several others were dug up. Besides these ancient relics, there have been brought to light quite a display of implements of the battle field, such as muskets, balls, flints, and buttons, bearing the number of the regiment, which indicates that they were originally a part of the dress of the British Infantry. We have seen one of the flints produced, which in appearance somewhat resembles a petrified stone. It has been suggested that a few of the buttons be forwarded to Queen Victoria, as a 'memento' of the 'olden time,' to be placed in the British Museum.—Boston Courier.

FAIR HIT.—Messrs. S. D. and S. H. Carpenter, editors and proprietors of the Madison Patriot, happening to be both away from home on Tuesday, the 'imp' in charge smuggled the following 'local item' into the paper: "Wanted at this office, immediately, the services of two Carpenters. Good wages and permanent employment will be given."

SWISS PAUPERS.—Forty-five Swiss emigrants reported themselves on Wednesday in New York to the Commissioners of Emigration, as paupers, whose passage to this country had been paid by their native authorities. They were passengers in the ship Arcadia, wrecked sometime since at Sable Island, and came last from Boston, in the steamer State of Maine. They are to be sent back to Boston.

SINGULAR CASE OF A WRECK.—The propeller Cincinnati, while on her trip from Chicago to Oswego, was caught in the gale of week before last on Lake Huron. During the storm a heavy hawser, with a light line attached, which was coiled ready for use on the forecastle deck, was washed overboard by the sea. Soon after this, the engine of the propeller stopped on its centre, and all the efforts of the engineer and his men were insufficient to move it either way. On examination it was found that the hawser had been caught by the screw, and wound completely about it in numerous coils. Axes and chisels were procured, and the attempt was made to relieve the screw of its burden; but before this could be done, the unmanageable craft went ashore on the Canada side, where she now lies.—Probably no wreck was ever attributable to such a cause before.—Chicago Tribune.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1855.

MASSACHUSETTS. — The Caucus of the House of Representatives have nominated Henry Wilson, the Natick Cobbler, as Senator to Congress.

The Convention or Caucus was held with closed doors, and the reporters were kept out; nevertheless, by Clothes Line Telegraph or otherwise, the Boston Daily Advertiser learns that there were two ballotings for the candidate, the first an informal one, and the second the binding and decisive vote. Henry Wilson had a majority of the votes in each. We are enabled to lay the particulars before our readers.

The result of the preliminary or informal balloting, was as follows:—

Whole number of votes, 353; majority, 177. Henry Wilson of Natick, had 178; Alfred B. Ely of Boston, 50; Julius Rockwell of Pittsfield, 45; A. H. Bullock of Worcester, 22; N. F. Bryant of Barre, 16; N. P. Banks, Jr. of Waltham, 14; Charles Stearns of Springfield, 8; Scattering, 20.

The result of the second or decisive ballot was as follows:—

Whole number of votes, 346; majority, 174; Henry Wilson had 200; Alfred B. Ely, 57; A. H. Bullock, 30; Julius Rockwell, 27; N. F. Bryant, 12; N. P. Banks, Jr., 4; Scattering, 16.

And Henry Wilson having a majority of 54 over all others has accordingly received the nomination.

Tuesday next has been appointed for the election on the part of the House. No day has yet been assigned for the election by the Senate.

The Senators—all of whom are "Americans" or "Know Nothings,"—had agreed among themselves not to attend the caucus, and we learn that they have agreed to go into an election for U. S. Senator without making a nomination.

As in New Hampshire, so also in Massachusetts the choice of Senator requires the separate election of the same individual by the two branches of the legislature.

THE RUMORED SLAVE WARRANT.—We have made careful inquiry since the publication of our last paper, in order to ascertain the truth of the rumor which was current Wednesday respecting the issue of a warrant for the arrest of a fugitive slave in this city, and are informed on the best authority, that the whole matter exists only in rumor, and that the U. S. Marshal has no knowledge whatever of the issue of such warrant. We wish that we could divest ourselves of the idea that this whole matter has been got up by a cunning political intriguer for effect upon the Legislature in the choice of a United States Senator. But there is strong presumptive evidence that such is the case, and that the colored man, Jackson, who has been connected with this matter, and who, we believe, was actually hurried from the city Wednesday, was the deluded victim of misplaced confidence.—Boston Journal.

All this may be true; but the best authority in this case, is entirely unworthy of the slightest confidence. The marshals and their deputies go into a slave hunt pretending to apprehend the victim as a thief, or on some other pretext—and then, when he is caught, they hold him as a slave. No man in his senses can believe one word as to this matter on the testimony of men engaged in a business based on fraud and falsehood.

PIRATES IN THE EAST.

A Hong Kong letter of Nov. 10, says:

Two boat expeditions have already destroyed a number of junks at a village close to this place, where the United States steamer the Queen was fired upon while reconnoitering.

The affair mentioned in the above extract, in which Lieut. Preble of the U. S. Navy was engaged, was one of no little gallantry on his part. The steamer Queen, of which he was in command, was a chartered vessel, and was in no wise adapted for war purposes. It was armed, if we remember aright, with only two or three light guns, and the heavy guns of the piratical junks were too much for her. She made a gallant fight, however. One account states that early in November—while the American steamer Queen was cruising, she fell in with and was attacked by thirteen piratical junks. The writer says:

"The heavy armament of the junks compelled her to haul off, and in three hours she renewed the contest; but the 32 pounders from the junks would soon have made mincemeat of her, for while the pirates' shot went through her, her own fell short; so she was again, after the most persevering efforts of Lieut. Preble, obliged to abandon the action and steam off to Macao, where she fell in with Her Majesty's ship Encounter, which vessel immediately weighed, and stood away in company with the Queen. The pirate fleet remained at anchor, and threw some splendid shot at the Encounter, but her 120-pounders proved too much for them, for having received six shells from the large gun and a few 68 lb. shot, they abandoned their vessels and took to the hills; the junks were burned."

Another account says that 29 sail were destroyed on the 4th and 5th of November, by the Barracouta and Encounter, which two vessels had, in conjunction with the Styx, Spartan, and others, sailed for the West coast to root the miscreants out of their strongholds.

A despatch from Buffalo states that the lake and harbor had been free from ice for several days, and that the steamers were running [illegible]

ARE THERE FEW THAT BE SAVED? was an interesting inquiry some two thousand years ago, when men believed as many now believe, that all who do not reach a certain state of mind, where they can entertain "evangelical faith," will in eternity grow more and more miserable forever. This may be true; it is not our place to say that it is not; but if it be so, what proportion of the human race will be saved? It is estimated that there are seven hundred and fifty millions of men—or three fourths of all—who neither believe in the Bible or Christ, and consequently exercise no "evangelical faith." Of the two hundred fifty millions that remain, the estimate is, that not more than one in forty are attached to any church. There are more than that who are baptised or born into churches, but have no further care for them. This brings the number down to six or seven millions; and this must be further reduced by excepting the false from the true, which makes the number so small, that a celebrated divine has recently estimated the "Evangelical Christians" at one in every hundred of the race of men. It is be true, therefore, that upon a man's faith hangs his eternal destiny, and not more than one in a hundred have that saving faith, it is a fearful dispensation under which we live; and it is not wonderful that they asked Christ, and have been inquiring ever since, whether there were few or many to be saved.—Newburyport Herald.

CLAMS. — When in the tightness of the money market, all other banks are powerless to relieve the people, the clam bank in the south part of the city, is discounting liberally, and to the great benefit of a large number of persons out of other employments. Some dozen years since the towns of Ipswich and Rowley obtained special acts from the legislature, depriving our shell fishermen of digging clams upon their flats. Then the flats of the Merrimac were considered worthless, and all resorted to Ipswich river; but the very course taken by Ipswich and Rowley turned the current. To produce well, clam-flats need digging over, as much as corn or potato lands. The stopping of the fishermen at Ipswich ruined their flats, and clams are not now to be had there; while driving them upon our flats has invigorated and filled the grounds with fish. They will take several thousand dollars worth this winter, by their own homes; and the flats generally are worth as much now, acre for acre, as an ordinary farm forty miles in the country.—Newburyport Herald.

MANUFACTURE OF RUM.—Probably the only manufacture in the Northern States, which is carried on profitably at the present time, is that of Rum, and this was never before so profitable as at the present time. The distilleries all through the country have orders for many weeks and months ahead, at prices which yield them a hundred per cent. profit. This state of things has been occasioned by the prohibition of the distillation of grain in France and Belgium, which has caused large orders from those countries for Rum from the United States. Every packet ship from New York for France and Germany, now carries out all the Rum which can be had in the market as part of her cargo. The article sells at 47 to 48 cents a gallon, and the profit may easily be calculated when it is known that the molasses costs but little more than 20 cents a gallon, and 100 gallons of molasses will make 95 gallons of rum. A large portion of the molasses in the United States has just been brought up on French account. At Portland, 3,000 hhds. were purchased last week for shipment to France.—Newburyport Herald.

HOMESPUN SUITS.—The year 1809 was not the last or only year in which a member of Congress from the Berkshire district went to Washington in homespun cloth woven by his wife. In 1838 Mrs. George N. Briggs spun and wove a piece of cloth, for which she obtained a premium at the Berkshire Agricultural Fair, and this premium cloth was made into a dress coat and worn by her husband in Washington, where he had the reputation of being the only member for whom his wife spun and wove his coat. It was a beautiful piece of cloth.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN NEW YORK.—On Wednesday morning a procession of some two or three thousand foreigners passed the office of the New York Mirror, bearing banners upon which were inscribed mottoes of an incendiary character. One of them had the inscription "We want work and we will have it;" another bore the single word "Hunger;" and a third had the mysterious threat "The last recourse."

SOUND DOCTRINE.—In England, there are two maxims which generally prevail in society, and which might be adopted here with advantage; they are that: "It is vulgar to live above your means," or "To dress above your station." Columns might be written to enforce these sound common sense truths, but we will leave our readers to make the application.

AN OLD SALT.—Capt. John Johnson, of Falmouth, (fore side) has for fifty five years taken fishing licenses from our Custom House every season, and he looks yet as though he had many years more of good sea service in him. The captain is one of the old school of genuine hearty Salts, to whom the whistling of a gale is music, and the tossing of his craft on the 'angry billows,' but the gentle lullaby of the cradle.—Eastern Arms.

Some of the Free Soil members of the legislature were excited almost to a riot the other day, at seeing Asa O Burman, a Boston Policeman, well known for the part he took at the rendition of Simms and Burns, on duty at the State House; under Mr. Sergeant-at-Arms Stevens. Some were for trying his speed down the stone steps; others called the Sergeant-at-Arms to account; and one member prepared an order to be submitted to the House, "that the said Burman be forthwith dismissed from the service of the State"—Before the speaker had reached his chair, however, Mr. Stevens had removed him, and Asa was once more at leisure to renew his old business upon the first call. This is the second removal that has been made under the new dynasty, and both under the Sergeant-at-Arms. One for being named Murphy, and the other for catching a negro.—Newburyport Herald.

LOCAL.

CITY GOVERNMENT.—We learn that the majority of the Board of Aldermen have received an answer from the Court, through their counsel, which settles the whole question about the legality of this year's officers, confirming the City Marshal and all the rest in their places. This terminates an unpleasant controversy which has lasted two-thirds of the year, and defeated beneficial action on objects of improvement. We hope there will be good sense enough, now, in the City Councils, to remove the nuisances from the South Mill Pond, before warm weather.

TOWN CLOCK.

The old town clock is up and doing duty in the new tower; the new dials, facing Congress street and the Brick Market, mark the time as correctly as ever. Part of the wheels are in motion; and the rest will be in a few days; by which time we hope our city government, being cleaned, oiled and regulated, will go on like clock work.

Both those machines have been in limbo for some months past; and by a coincidence as singular as it is fortunate, both are now coming out bright together:—as good as new,—on the whole we think a little better.

☞ The charitable anonymous writer "under a cloak," who displays his utter ignorance of writing and spelling, and other christian graces, in his tirade against certain innocent, attractive and beautiful entertainments—is informed that though we hope we are not so suspicious and jealous as himself, yet we will guarantee the managers in the matter he particularly refers to, will each contribute a sum for the object he names, double any amount he will appropriate. So, come, down with your tin, and prove your love "for the poor." "Evil be to him who evil thinks."

☞ Prof. F. T. Russell will read from Shakspeare and the poets, before the Mechanics Lyceum, at the Temple, on Tuesday evening,—as Mr. Dana, the lecturer announced, is not able to attend, by reason of professional duties.

POETICAL LECTURES.—The Dover Gazette informs us that Rev. T. J. Greenwood, of that town, has in course of preparation, a Poem, to be divided into two lectures of about an hour and a quarter each, which will give a synopsis of all the Lectures which have been and are to be delivered before the Dover Lyceum the present season. Mr. Greenwood, who is somewhat celebrated as a Poet of rare excellence, has completed the first lecture, and will have the other in readiness immediately after the delivery of the last lecture before the Lyceum. We hazard the conjecture, (says the Gazette,) that this will be one of Mr. Greenwood's finest efforts in the line of literature; and interspersed as it will be with the flow of true and genuine wit, while at the same time it will comprehend the substance of some ten or a dozen lectures, we cannot doubt the reception it will meet with.

☞ The printers of Concord, N. H. propose to commemorate the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, on the 17th inst., by a Supper at the Phenix Hotel. We are under obligation to the Committee of Arrangement, for an invitation.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—New York, 13th. The country residence of John A. Haven, at Fort Washington, about 12 miles up the Hudson, was destroyed by fire, and three of his daughters—Mary, Grace and Sarah—aged from 14 to 22 years, perished in the flames.—Two of the girls were suffocated, and the other was got out in a dying state. It is reported that a servant girl also perished in the flames.

The fire broke out in the laundry early in the morning.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Tribune learns by despatches from Washington that the Government has received intelligence from the U. S. Consul at Havre, of the death of Hon. Mr. Mason, U. S. Minister to France.

SPAIN.—A letter from Madrid states that Mr. Soule was present at the discussion which took place in the chambers, on the subject of the sale of Cuba.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 12.

SENATE.—Mr. Toucey of Connecticut announced the death of Senator Norris of New Hampshire, and pronounced an appropriate eulogy.

Mr Cass of Michigan made a brief but feeling address.

The customary resolutions were then passed, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—A message was received from the Senate announcing the death of Senator Norris.

Messrs. Morrison, of New Hampshire, and Bayley of Georgia, eulogised the deceased.

Messrs. Morrison, Bayley, and Chandler Pennsylvania, were appointed a committee to act with that of the Senate, to accompany the remains to New Hampshire.

The customary resolutions were adopted, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Secretary of the Navy has recommended the Committee on Naval Affairs to report in favor of building seven new steam sloops-of-war.

It is thought here not improbable that the Governor of New Hampshire will appoint Henry F. French to fill the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Hon. Moses Norris.

Letters from Paris to the Senate Department, written at the latest moment at which they could be forwarded by the steamer Baltic, refer to the case of Hon. John Y. Mason, U. S. Minister to France as very critical, and state that his physicians entertain fears of the worst consequences.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Senate Committee to accompany the remains of Senator Norris to New Hampshire is composed of Messrs. Foote, Toucey, Fish, James and Dawson. The sub-committee was composed of Mr. James of the Senate, and Morrison of the House, who left this afternoon with the remains and the family of the deceased.

EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

JANUARY SESSION, 1855.—Rockingham Co. Edward P. Prescott, Deerfield; Samuel Spinney, Portsmouth; Josiah S. James, Raymond, Justices of Peace and Quorum.

John Rowe, Candia; George Stickney, John S. H. Frink, Epping; Gilman Folsom, Raymond; J. C. A. Wingate, Stratham; George F. Waters, Exeter, Justices of Peace.

John W. Dodge, Hampton Falls; John Sise, Portsmouth; Charles Richardson, Amherst, Notaries Public.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT AND PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE.—One of the most singular accidents, taking into consideration its results, that has ever taken place in the history of railroads, occured this morning to the train from Blackstone, on the Boston and New York Central Railroad. When the train was about eight miles from this city, and going at the rate of about twenty to twenty-five miles an hour, the forward axle of the tender broke, and singular to relate, a piece of the axle, nearly four feet in length, and weighing two hundred pounds, passed under the tender and coming up through the floor of the forward car, passed over the heads of all the passengers in that part of the car, and landed safely beside the stove in the middle of the car. The car was full of passengers, but not one was injured. The escape was most wonderful. The tender being coupled to the engine did not fall upon the ground, and the train was stopped after having proceeded a considerable distance. One of the detached wheels passed under the train and came up through the floor of the passenger car, tearing a hole in the floor and shattering a seat, but doing no other injury. The train was delayed about an hour and a half by the accident, which is the first, we believe, that has occurred upon this road.—Boston Journal.

NEW YORK, 12th.—REDUCTION OF WAGES. At a meeting of ship-owners and agents, held on 'Change yesterday, it was resolved unanimously to reduce the wages of ship carpenters and caulkers along shore, to $2 50 per day, instead of $3, and those of laborers to $1.50 instead of $1.75.

ILLNESS OF HON. JOHN Y. MASON.—The Evening Post learns by a private letter from Paris, that Hon. John Y. Mason, United States Minister to France, was struck with paralysis at 2 o'clock on the morning of the 27th of December, and was quite unwell when the letter was closed.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—The Southern Convention to-day discussed the Pacific Railroad project, and Albert Pike offered similar resolutions to those adopted at Charleston in April last. Resolutions were introduced and referred as follows:—Calling on Congress for an appropriation to aid in the construction of a railroad across the Peninsula of Florida; asking liberal appropriations from the States bordering on the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico; in favor of a material modification of the tariff; recommending Southern members of Congress to vote for the entire abolition of duty on railroad iron; and in favor of the Navy Yard at Memphis. Adjourned.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The House of Representatives of this State voted to day to go into an election for U. S. Senator on Monday, 38 to 30, the Nebraskaites voting nay.

COUNTERFEITS.—The Manchester Democrat says that counterfeit ten dollar bills on the Merchant's Bank in Lowell, are circulating in that vicinity. Their general appearance is somewhat blurred, and all the signatures are evidently the work of one person.

THERE is nothing better to cure Colds, prevent Fevers, and keep the system vigorous, and fit one to bear up against this cold weather, than to make free use of the "Vegetable Composition Powders." A good article can always be found at the Vegetable Medicine Store.

BLANKET FLANNELS—Wide White, Finished of extra quality for blanketing and other purposes at W. J. LAIGHTON'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—The Governor's message states the aggregate receipts into the state treasury last year to have been $6,666,000, payments $5,425,000; balance on hand $1,220,000. He alludes to the vote by the people relative to the prohibitory liquor law, and remarks that, although the vote shows that the people are averse to that particular measure, it gives no reason to suppose they are opposed to reformation. He recommends the revision of the license laws.

Architects will be glad to hear that a new process has been invented at Birmingham which makes brick nearly as hard as stone. One of the new bricks sustains a weight of 2625 lbs—a common hand made brick breaks at 645 lbs.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "American government for Americans." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for wide work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

HERTS BROTHERS
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also in Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE OF Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

Morning Chronicle.

THE EFFECTS OF FIRES ON BUSINESS.—It is a remarkable fact, that the present depressed state of business resembles that of 1837, and seems to have succeeded very similar events. Thus, the great fire in New York took place in December, 1835, and the next season, 1836, was a very unfruitful one; after which came the flour riots the succeeding winter, dear provisions, a perfect panic in the money market, and a prostration of all regular business. During the past year, the losses paid by Marine Insurance in this city alone exceed $12,000,000, while the losses by fire, and stormes on land, have not been less than $18,000,000; and, to crown all, the crops (as in 1836) failed in many extensive districts of our country. We cannot but consider that the great amount of property destroyed by fire is a powerful element in detracting from the wealth of our country, thereby tending to retard its progress, and make our people poorer.

If we allow that only $10,000,000 per annum have been destroyed by fire since 1836, and this we think is not above the average amount, the sum total is $180,000,000 of solid wealth destroyed in that period—eighteen years. Houses, goods and grain are solid wealth. Insurance companies do not economize the wealth of our country; the payment of insurance money for property consumed by fire does not bring back that property to the community; it is gone, and never can return. It appears to us that the accumulation of the great losses by fires experienced in our country must affect all kinds of business; and this, we think, has been overlooked by those papers which have been commenting upon the causes of the present depressed state of business. We say that it is only one element of loss, but a very important one; and we fondly hope that this view of the question may lead to the adoption of more efficient remedies for the prevention of fires.—Scientific American.

CURE FOR THE "SCARLET FEVER" OF LADIES.—An officer in the Crimea gives the following recipe for the cure of a fashionable disease among romantic young ladies. It would seem an equally appropriate remedy for the war spirit of young men:

"We are out here soldiering with the 'gilding off,' and many a young gentleman would be forever cured of his love of arms if he could but see one day's fighting, and have one day's parade of the men who do it. Fortunate it is for us we have youth on whom to rely, and that there are in old England men 'who delight in war,' and who will be ready to incur privation, danger, and death at her summons. As to young ladies suffering from 'scarlet fever,'—the pupils of the 'L. E. L.' school, who are forever thinking of heroes, and champions, of 'crowning conquerors' brows with flowers,' and wishing for 'Arab steeds and falchions bright'—if they could but for one instant have stood beside me and gazed into one of the pits where some thirty 'clods of the valley,' all covered with scarlet and blue cloth, with lace and broidery, and blood, were lying side by side, and staring up to heaven with their sightless orbs, as they were about to be consigned to the worms, they would feel the horrors of their hero worship, and would join in prayer for the advent of that day—if come it ever may—when war shall be no more, and when the shedding of blood shall cease."

A PATRIOTIC OFFER.—The Patriotic Fund now gathering in England calls out many eccentricities, and one of them is an advertisement in the Oxford Chronicle, which is as follows:

"A widower, of good character, with five children, offers to marry the widow of any soldier slain at Alma. For particulars apply to Mr. Higgs, draper and tailor, South Stoke, Oxon. The above offer is to be considered the contribution to the Patriotic Fund of the widower."

DIDN'T GET MARRIED.—Less than two years since, a lady and gentleman, residents of a neighboring town, were engaged to be married. When the time for the union arrived, however, the fair one proved false, and refused to fulfil her part of the obligation.—Since then they both came to this city, where the engagement was renewed, and the lady was promising herself the bliss of a bride. Last Sunday was the appointed time for the twain to become one flesh; and the Church the place of the ceremony. After service in the morning, more than fifty persons waited to witness the scene, and the priest was at the altar, when the man quietly remarking to the lady—"before, I wanted to get married and you sacked me, and now you want to get married and I do the same,"—left the house, to the no small amazement of all parties, and the great disappointment of the spectators present, to say nothing of the lady.—Newburyport Herald.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1855.

AN INCENDIARY SENATOR.—The Boston Courier seems to think there is some probability that Henry Wilson will be sent to the Senate—and utters its tones of warning thus:

The effect of the election of such an incendiary politician will first be felt in the State of Virginia. In the "Ancient Dominion," Henry A. Wise, the Democratic candidate for Governor of the State, has taken the stump in the cause of himself and his party, and in opposition to the "Know Nothings," whom he denounces as Abolitionists, and enemies to the South. If the "Know Nothings" of Massachusetts shall elect Henry Wilson to the office of United States Senator, they will furnish a weapon to destroy their friends in Virginia more potent than any one which can be handled by Mr. Wise, though he is one of the most able and eloquent speakers in the United States. They will furnish an argument against themselves which will fill the lodges of their brethren with mourning.

Perhaps it will be even so: and suppose it should,—what need the Courier care for that? We thought it was a whig paper, Webster whig; and though we know Mr Wilson was not one of its favorites, yet we did not know that it had any special favor for the Know Nothings, or that it cared a straw whether their lodges were filled with mourning or feasting.

The fatherly care of the Courier for the Know Nothings, seems to us very like the fraternal grief of the Eastern Argus over the lamented demise of the Whig party. Both have an appearance, which, to our view, borders closely on the ludicrous.

For the Chronicle.

DEMOCRACY AND CHRISTIANITY.

Messrs. Editors:—I noticed in the account of one of the late so-called Democratic Conventions in New Hampshire that the speeches at the convention were mainly directed against the Know Nothings. One speaker said: "we can judge of the religious honesty of the Know Nothings from their acts in Massachusetts, where such a man as Theodore Parker, an infidel, came within fifteen votes of being elected Chaplain of the House under their control." Just think of it,—the Democratic party of New Hampshire zealous for the cause of religion, and fearing lest infidel sentiments should be propagated! Did you ever recall the old Bible story of Naboth's Vineyard in connection with our present political condition? Do you remember how that unscrupulous queen Jezebel wrought the destruction of the innocent in order to take possession of his heritage—How she proclaimed a solemn fast, and under the pretence of a sacred regard for the cause of religion accomplished her satanic purpose? I greatly fear that New Hampshire is not without her Jezebels.

Now I apprehend that it was not Parker's infidelity that the Know Nothings approved, but his fidelity to the cause of liberty. There are many who have no sympathy with Mr. Parker's theology, who, nevertheless, cannot but approve and admire his faithfulness in rebuking sin. They are heart sick of parties called Democratic, whose principal business at Washington is to do the contemptible work of the Slaveocracy—and at home to obtain and keep the offices and trig the wheels of reform. They are heart sick too, of those degenerate northern ministers and Doctors of Divinity who are laboring to prove "the righteousness of slavery as a part of God's disciplinary establishments on earth," and to check the growing repugnance of their people against the system,—or who, if not doing this, are acknowledging in their own life, the portraiture drawn by the prophet Isaiah of the watchmen of Israel in his day; "they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber. They all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter."

Now it seems to me, Messrs. Editors, that to see the people rally around the minister, who, like Luther, will rebuke the sins of his age, evinces in them a sacred regard for the principles of liberty and of true democracy. It proves too that while they distrust the religion of the priest and Levite, they have a growing faith in that of the Good Samaritan.

I must acknowledge that I have had but little acquaintance with the Know Nothings, and am not aware what the result of the movement is to be, but I rejoice in its success so far as it breaks up and scatters to the winds the old parties. This it seems now to be doing, and it is believed by many who have extensive means of information, that at the coming election they will give the so called Democracy of New Hampshire such a routing as the party leaders little expect. It is to be presumed that the office-holders from the White House down, will freely expend their money to make a show at their Conventions—but the people will no longer pull in their traces—they are not to be turned aside from their purpose. The fact is, the people desire a change, for they have learned that Democracy consists in something else than making and sustaining Fugitive Slave Laws, and in violating solemn compacts. ☞

SAD PARTICULARS.

In the Chronicle of Monday morning, we gave a brief despatch from New York stating the fact that Mr. John A. Haven's house, near that city, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning, and that three of his daughters perished in the flames. We have now, in the New York papers of Saturday evening, and in the Herald of Sunday morning, some additional particulars.

The owner and occupant of the House, was our former townsman, John Appleton Haven, eldest son of the late Mr. John Haven of this city. His wife, thus bereaved of her children, was a daughter of the late Henry S. Langdon, Esq., also of this place.

The house was situated near the site of the old fort Washington, about as far up the island as 180th street, and with its grounds was known as a residence by the name of Waldesfield.

The Herald says the building was a frame structure, built in the modern Italian style, a large portion of which was constructed fifteen years ago, and additions built this summer, at a cost of about fifteen thousand dollars, which was about one-half the value of the whole, a portion of which was insured. By the efforts of the neighbors and the absence of wind, the fire was confined to the main edifice. The building was one of the most complete of the very costly mansions in this, the handsomest part of the island of New York.

The Evening Post describes the house as an irregular structure, built of wood, about 125 feet front and 40 feet deep. It was situated on an eminence, at a distance of a quarter of a mile from the Hudson river. The house and furniture, all of which were consumed, were valued at twenty thousand dollars.

The fire was discovered about 4 o'clock on Saturday morning, Jan. 13. The alarm was first given by Mr. Haven himself, who states that he was first awakened by a feeling of suffocation, and on looking for the cause found his bed-room full of smoke. He immediately gave the alarm, and roused all the members of his family and the servants. The family at first got all safely out of the house. Four daughters of Mr. H. returned to procure clothing, three of whom were taken out, and one perished in the flames. Of the three taken out two died. The names of the young ladies were Miss Sarah Langdon Haven, Ann Mary Haven, Grace Dubois Haven; and Anna Langdon Haven. The latter has recovered. The first named has not been found. Mary and Sarah were twins, and about twenty years of age. Grace was about seventeen. Thus have three interesting young people been suddenly taken away out of a family of seven.

The Evening Post states that Mr. Haven supposes the fire to have originated from the registers of the furnace getting overheated. Others have surmised that it resulted from the carelessness of some German servant girls in his employ, who were frolicking in the laundry up to a late hour that night, and long after the rest of the family had retired. They were met, all dressed and hooded, on the road, by one of the neighbors, who was on her way to the scene of the disaster, very soon after the alarm was given, from which it is inferred that the fugitive domestics had not been to bed at all, but that the fire had occurred through some carelessness of theirs, and they became frightened and ran away.

The Herald of Monday morning says, "the fire, it is generally believed, originated from the carelessness of two of the servants, who had been employed in smoothing, and who, it is supposed, left the clothes so near to the grate that they caught fire. There is, however, no certainty as to the origin of it."

"What the women of the State will say of the message was indicated in the gallery while it was reading. An intelligent looking woman was listening with intense interest as it went on, but when the recommendation came out to imprison runsellers for the first conviction, she exclaimed, "AMEN TO THAT!"—Portland Inquirer.

This "intelligent looking woman" was no less a personage than a widow lady from Oxford, who has been in constant attendance on the Legislature for two sessions past, and who is thought to be somewhat out of tune in her "intellectuals!"—Argus.

Very likely: and by no means improbable that she was made a widow, and rendered insane, by the intemperance of beloved but unfortunate relations. If she was not, others have been.

CLOSING STORES EVENINGS.—The Lowell News regrets that an effort which has been made in that city to close the dry goods and other stores three evenings in a week, is likely to fail, through the cupidity of some of the dealers. The editor thinks three evenings out of six, would be amply sufficient to accommodate all trade; and draws the not very charitable inference, that "the opposition to the measure arises from those proprietors who prefer to make sales by imperfect light."

It is said to be an indisputable fact that, taking the whole United States together, much more money is expended annually, for the single article of cigars, than for all the common schools in the Union.

LOCAL.

FOR THE POOR.—The Dover Gazette gives an account of a brilliant entertainment by the "Young Men's Benevolent Society" in that town, on Wednesday evening last—and says it was one of the best conducted and most successful efforts of the kind ever undertaken in Dover. The entertainment comprised tableaux, vocal and instrumental music, (including a beautiful Ode written for the occasion, by Rev. T. J. Greenwood,) with refreshments, fancy articles, &c., in the greatest profusion.

It is already announced that a similar gathering is to be held during the present week at Jefferson Hall, in this city, for a similar purpose—which, we doubt not, will be equally successful in all respects.

DR. JOSEPH H. SMITH, of Dover, N. H., has been appointed by the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, Special Examiner of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, &c., for the port of Boston, vice Charles H. Peirce, removed.

FIRE IN HAMPTON FALLS.—On Monday morning, 8th inst., about eight o'clock, the school house near Joseph Cram's residence, was discovered to be on fire in the Hall over the school room, and before the citizens could assemble in sufficient numbers to prevent, was totally destroyed. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The house was built some ten years since at a cost of $600. No insurance.—Exeter News Letter.

A MILK THIEF.—A vagabond stole a two gallon can of milk from Franklin Hayes' sleigh, on Monday last, but in fleeing, with his spoil, down the descent at the head of Lovering & Jewell's wharf, his feet slipped, and he fell with the can uppermost. Before he could regain his feet, the scamp was well drenched with the contents of the can.—Exeter News Letter.

MORTALITY.—The deaths in Brentwood in 1854, were about thirty, being more than double the average number for thirty years past, and supposed to be the largest number in one year since the town was settled, being about one to every thirty persons in town.

The Lecture before the Dover Lyceum on Tuesday evening, 9th inst., was delivered by Rev. Miss Antoinette Brown, upon the subject of Woman's Rights, of which she is a strong impersonation. The lecture was interesting to all, and if it presented points too strongly defined, it was not without a flow of genial humor and wit. Miss Brown is rather an attractive personage, and with all her peculiar traits of character, is as modest in her deportment as one may well be in the position she occupies.—Dover Gazette.

THE SHIP "BREWSTER" was launched from the yard of Messrs. Currier & Townsend Newburyport on Monday morning. This ship is of the first class, built of white oak, thoroughly fastened—a medium clipper, of superior model for sailing and carrying, intended for the freighting business, and to be commanded by Capt. Wm. Clark. She is owned, by the builders, the commander, and others.

A horse belonging to Mr William Shaw, of Newburyport on Thursday last became frightened and ran away with the vehicle to which he was attached, smashing it to pieces, and ending his mad career, by attempting to cross a stream of water, and breaking through the ice. The horse was purchased by Mr. Shaw last summer, at a cost of $200.

Rev. W. W. Eells, of the Harris street Presbyterian Church, Newburyport, has tendered his resignation as pastor of that society.

CLERICAL ANECDOTE.—A clergyman in one of our neighboring towns, wished to move one of his buildings a short distance, and took the hereinafter mentioned cheap and convenient method of accomplishing his purpose. The Sabbath before Thanksgiving he read, as usual, the Governor's annual Proclamation for a day of Thanksgiving and praise. After giving notice of a meeting to be held in the forenoon, and adding his own personal request to that of the Executive for his congregation to refrain from all labor on the day designated, he closed in this wise:—"If any of the brethren are at leisure in the afternoon, I should be pleased to see them at my house, as I intend to take that opportunity, should friends enough assemble, to move my barn!" WOODLAND.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—Rev. J. L. Stevens, pastor of the Universalist Church of Saco and Biddeford, has purchased of Jas. Baker, Esq., his interest in the Kennebec Journal, and the paper will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. Stevens & Blaine. We suppose this arrangement will carry with it the removal of Mr. Stevens from our place. The great interest which he has taken in the moral and social well being of our community has endeared him to a large circle of friends, who, while they regret the necessity which has transferred him to a wider field of usefulness, will follow him with their good wishes and desires for his success in the new and not always pleasant path in which he is now to walk. Mr. Stevens has been a long, and laborious worker in the field of temperance, and hates with the undying hatred of a freeman, all forms of vice and oppression. He is a ready and vigorous writer, as well as a man of keen perceptive qualities. His talents cannot fail to conduct him to a high place in the new profession upon which he has entered.—Biddeford Union.

Some years ago an individual peregrinated through the country as "Seth Boone, the Kentucky whistler." It appears that his real name was Charles F. Johnson, and that he died a few days since in Boston, where he kept a public house.—Lowell News.

The steamer Northern Light arrived at New York on Monday from Aspinwall, bringing seven days later news from California, 227 passengers and $538,000 on freight. No news of importance.

☞ The Governor of Massachusetts, by advice of Council, has disbanded all the Irish companies in the Commonwealth, six or seven in number. No company of foreigners should ever have been organized among us. We have frequently expressed this opinion, within the last two years.

LIQUOR BILL.—New York, Jan. 13.—The majority of the committee on the temperance question, in the Assembly, are prepared to report a prohibitory liquor law, of which the following are the main features:—The sales of intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal, mechanical and sacramental purposes, is entirely forbidden; citizens desiring licenses to sell for the above purposes are to be appointed by county judges, one in each election district, and must furnish securities in the sum of $1000 each, not to transgress the law.—They are to register the particulars of all sales, and report monthly a sworn copy of the same. Fines varying from $50 to $500, and imprisonment for various terms, from thirty days to six months, are the penalties for the infringement of the laws. Search warrants are to be issued upon any complaints charging persons with selling or keeping liquors in violation of the law. Dwelling houses are to be exempted from search, unless the occupants shall have previously been convicted of selling intoxicating drinks. Informants are to receive one half of all fines collected, and the other half is to be applied for the benefit of the poor. The other parts of the bill, which is lengthy, refer mainly to the means of enforcing it, &c. The bill will take effect on the first of May next.

CONNECTICUT.—The Middletown News, which has hitherto opposed the prohibitory liquor-law, in alluding to the recent election in that city, confesses that "there was less disorder and drunkenness than usual at the close of the day"—and adds: "Whatever may be said of the Maine Law, it has been instrumental in effecting a considerable external change in the habits of many—at least we do not see as many instances of intoxication as formerly."

The New London District Preachers' meeting of the M. E. Church, at its recent session, unanimously

Resolved, that having come together from all parts of the eastern portion of the State, we most cheerfully unite our testimony in favor of the efficiency of our new prohibitory liquor law, and unanimously declare that its success has been hitherto marked and triumphant.

A UNITED STATES CITIZEN IN AN AUSTRIAN DUNGEON.—The N. Y. Herald says that it is now about eighteen months since a naturalized citizen of the United States, named Martin Speer, a resident of Brooklyn, left his home upon a visit to his native land, Saxony, protected, as he supposed, by a passport from the Department of State in Washington.—After the prosecution of his most important business, which was the looking after an inheritance which had been left him, Mr. Speer proceeded to Hungary to inquire about the family of a Hungarian emigrant named Zagoni, who had made proposals for the hand of his daughter in Brooklyn. He waited upon a high judicial officer in Debriczia, and presented to him a letter from Zagoni, which was no sooner read by him than the unfortunate man was arrested, confined in a dungeon, and finally sentenced without evidence of guilt other than was contained in the letter, of whose contents he was ignorant, to ten years hard labor in irons.

Thus goes the story in the N. Y. Herald; if the facts are stated correctly, and if, as is stated, all interpositions by our minister, Mr. Jackson, at the Austrian court, are unavailing, it is highly desirable that the matter should be promptly taken in hand by our government.—Boston Journal.

This House is within thirty minutes' ride of Portsmouth, and having been favored with an extensive patronage for the past two years, is now well known to the public.

SUDDEN DEATH AT THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION.—Coroner Smith was called Tuesday afternoon, to hold an inquest on the body of Elizabeth Stetson, at the House of Correction, South Boston. She was found lying on the floor of her cell, dead, blood flowing from her mouth and nose. She was 18 years of age. Verdict—Death from bleeding at the lungs.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.—The sentence of Murphy, convicted of the murder of his wife, in Fall River, has been commuted to imprisonment for life in the State Prison. Murphy has been confined in the House of Correction in this city during the past year. He was taken to Charlestown yesterday afternoon, under the charge of officer Porter.—New Bedford Standard, Jan. 9.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year; regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary principle.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them or to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HERTS BROTHERS
AMALGAMATED HIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE OF Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTER TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT AND MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FIAGERAS, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

GOV. MORRILL.

The new Governor of Maine is the first who has been elected especially and chiefly as a Maine Law Governor. His message contains the following passage on the subject, which is worthy of attention.

The law for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops has been very fully discussed by the people of this State, and become a question of prominence and deep interest in our elections. The result proves conclusively that the people are by a very large majority in favor of sustaining that law—a happy verdict for the cause of humanity throughout the land. Had Maine declared against the law, her decision would have been felt most disastrously by other communities, where strong efforts are being made to obtain similar legislation. That any law which human wisdom can devise, will at once rid the public of an evil so vast and deep-rooted as intemperance, should not be expected; but that the traffic which produces it, can be circumscribed and controlled by penal enactments, as surely and as legitimately as other crimes, there can be no reasonable doubt. And it is equally clear that the people are determined to pursue the effort faithfully, and give the law a fair trial. They see and feel the terrible ravages the traffic in intoxicating drinks has made on society and its best interests. They feel deeply the loss of many valued citizens, who are constantly being hurried to the inebriate's grave. They fully realize that the sale and use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage, are in direct conflict with the health, morals, industry, peace and happiness of society, and that this fact is so apparent, that those individuals who insist on selling in violation of law should be made to feel its consequences. It is too late to plead that making men inebriates, or giving them the facilities to become such, is no crime; none but the more depraved or reckless will support a doctrine so pernicious and absurd; and it is believed that few are now engaged in the traffic, in this State, except those persons who are alike indifferent to public sentiment, the demands of humanity, and their own best interests. Persuasive efforts having been exhausted on this class of men, the law should be enforced in protection of society and in mercy to the offender. This important statute has not had a fair trial. Executive officers have been culpably negligent in seeing it enforced. Too often has the officer, whose duty it was to honor and execute it as the law of the Commonwealth, been found more willing to exculpate the offender than to bring him to justice. Such official dereliction of duty emboldened violators of the law to repeated offences, which they would not have committed, with the full assurance that the law was to be faithfully administered. This error must be corrected, the law must be faithfully enforced. The people demand that grogshops be closed, whether found in spacious saloons and popular hotels, where the temptation is presented in the most alluring form, or in the filthy cellar, or den, where poor, degraded humanity is made loathsome to the last degree.

No man sells ardent spirits in violation of this law through the promptings of patriotism or humanity; he has no higher motive than a reckless or sordid love of gain; he should be held strictly accountable for the mischief his traffic produces. Let this be done, and none will continue in the business except such as are madly bent on suicide. I would suggest the importance of so amending the law as to impose imprisonment for the first offence. The penalty for the first conviction is trifling, and the schemes devised to avoid detection are so numerous that many sellers, undoubtedly, realise large amounts from the business before a conviction is had.

Let the prison be opened for their reception and reformation, as it is for offenders of less magnitude, even the unhappy victims of their traffic, and be assured its prospective, chastening influences will be felt more restrainingly than merely taking by fine, from the pockets of the delinquents, a trifling part of the money the business had given them.

The willingness of rumsellers in other States to supply those in the same business, and the facilities afforded by steamboats and other common carriers to bring liquors into this State for unlawful purposes, call for such improvement in the law as shall meet this prolific source of evil, and cut off a great artery which is pouring the poisonous liquid into this State. Other amendments may be desirable to give efficiency to the law, and meet the modes of evasion which the ingenuity and cupidity of determined violators have invented.

The compound plummet, invented by Lieut. Brooke, U. S. N., is so contrived that, on touching the bottom of the sea, the lead detaches itself from the line, but leaves a small iron bolt which will bring up a specimen of the bottom. Prof. Bailey, of West Point, has examined by the microscope a specimen brought up from the depth of 12,000 feet, and found it made up entirely of minute shells, without a particle of mud or gravel.

PRISON PUNISHMENT, No. 5.

As our laws and governments now are, there is nothing stands so poor a chance as a small offence.

If a young man commits a crime so small that he will be sent to States prison for a year or two, and yet so large that he must be sent there for some time, he is ruined for life. But if his first crime is such that he may be sent there for ten years, he stands a chance to come out a gentleman, after a year or two.

A man may pass counterfeit money, in the smallest amount that we may consider punishable by imprisonment, and receive a sentence for the shortest term possible under the law, and there is no ground to hope that he will be pardoned out. The term is so short that a pardon is out of the question, if his guilt remains unquestioned. He comes out disgraced for life, and his political privileges sacrificed. He would rather be in the prison than out, with such circumstances. The law shut him up, for a year; and branded his cheek, for life. It does not liberate him a man, with the rights of a man. It gives him personal freedom, while politically and socially it draws a fetter upon his hand and upon his soul.

Had he committed a heavy forgery, for his first crime, or passed large bills of counterfeit money, he must have been sentenced, if found guilty, to a long term of imprisonment. In this long time, a careful course of conduct would have gained the favor of his keepers, and of every officer in the prison. His friends could undertake for him, and petition for his pardon. They could present to those who hold the pardoning power the evidence that it was his first crime—the proofs of his uniform conduct in prison, &c. &c., and he would be pardoned out.

He comes out a gentleman, and entitled to all the rights and privileges of a man. A pardon does every thing for a man.

Now this is the way our prison system, and our system of imprisonment works.

Few men engage in great villanies who are not men of some address. By this they accomplish their ends at first, and by the same they get out of the scrape at last.

Very few men are favored with pardons, except among the class of criminals convicted of large crimes, and sentenced for long terms.

There are many facts which might be stated, to show that the class of criminals whose crimes are smallest in the eye of the law; are the most hopelessly punished of any class.

There is nothing like justice in our present system; and its power either to prevent or punish crime is poor indeed. It is time that it had a thorough overhauling.

Will the K. N.'s of New Hampshire give us somebody for the next year's government that will touch this matter a little? The small rogues get sorely punished, while the great ones get away.

For one, I question whether any man ever ought to be sent to the state prison, and then let out without pardon. If he is not fit to use the rights of a man, he ought to stay there and work until he is fit. C.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Riding in the cars a few days since, we encountered a queer and motley crew, comprising a grumbling old Dutchman, a number of gentlemen from the backwoods, and several fellows who amused themselves and the rest of the passengers, by quizzing both Dutchman and Hoosiers. The history and genealogy of several Jonathans, Obadiahs, Dorothys, and Nabbys, was related, interspersed with many ludicrous and laughable anecdotes. As the train was moving at the slow rate of ten miles an hour, these stories served to beguile the tedium of the journey.

One old codger, who probably had never seen salt water, attempted to describe the manner in which vessels are sometimes engulfed by the waves of the ocean: says he, "they go round, and round, and round, three times, and then down they go, in a hole." He doubtless alluded to the Maelstrom on the coast of Norway, which he had probably read about in Peter Parley's Geography. He looked as grave and wise as an owl, while giving us the valuable information; and when he finished, the old Dutchman made a comment we think it unnecessary to repeat.

Another, who was full of talk, gave us an account of the manner in which he was educated. One of his teachers—the first he had—could not write, and hardly read; and the second and last one he had, was so deaf that all questions asked of him, and all answers given by his scholars to him, had to be written out on a slate. We should not think an inability to read and write, and deafness, on the part of a pedagogue, would facilitate the progress of his pupils; but, judging from the English the old gentleman used, we cannot for a moment doubt the truth of his story.

WOODLAND.

PRAYERS FOR THE ALLIES.—Prayers have been offered for the Allies by all the Christian denominations in Constantinople. A good story is told in connection with these prayers:—

During the 'season of prayer' alluded to, a Turkish gentleman of liberal feelings called upon one of the highest Mohammedan ecclesiastical authorities of the capital, to tell him what the Christian sects and communities were doing, and to ask whether the same ought not to be done in all the mosques. The worthy Mussulman replied, 'No, my son, we cannot pray for the success of the arms of the Sultan's Infidel Allies, for the blessed Koran clearly forbids any such condescension.'

'What, then, may we do with propriety for so much good feeling on their part?' inquired the more tolerant follower of the Prophet.

'We may, with every propriety,' added the ecclesiastic, 'offer up our devout prayers of gratitude to Allah, who has been pleased to bring about a state of things, in our cause, wherein one kind of Infidel dog is fast killing off another kind, so that we may soon expect to see the whole Infidel race destroyed.'

THE MAYOR OF CINCINNATI AND THE LIQUOR BUSINESS.—The Cincinnati Organ gives quite an amusing account of the operations of the Mayor of that city. It seems that they have had the same sort of difficulties to contend with that we have had here. The Mayor, shortly after some liquor trials, at which the witnesses swore that they knew nothing of the proprietorship of certain establishments, suddenly entered a saloon in which were a number of gentlemen, two of whom were 'rattling the bones' to decide who should pay the drinks.

'Who keeps this place?' asked His Honor. All were silent. Each individual was then interrogated, and promptly denied the occupancy; the last one addressed was a great burly, stalwart negro. He too declared himself not interested in the place.

'Very well, then,' said His Honor, 'I find these premises open, but without occupant or owner; it is my duty to take possession in the name of the city. Gentlemen, you can leave as soon as you please.'

One by one the party dropped out; the negro being the last on the threshhold of the door, 'the sober second thought' overtook him, and he concluded to own up and take the consequences.

On another occasion, the Mayor stepped into a groggery, and found the bar-keeper pouring out the poison for a customer; seizing the glass, he asked, 'What is this?' 'Molasses and water, sir,' replied the toddy stick. The Mayor smelled it, and threw it out. 'What's in the bottle?' he asked. 'Molasses and water,' was the reply. After tasting that, he threw it out; and so proceeded with decanters, jugs, demijohns, &c. Having got through the column, he remarked—'Molasses and water must be cheap. Send your bill to my office and I will settle it.' Of course, no bill was sent.

THE LADIES' REPOSITORY, for January, 1855, was received several days ago, and has been read through with much interest and pleasure. The editor is Rev. Henry Bacon, a man of rare talent: the publisher is Abel Tompkins, Boston. It is a monthly magazine, at $2 per annum.

"THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION OF OUR BLESSED LADY."—Bishop Hughes's Freeman, in announcing the settlement of that vexed question, says:

The glorious news has reached us that on the 8th of December, Pope Pius IX., of immortal renown, in presence of the Cardinals and Princes of the Church, declared it an Article of Divine Faith, that the mother of God, our Most Blessed Lady, was Conceived without Original Stain.

Besides the immaculaticity, this seems to settle another point, viz: what original sin is, or "original stain." And we may expect great accessions to the priests and nuns, if the Catholics wish to avoid original sin.—There was an old fellow who decided that original sin was rheumatism, and gout was actual transgression; but five hundred bishops, called from all Christian lands by Pius IX., have declared that he was mistaken, and hatched out the above new idea, after sitting in solemn conclave for five hours a day, during four days. A mighty work they have accomplished surely! It always seems wicked to make light of what man call religion; but there is something so supremely ridiculous in this, that we laugh right out at the thought of it. Who would not have given a quarter to have looked in upon those 500 mitred and robed ecclesiastics—smooth, sleek, well-fed priests, gravely discussing this matter, day after day! Sometimes we think the world has advanced a little since the middle ages, and occasionally liberal-minded protestants defend the Romish church, on the ground that it is not now what it was a thousand years ago; but this happened in December, 1854, and was agreed upon by the most learned divines, from all countries. Why if it had been a freak of Cotton Mather's time, and a decision of a council that considered it in connection with witchcraft, it would be universally ridiculed; but this proves that Rome is unchangeable. Wonder if the time will never come that the world will outgrow such childishness!—Newburyport Herald.

ARMED RESISTANCE.—We learn that Col. B. F. Butler of Lowell will resist the disbanding of the Irish companies in his regiment; we presume by refusing to transmit the order, and thus bringing himself before a Court Martial. It is said that Col. Butler, who is one of the most eminent lawyers in the State, is confident that there is nothing in the Constitution or the laws of the State which gives the Governor the power which he has exercised. We believe that the Supreme Court has a supervisory power over the proceedings of Court's Martial, so that if the reports we hear are correct, and resistance is made, the highest tribunal of the State will be called upon to give judgment. Col. Nelson, who, as Chairman of the committee of the Council, gave the advice to the Governor, is also a lawyer of eminence.—Boston Telegraph.

The price of hay at New Orleans has declined from $42 to $28 a $30 per ton.

LOCAL.

THE SOCIAL GATHERING, which commences at Jefferson Hall this evening, is expected to be one of the most pleasing entertainments of the kind ever offered in Portsmouth. No pains has been spared on the part of the managers—(who were the first to bring out tableaux here last winter)—to render the arrangements complete. The Hall is most tastefully decorated, in a style differing from any previous trimming; the tables will be well-filled with refreshments and varieties, the tableaux are excellent; and there will be a full attendance. See advertisement.

THE CONCERT by the New England Bards, of which we have heard so much said and sung of late, comes off at the Temple this evening. Mr. Whitehouse is certainly a most beautiful singer; and hits roupe is highly spoken of everywhere.

☞ Lecture on the Prophesies, this evening, at St. John's Chapel, by the Rector, Rev. Dr. Burroughs.

☞ The City Missionary acknowledges the receipt of five dollars through the Post Office,—for the poor.

☞ The Social Gathering opens this evening at Jefferson Hall. Tableaux, singing, refreshments, &c.—by a full company. We were in the Hall a few moments Monday evening, during a rehearsal of Tableaux, and can assure our readers that this feature of the entertainment alone, will richly repay those who attend. See advertisement.

☞ Concert, by the New England Bards, this evening, at the Temple. Mr. Whitehouse conductor. They are well worth hearing. See advertisement.

"OLD FOLKS' CONCERTS."

An Old Folk's Concert was given on Monday evening in Portland; and is to be repeated.

A similar concert is announced in Exeter, to come off this evening.

A meeting has been called in Manchester to revive the Old Music; and the papers there publish the programme of the Old Folks' second Concert in Portsmouth, as a sort of pattern for their own.

The "Old Folks" Choir in this city have a rehearsal this evening. See Committee's Notice.

REMEMBER THE POOR.

Messrs. Editors:—I received during the last week, by express, from a friend in the country, a package of comfortable children's garments, which I immediately sent to the City Missionary for distribution. The package was accompanied by the following note, which I will request you to publish, in the hope that many others, both in our city and in the country around us, may be inspired by so worthy an example to go and do likewise. What numbers of "shivering little ones" might be warmly clad from the garments now laid away as past service by many families in our midst. Permit me to recommend to the young ladies of Portsmouth who may hitherto have had no experience of the happiness to be found in working with their own hands for the needy, that they look about their houses, and gather up what "unappropriated articles" they can find, and fashion them into suitable forms to meet the wants of the suffering around them. They will find themselves, in such employments, possessed of a source of happiness which has never yet been found in the ordinary channels of earthly pleasure.

"My Dear Friend:—My heart has been stirred within me by reading the accounts brought us daily by our papers, of the wretchedness and want existing in our cities, and I have felt impelled to do something for the poor somewhere, (we have no suffering ones with us,) even if it were but little. So I looked about our house and collected what unappropriated articles I could find, and wrought them into the forms you find in the package, and now dear, if you know of any shivering little ones to whom these garments will afford comfort, will you oblige me by bestowing them?

I offer no apology, my dear friend, for thus adding to your numerous cares, for I feel assured, that for His sake who both loved little children and looked complacently on the widow's mite, you will aid me in making a proper application of this very humble offering.—Would it were four-fold."

☞ The Printers of Manchester, also propose to commemorate the Anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, on the 17th inst., by a Supper at the Manchester City Hotel. We are under obligations to the Arranging Committee, for an invitation.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Jan. 15.

SENATE.—Mr. Brodhead of Pennsylvania, moved the reconsideration of the joint resolution in favor of an expedition to relieve Dr. Kane.

Mr. Hunter of Virginia, objected, on the ground that the expedition would involve the loss of more lives.

The resolution was finally passed.

The bill establishing "land districts" in Florida, was read a third time and passed.

The Ocean Steam Navigation bill, last session, was then taken up, and a desultory debate ensued upon its consideration.

Mr. Rusk of Texas, moved the postponement of the bill.

The motion to indefinitely postpone was agreed to, and the Senate passed to the consideration of the Judicial Reform bill.

The discussion was interrupted by the Senate going into executive session, after which it adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Letcher of Virginia, rose to a question of privilege in the case of Mr. W. B. Chase, who refused to answer questions before the select committee appointed last season to investigate whether money had been improperly used to secure or defeat the passage of a bill before the House.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the Railroad bill.

Mr. Stephens of Georgia, made a speech to show the great superiority of slave labor in Georgia over free labor in Ohio, and incidentally advocated the acquisition of Cuba.

Mr. Boyce of South Carolina, opposed the acquisition of Cuba. He considered it inexpedient in every point of view, and fraught with danger to the South.

Quite an animated discussion sprung up upon Mr. Letcher's question of privilege, in which Mike Walsh of New York, took occasion to lash the newspaper correspondents, terming them the scribbling lazaroni.

The House went into committee of the whole, without concluding the consideration of the question.

Mr. Stephens of Georgia, replied to Mr. Campbell of Ohio, in explanation of his expressions regarding the acquisition of Louisiana and Florida. He, Mr. Stephens, was in favor of the acquisition of Cuba, although he was opposed to placing ten millions of dollars at the disposal of the President. He thought the annexation of Cuba would benefit both the north and the south.

Mr. Smith of Virginia, obtained the floor, and the House took a recess until 7 o'clock.

When the House met again, Mr. Smith made a speech in favor of the Know Nothings, advocating their principles, but offering no new matter upon the subject. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Soule is coming home immediately, and J. C. Breckenridge of Kentucky, is to be appointed his successor at Madrid.

Sickles at last resigns his position as Secretary of Legation at London; it is understood that his resignation is compulsory.

Hon. Horatio Seymour, late Governor of New York, will be offered the mission to France if it becomes vacant.—Boston Adv.

RECIPROCATION.—In recollection of the noble manner in which the inhabitants of New York contributed to alleviate the suffering in New Orleans, during the last summer's pestilence, we are happy to observe the following:

The Howard Association of New Orleans have voted $2000 for the benefit of the poor of New York.

AGED RUNAWAY.—Last night an old slave now 70 years of age, was taken to the guard house to be detained till his owners order should arrive. The old man plead ill treatment as a justification of his conduct. This morning he was delivered to a relative of the owner.—Washington Star.

A despatch from New Orleans reports arrivals at that port; later dates from California,—and also gives some additional account of the Southern Convention. This Convention it is said, declares strongly in favor of annexing Cuba, and recommends a treaty between Spain and Mexico, for the revival of the Slave Trade.

BUFFALO, Jan. 15.—The rail road bridge at Erie has been rebuilt, and the track at Harbor Creek relaid. The cars commenced running regularly again this morning, and strong measures have been taken to prevent any further outrage.

Advices from Nova Scotia represent the people as being highly pleased with the effects of the Reciprocity treaty, and arrangements are making for much larger exports of coal from Pictou next season.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—A boy named George Belden committed suicide in West Rocky Hill on Friday last. It appears that the boy was staying with Mr. Culver, keeper of the town poor, who having lost some money charged the theft on the lad, and it is ascertained that the money was found in his possession. A prosecution was threatened, which so alarmed him that a short time afterwards he was found in the barn, hanging by the neck dead. He was only about 14 years of age.—Hartford Courant.

INTERESTING TO REMITTERS.—The Memphis Eagle has been requested by the Post Office authorities of that city to caution the public against making any remittances which may have to pass through the mail on the route between Nashville and Cincinnati, as a great deal of money has been recently lost between those cities.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity—no less than the favorable opinion expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local Interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $2 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to scar or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboard, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who transacted much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

"PATENT OFFICE,
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.,

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted not corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1855," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

DR. S. GATT, 58 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

New Light and more Light.

PATENT SMOKE-BURNING

OIL LAMP!

THIS newly invented Lamp, so differently constructed from anyother, is believed to be the BEST LAMP ever offered to the Public, for the following reasons:—

It requires only the Poorest Oil, Lard, Tallow or Grease; and with the same material, produces FOUR OR FIVE TIMES AS MUCH LIGHT As any other known Lamp. It is so simple in its construction (consequently not liable to get out of order.) By its use, the danger from Fluid and other EXPLOSIVE COMPOUNDS is avoided; at the same time without the least odor, an amount of Light is produced truly astonishing. The economy with which it may be used makes it desirable for every one, while the price of it puts it within reach of all.

Hundreds of testimonials from those using them, may be seen at the Store of the subscriber, who is the only agent for the sale of them in this city.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their money.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS AND CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FRAGRANS, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

YOU ARE A BRICK.—A certain college Professor had assembled his class at the commencement of the term, and was reading over the list of names to see that all were present. It chanced that one of the number was unknown to the Professor, having just entered the class.

'What is your name, sir?' asked the Professor looking through his spectacles.

'You are a brick,' was the startling reply.

'Sir,' said the professor, half starting out of his chair at the supposed impertinence, but not quite sure that he had understood him correctly, 'Sir, I did not exactly understand your answer.'

'You are a brick,' again was the composed reply.

'This is intolerable!' said the professor, his face reddening. 'Beware, young man, how you attempt to insult me.'

'Insult you,' said the student, in turn astonished. 'How have I done it?'

'Did you not say I was a brick?' returned the Professor with stifled indignation.

'No, sir, you asked me my name, and I answered your question: U. R. A. Brick—Uriah Reynolds Anderson Brick.'

'Ah, indeed,' murmured the Professor, sinking back into his seat in confusion. 'It was a misconception on my part. Will you commence the lesson, Mr.—ahem! Mr. Brick?'

A FAMILY CENTENNIAL.—On the 16th inst., Mrs. Anna Pope, widow of Rev. Joseph Pope of Spencer, completed her one hundredth year. This interesting event drew together her descendants—including several of the third generation—with a number of others, and a generous entertainment was provided at the residence of her son, William Pope, Esq. The Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Dr. Vaill of Palmer. The 100th Psalm, old version, beginning, "All people that on earth do dwell" was sung, after which the company united in Thanksgiving with Rev. Mr. Park of West Boxford. The occasion was one of deep and touching interest. Mrs. Pope, though feeling the infirmities of age, still enjoys a good degree of health and strength. With the aid of magnifying glasses she can read the large print of the Bible Society's edition of the Gospel and Psalms, and readily hears conversation raised but a little above the ordinary tone. On the Sabbath following she was able to attend church and worship once more with her descendants and kindred. In 1777, at the time of her marriage, she removed from Newton, her native town, to Spencer, and has since, during a period of seventy seven years, resided in the same house and occupied the same room.—She has survived her husband twenty eight years, who had himself reached the age of four score, having been for fifty years the able and faithful pastor of the Congregational Church in Spencer.—Worcester Ægis.

DAMAGES FOR A LOST EYE.—In the King's County Circuit Court, before Judge Rockwell, Wesley Sandford brought suit against Frederick Edwards under the following circumstances:—It was an action for assault and battery, brought by plaintiff, a printer employed in the Methodist Book Concern, against the defendant, the proprietor of a hotel in Centre street, New York, known as "Harmony Hall." The facts proved were, that the plaintiff, in company with a friend, on the evening of the 2d of September last, was in the bar room of the house, when the defendant commenced a series of practical jokes at the plaintiff, such as shooting corks, &c., in his face, and on the plaintiff retorting, the defendant hurled a stone bottle, striking him in the face, and totally depriving him of the sight of the right eye. The jury, under the charge of His Honor, rendered a verdict for plaintiff for $2000, the whole amount claimed, without leaving their seats. On application of counsel for plaintiff, the Court added an allowance of $100 extra, costs.—N. Y. Sunday Dispatch.

CALICO DRESS BALL.—Mrs. Col. C——of Fourth street, New York, one of the fashionables, has issued upward of five hundred cards of invitation for a "Calico Dress Ball," to be given at her residence during the early part of the ensuing week. The invitations are printed upon common white paper, and appear more like the placards posted throughout the City, than invitations to a ball. They read as follows:

CALICO DRESS BALL.

Mrs. —— compliments to Mr. & Mrs. ——, and requests the pleasure of their company on ——— evening, — inst, between 8 and 12 o'clock, at No ——— Fourth street. Each lady is expected to appear in a calico dress, which she is desired to send the next day to Mrs. ——— as a donation to the Five Points Mission.

'THIS is a great country, but it won't do to be born in it,' is the exclamation of the Albany Register over the fact that the Mayor of Albany has turned out his City Marshal, an American born, and put an Irishman in his stead.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1855.

PRESTO, CHANGE.

The special correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says, under date of Washington, Jan. 16:

I am informed on competent authority, that the administration has determined to change entirely its policy on the subject of foreign acquisitions. It will not now even send to the Senate the treaty for annexing the Sandwich Islands, if it should be received, and will make no effort to get Cuba.

This is probably the true secret of Soule's resignation. Hon. Horatio Seymour, late Governor of New York, says he would not accept the French Mission.

Mr. Soule's successor as Minister to Spain, Mr. Breckenbridge, has already been appointed and confirmed.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune states that the revolutionary Cubans have become sick of Gen. Quitman and Mr. Thrasher and their coadjutors, and have refused to advance to them the "sinews of war," and therefore the threatened expedition against Cuba must be abandoned. He thinks, however, that the project may be connected with that of Col. Kinney, for forming a colony in the Mosquito territory. Another correspondent gives the information that "the acquisition of the Gallipagos Islands is positively certain. Senator Benjamin and Philo White made the treaty, are now here. The islands are not barren, but full of verdure near the shores, and there is guano in the interior."

We considered Gen. Pierce's election, as settling, for the present, the question of annexation, in favor of our annexing every thing we could lay our hands on. But this seems now to be a mistake. We do not see that any thing is settled; but on the contrary a general loosening of the screws as to parties and policy has resulted from the addition of the great Nebraska plank to the platform of the national democratic party. The great principle of squatter sovereignty, or something else, has induced a colony of Know Nothings to squat in the State House in Boston, to the utter dismay of the old fogies; and now some odd hap or dire mishap sends home Soule, and perhaps Sickles. How Europe can spare them we don't know; nor do we know how our own beloved country can do without their precious services abroad. Indeed, we don't know exactly what we shall do with them when they get home;—but as they are rare patriots, perhaps they will save the Union some day when it is in danger.

S. M. Booth Convicted.—A despatch from Milwaukie says:—S. M. Booth has been found guilty for assisting the escape of the fugitive slave Glover.

Guilty of aiding a man to escape from a "Land of Liberty" into a province of the British Monarchy!—Guilty of aiding a man to possess the use of his own bones and muscles!—Guilty of obeying one of the plainest and noblest dictates of humanity, and of trying to obey the Sermon on the Mount, contrary to Act of Congress!—What a guilty man he must be.—Can God ever forgive so heinous a sin!

The Balance Dry Dock at Pensacola, Florida, was tested on the 4th and 5th of January, to the satisfaction of those interested. The large merchant ship "Monarch of the Sea," was Docked without difficulty on the 4th inst., and hauled into the Basin next day; and was to be taken up on land on the 9th. Mr. Joseph W. Neal of this city, is Superintendant of the work.

Against a Snag.—The Massachusetts House of Representatives did not choose Henry Wilson as Senator to Congress, on Tuesday;—but postponed the balloting to next Tuesday, by a vote of 197 to 135. He may yet be elected: but this is rather a check to the rapid career of the new Legislator.

Trenton, N. J. Jan. 16.—The Prohibitory Liquor bill was reported to the House to day. It is similar in its provisions to that of the Eastern States, and is to go into effect on the 16th of December, 1855. It is to be submitted to the people at the next annual election, but as it contains no provision for its rejection, it will be still a law, although the people may give an adverse vote.

New York, Jan. 15.—The Swiss Benevolent Society has taken charge of the Swiss paupers whose arrival was recorded last week, and they will be sent to the interior, instead of Boston, from which place they came in the steamer State of Maine. Their passage to this country was paid by their local governments, and they were wrecked on Sable Island in the Acadia.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 16.—A shock of earthquake occurred at about half-past 6 o'clock this evening in Hanover, N. H., and at Bradford and St. Johnsbury, Vt., which lasted about half a minute, and caused considerable rattling of windows, crockery, &c., in the vicinity.

Charlestown, Jan. 16.—Mr. Meagher lectured in this city last night, in aid of the Calhoun Monument. Over two thousand tickets were sold, and it was the largest audience ever assembled here under similar circumstances.

Albany, Jan. 16.—The Liquor bill was presented to the Legislature to-day and made the special order of the day for Tuesday next.

BEECHER ON SLAVERY.

We commence this morning a somewhat extended report of one of the Course of Anti-Slavery Lectures now being delivered in Boston. We do this at the request of an esteemed correspondent—though the article is rather long for our columns. However, it will well repay perusal.

From the Boston Traveller.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher on "The Conflict between the Northern and Southern Theories of Man and Society."

The lecture on Slavery, Thursday night, at the Tremont Temple, was by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who had chosen as his theme, "The Northern and Southern Theories of Man and Society." The hall was crowded in every part, even the side passages being lined with parties unable to get sitting room.

Mr. Beecher, on presenting himself, was received with a round of applause. After some introductory remarks, he observed that the question which was the noblest and gave most dignity to our time and nation was that which was the most odious and hated—Slavery. That was the only question full of vital struggles turning upon fundamental principles.—Slavery was not a plantation, but a national question. The dispute between the owner and the chattel might only morally touch us, but the disputes between the master and government, between a government impregnated with slavery and the Northern citizens, touched us sharply.

New England first gave to America her ideas of liberty and her free institutions, and having done so he thought that New England was bound to stand by them to the last. But New England had gradually lost her influence since 1800; and the South, the truest representative of absolutism under representative forms, was mightier in our national councils this day than the mother of republicanism. It was a shame that it was so—it was a shame that it should be so in this land of liberty, and it was a worse shame that either we do not know it, or that we are willing it should continue so. (Applause.)

From the earliest periods of the world there had been two prominent theories respecting man, his place, rights, duties and relations. The one, the heathen doctrine, regarded him as the creature of time, looked upon the mass only as working animals, and held that it was proper for those stronger and superior to oppress or keep them in control. The other theory was that which regarded him in the light that Christianity gave forth, a being who was a recipient and to be acted upon here more than he acts—which regarded the human race as a brotherhood, to be loved and not reduced to servitude, and which recognized his solemn responsibility to God.

A government which took care of the rich and strong, and neglected or oppressed the poor, the weak, and the ignorant, was the anti-type of Christ; but Christianity in every age looked after the poorest and the lowliest. That was Christianity, whatever its creed, or whatever its ritual. With the doctrine that the poor man belonged to God, that he was a joint heir of immortality, a rich and powerful oppressor became a felon and a robber. (Applause.)

But there was a structural Christianity current, whose business in this world was to build systems of thought—a ceremonial Christianity, which occupies itself with forms, modes, and colors—may be preached even under a throne, or on a plantation, or any where else—as it is very harmless. (Laughter and applause) But a Christianity that tells man what his origin is—of God—and makes him feel the lift of inspiration; what his errand upon earth,—to grow towards goodness, and to make the most of himself; such a Christianity would be a rebellion in despotism, and insurrection in a plantation. Such Christianity therefore could not be preached there. He did not know it could be preached somewhere distant from plantations. (Laughter and applause.)

If we read aright, Christ preached Christianity which opened prison doors, which set at liberty them that are bruised, which brought deliverance to captives, healing the broken hearted, and gave sight to the blind. If he had read aright, in some printed Boston sermons there was a modern Christianity which preaches the shutting up of the prison doors, the bruising of them that have set themselves at liberty, the making captives again of those who are delivered from it, the hood-winking the blind, and the breaking of the heart of those who are heart broken. What would Burns say about that? (Laughter and applause.)

Now there was in our country, North and South, respecting these two different theories of man—the Heathen theory, as he chose to call it, not in contempt though it was most contemptible, but because he knew no word that so truly described it; and the Christian theory. The Heathen theory regarded man as the creature of time, and described him as such; the Christian theory regarded him as born for eternity, and held him as such. (Applause.) The most imbruted savage in Africa was better free than under the hand of despotism. The North disdained the pretence that men were injured by sudden liberty. A famished man might injure himself by overfeeding, but that he was an objection not against the food, but the famine. (Applause.)

In the North, the most useless pauper that burdens the alms house, the most uncombed Irishman that delves in a ditch—the most abject creature that begs a morsel from door to door, was yet a man; and there was, not in theory only, but in the public sentiment, a sacredness of life and rights which no one dare violate with impunity. There was no other law for the Governor of Massachusetts than for the beggar in the streets—that which protects the dwelling and the property of the rich man here, belongs just as much to the hovel of the beggar. God never sent but one sun, and the same light that kindles against the roof of the mansion, also strikes the thatch of the hut. The same air came to each, the same shower—the same seasons of summer and winter; and as nature, so is the law, in distributing the benefits of society.—The rich, learned, refined and strong might know how to make a better use of their part of air, but they had no more air or privilege to breathe than the poorest wretch. In the South exactly the reverse of this was the case. Touch a hireling's wages in the North, and the law stands to defend him, and beat you down. Take a laborer's wages in the South, and the law stands to defend you, and beat him down. In the South there were a great many roads leading down from the top of society to the bottom, but not one from the bottom to the top. In the North there was not a man who had not from his door a road which leads straight to the governor's chair, or president's seat.

In the North the real life of the nation was in its roots, in its individual members grouped together; and the influence was always working up, like sap from the root of trees. Government did not change people here—people change the government. It grew to their shape, as the shell to the fish, not the fish to the shell. Personal independence and effective government were never so precisely adjusted as in New England. In the South it was not so. There was a wild personal liberty there—there was an intense form of reckless freedom in the individual; but it was isolated. Also in government, the laws were respected when coinciding with man's wants and will, and violated instantly and scornfully when they did not. In the North the people would endure the most fragrant wrong upon their sympathies—they would live for years outraged, insulted, cut to the very heart; but except by a sudden impulse we could not bring them to violate the law. To them it was sacred; it might be changed, but never broken, because law was in theory the voice of the whole people, and that was higher than any other thing, save the voice of God—and with some he was afraid it was stronger than that. (Laughter.)

Among us in New England from the beginning it had been honorable to work. A Yankee's hands thought more than a Southerner's head. There was no work in New England which answers to the definition of drudgery, except the politicians. In California gold was found only in quartz, but in the peculiar geology of industry here it was found in straw bonnets, leather, shoes, wood, stone, ice, and in everything. It was wrapped up in the beggar's rags, which went feculent to the mill to-day, and to-morrow came out a newspaper, carrying the world's daily life to 20,000 families. Four good spirits rule in New England—religion, social virtue, intelligence, and work. The absence of the latter was an implied discredit in New England. In the South the very reverse was true, because labor was the badge of slavery. In the North men were educated to be something; in the South to seem something; and, consequently, it was this innate dislike to labor after all that was the great obstacle to emancipation. The root of all was this, that the Southerner was lazy. (Laughter and applause.) In the North we had common schools, which brought together the children of the poor and rich,—a public recognition that all men were born free and equal. In the South they had no common school, nor could that be called a commonwealth in which every third man was a slave.

And yet our ears were constantly offended by ministers even from the North who came back from their southern pilgrimages to tell us that the slaves have the Gospel preached to them. But was there among them such a preaching of the Gospel as we have? We preach it to arouse man—they to soothe him; we to awaken him—they to soothe him; we to inspire self-reliance, they crouching submission; we to guide men up the way to spiritual growth; looked only to solidify them in their muscles; we to convert them into men; they to make them the lowest of God's permitted beings, a slave. (Applause.) Would we believe that any sentinel would allow us to carry fire into his powder magazine, then we might believe that the South would let a man preach the Gospel as we preach it, for the making of men, for the building up of the ties of family. Why, it would break the yoke upon the plantations. It would bring quick revolution. It would bring an explosion quicker than revolution, which would blow the masters sky high. (Loud applause.) No, he would take that back,—it would not blow them in that direction. (Laughter and applause.)

Concluded to-morrow.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

Senate.—Mr. Jones of Tennessee, presented a petition from Jas. W. Schomberg, praying that his commission as captain in the United States army might be recognized, and that he be allowed pay from 1836.

Mr. Seward of New York presented a petition from the soldiers of the war of 1812, praying relief from suffering caused by the inadequacy of the laws of Congress. Referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. Cass of Michigan introduced a resolution in relation to the use of air and water-tight mail bags.

Mr. Cass moved that the bill for internal improvement be taken up on Monday next, and made the order of the day for the 24th inst.

The consideration of the compensation bill was resumed, and several amendments offered.

A motion to lay on the table was rejected.

The Senate went into executive session, confirmed Mr. Breckenridge as Minister to Spain, and adjourned.

House.—Mr. Breckenridge of Kentucky, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the Texas Creditor's bill, with amendment. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Pacific Railroad bill.

Mr. Bayly of Virginia said he should move to take up the French Spoilation bill at the earliest day.

Mr. Benton of Missouri said a private company and private enterprise should, in his opinion, pass upon the practicability of the railroad to the Pacific, and attend to its execution. He advocated leaving the construction of the road to private enterprise. A company of solid men was now ready to enter into the necessary arrangements to construct the road from their own resources and upon the basis of right of way. He would not at present submit his plan in detail, as the arrangements must be first understood before they can be incorporated in the bill. He then passed to the consideration of the several routes as surveyed, and pronounced them inappropriate. He noticed particularly the Northern route, and termed it the child of the administration, and the most expensive of any.

The Speaker's hammer fell at the expiration of his hour, and before he had finished his speech.

Mr. McDougall of California obtained the floor, and replied to Mr. Benton, denying that the Northern route was the child of the administration. He then answered the objections and the provision of the bill.

Several amendments having been made to the bill, all but the two first sections were stricken out in order to admit a substitute by Mr. Dunbar of Louisiana, establishing three different routes of railroad and telegraphic lines; the Southern commencing at the Western borders of Texas, the Central at the borders of Missouri or Iowa, and the Northern at the Western borders of Wisconsin or Minnesota. All are practicable, and can be easily built.

Mr. Letcher of Virginia moved to strike out the enacting clause, as the shortest way of disposing of the bill.

Pending the debate, the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

THE CRIMEA.—We regret that the Crimea Fund Committee give intoxicating liquors a place (and the first!) among articles needed in the Crimea. Besides, its direct effects, we learn it at strong drink has placed Balaklava and the Expedition in the extremest peril. The Morning Herald's (London) correspondent states that, "in the midst of ships piled full of powder and shot, fires have been kept up, and drunken seamen have come on board at all times of the night, smoking and fighting. I have seen drunken soldiers buying spirits on board store ships at night time." The Times correspondent glances at the same danger, (Nov. 25th.) "A drunken man may put an end to the British expedition pro hac vice." Will not this intelligence startle the nation? Boston Telegraph.

On the Belvidere and Delaware Railroad, a few days ago, the truck wheels of a swiftly moving locomotive were shattered to pieces. The engine, thus crippled, slid a distance of 250 yards on the rails, the engineer, John Boldin, maintaining his position at the peril of his life, the whole time. The fireman jumped from the train, and fortunately escaped with but a sprained wrist.

'Can you tell me,' asked a pundit, 'why a conundrum that nobody can guess is like a ghost?' 'Shall I tell you now or next month?' 'Now if you please.' 'Well, sir, sooner or later everybody must give up.'

"ANOTHER AMERICAN MOVEMENT."—A movement is in progress for a mass meeting of the citizens of Lawrence, to agitate the subject so vital to the interests of every true American—the total abandonment and disuse of all imported goods, the importation of which, with that of foreign paupers, is evidently causing much panic and distress in our country.

One of the first objects, with foreign immigrants, is to Americanize them as fast as possible. Henry Ward Beecher says, he is not afraid that he shall turn into a bullock, because he eats beef. True, but if he never eats it, then it were inconvenient to have it constantly accumulating around him, and it might be dangerous. The nation should eat foreigners and digest them, till they are moulded to republican simplicity and honest freedom.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give the Weekly more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to retract this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both periodicals for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT

Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 23rd, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary principle.

Any machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, crossgrained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clapboards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for further particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.

IMPORTANT TO INVENTORS!!

I, Eddy, the Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, they, the fruit of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1854," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb: FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GALE, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

New Light and more Light.
PATENT SMOKE-BURNING
OIL LAMP!

THIS newly invented Lamp, so differently constructed from any other, is believed to be the BEST LAMP ever offered to the Public, for the following reasons:—

It requires one-fourth only the Poorest Oil, Lard, Tallow or Grease; and with the same material, produced FOUR TIMES AS MUCH LIGHT As ANY other known Lamp. It is simple in construction (consequently not liable to get out of order.) By its use, the danger from Fluid and other EXPLOSIVE COMPOUNDS is avoided; at the same time without the least odor, an amount of Light is produced truly astonishing. The economy with which it may be used makes it desirable for every one, while the price of it puts it within reach of all.

Hundreds of testimonials from those using them, may be seen at the Store of the subscriber, who is the only agent for the sale of them in this city.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition; may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These ETAGERAS, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—or are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany, or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

LORD ELGIN IN A "FIX."—It is stated that Lord Elgin, late Governor General of Canada, who sailed from New York on the 3d instant, in the Pacific, being in want of funds to pay his hotel bill, proceeded to the Bank of Commerce and presented a draft for £250. The teller not knowing him, and fearing probably he was a "confidence" man, refused to cash it. Lord Elgin explained, but all to no purpose, and, before he could find a person to identify him, he was compelled to hasten down to the steamer to save his passage. By the way, it is stated that he takes with him £20,000, subscribed in Canada for the relief of the widows and orphans of those killed in the war with Russia.

UNTIMELY PARDONS. — There is good ground of complaint that persons under life sentence are so often pardoned upon the intercession of their friends, after a very short time. If these same persons had been sentenced for ten years they would probably have been confined longer than they have been, and it is now a common saying that a ten years sentence is as bad as one for life. There is too much pardoning altogether. Judicial sentences should never be cruel, but the punishment should be certain, nor should sentence ever be remitted but by the approval of the court that pronounced it.—Newburyport Her.

NEW QUILTING FRAMES.—The editor of the Augusta (Maine) Age says, a gentleman of that city has exhibited a new kind of quilting frame, which promises to supercede the old fashioned fallows that were in the habit of driving a man out of his own house. The affair is a sort of cross between a windlass and a cot-bedstead, resulting in neither, but in a portable and convenient quilting frame, in the use of which the good lady is obliged to occupy but one side of the room, where she may quilt during the whole session of the legislature, and disturb nobody. Every husband who has "the spirit of a man in him," and insists on being captain of his own house, will take one of Ellis's compound windlass, cot-bed, saw-horse, and loom quilting frames.

A CURIOUS INCIDENT. — A short time since a young lady in Roxbury trod upon a needle and ran it into the ball of her foot, through an India rubber shoe. Her mother immediately drew out the needle, and nothing more was thought of it, though about a quarter of an inch of the point end of the needle was broken off in extracting it from the foot. Some six or eight days after this the young lady felt a slight prickly sensation just above the knee, and on putting her hand upon the spot found the lost point of the needle just making its way through the skin. Thus, in about a week's time, the needle found its way through the foot, ankle and leg to the knee.—Traveller.

HARD TIMES AND PEW-RENTING. — The annual renting of the pews in the Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, (Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, pastor,) occurred on Tuesday evening, and with success which forbids even the mention of a tight money market. One hundred and seventy-eight seats were taken at a premium (for only one year) of $1,343.50. The amount of pews rented, premiums included, was something over $10,000. There are about 120 seats in the back part of the house and in the gallery, yet unrented, which, if taken, as they always have been, will yield a total revenue of about $13,000. There was more anxiety to get seats, and premiums were larger than ever before.—Independent, 11th.

A GREAT LOSS.—One of our fellow citizens told his Irish servant girl on Saturday, that the Governor had disbanded all the Irish military companies. "Och!" said Bridget, "that's too bad. Sure we shan't have no more military balls!"—Boston Journal.

FELONS.—I noticed an article on felons, wherein it is stated that the skin from the inside of the shell of an egg, or the spinal marrow of an ox or a cow will cure them. I have never had occasion to try either of those, or any other remedy, and hope I never shall; but a friend of mine had the misfortune to have one on his finger, and was about to have it opened, when he was told to dip his finger into tar as hot as he could bear, and immediately roll a cloth around it; he did so, and went to bed and slept soundly all night, which had not been the case for two or three nights previous; he had no more trouble from the finger.

I have no doubt of the correctness of his statement, and think it ought to be made public.—Portland Argus.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1855.

KNOW NOTHING NOMINATIONS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—A State Convention of the secret order in New Hampshire, assembled in Manchester last Tuesday. The proceedings were conducted with closed doors, as usual, but it is stated that candidates for the state offices and for members of Congress, were nominated. The Manchester Mirror announces the nominees as follows:—

Rev. John Moore, Universalist minister, of Concord, for Governor.

Frank H. Lyford, of Manchester, for Railroad Commissioner.

Elder Pike, of Newmarket, a Methodist minister, for Representative from District No. 1.

Mason W. Tappan, of Bradford, for District No. 2.

A. H. Cragin, of Lebanon, for District No. 3.

Messrs. Pike and Tappan are free-soilers. Mr. Tappan has served in the Legislature, and was the free-soil leader in the House last year, and the candidate of that party for speaker. Mr. Cragin was formerly editor of the Lebanon Whig.

It is currently reported in Concord that Mr. Moore is not eligible—having resided in the State but five years. The constitution requires seven years' residence.

It is also reported that John Dame of this city has received the nomination of Councillor in the first District; and Marcellus Bufferd as Senator in the 1st District.

FUNERAL OF THE MISSES HAVEN.—The remains of these three ill-fated sisters were buried in the family grave-yard at Fort Washington on Tuesday afternoon, and were attended to their last resting place by over six hundred relatives, friends and aquaintances. The services were conducted according to the ritual of King's Chapel in Boston, by Rev. Drs. H. L. Bellows and Samuel Osgood of New York, and were solemn and impressive in the highest degree. The three coffins were deposited side by side in one wide, deep grave and were covered with japonicas, white roses and evergreens, in emblem of the maiden death of the victims and in token of their resurrection. The scene of mourning at the melancholy obsequies is represented to have been heart-rending. The rumor mentioning the death of the fourth injured sister is unfounded.

Bishop England says "God never gave the pope any temporal power to depose kings, or interfere with political concerns, and any right which the successor of St. Peter claims for that purpose, must be derived from some other source."

We agree with the Bishop, as to any peculiar power of this sort in the pope; but we go further, and deem the whole of the assumptions by him and his church, of infallibility, supremacy and exclusive purity, to be arrogant and false. By the way, the Roman Church claims for the Pope a spiritual power which overrides all temporal powers whatever—exactly as the meanest of her priests in this country claim the power to bless and to curse,—of which power some of their ignorant followers are dreadfully afraid.

IDA MAY.—The Boston Courier says—We shall do no harm to the circulation of this 'popular' story in copying from the Bangor Democrat this expression:—"We agree with the Augusta Age that these negro novels are decidedly pernicious. Written and read principally by women and children, they cannot fail to corrupt their speech and defile their minds. Besides, they threaten mischief to the country, North and South."

Just such things, (being the awful mischief to the country,) were said of Shakespeare's Plays. Yet they still live; and now no clergyman's library is quite complete without Shakespeare.

SETTLE UP.—There is nothing that conduces more to success in business and comfort in carrying it on, than frequent squaring of the books. Where there is no running account, the fewer little bills made, and the sooner these are settled, the better; and we prefer to settle all accounts at least annually, and like better to do it twice a year, or even quarterly.

☞ Gov. Baker has tendered the appointment of U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Norris, to the Hon. John S. Wells.

CUBA.—In reference to the resignation of Mr. Soule, as Minister to Spain, the Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says: "Mr. Soule's vocation is gone. Cuba cannot be bought. The debate in the Spanish Cortes is a proof of this, and the more liberal the government may become, the less will be the chance for our purchase of Cuba. 'The people are more opposed to it than the government."

"FOREIGN EXTRACTION." — This term, which our opponents are using so frequently, and with such a flourish and noise, as an extract of Gov. Gardner's Address, does not occur in the document at all.—Boston Bee

Col. Hall of Sacramento, Cal., pulled from his garden one morning a beet weighing seventy pounds!

BEECHER ON SLAVERY.

From the Boston Traveller.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher on "The Conflict between the Northern and Southern Theories of Man and Society."

Concluded.

Closely connected with this contrast between North and South was free speech and open discussion. It was little better than merriment to tell him that the law would give power to arrest a man for free speech in old Faneuil Hall. (Loud and reiterated applause) Merriment, he said, for who would not laugh at a philosopher who would set a snare for the stars, and cast his net to catch the sun, because he wanted to do some dirty work they revealed, and darkness and silence were excellent for tyrants and knaves; but to attempt to do such a thing in New England was to change the knave into an imbecile and the tyrant into a fool. (Loud Applause.) But should any power, against the prudent spirit of the people, the spirit of our polity, and the rights of individual man, succeed in making headway against free speech and putting it in jeopardy, it would convulse the framework of society. There would be no time for revolutionary movement, but an eruption would take place in which fragmentary judges and courts would fly athwart the sky, like stones thrown from the vomiting crater of some furious volcano. (Loud cheers.) Any party must be intensely American that could afford to destroy the foundation of American principle, which was, that public questions should be publicly discussed, and public procedure publicly agreed upon. The South, holding a heathen theory of man, and aristocratic theory of society, was bound to hold, and does hold, a radically opposite theory in respect to the right of speech and freedom of the press.—There was not freedom of opinion in the South. They said there that it would bring their lives into jeopardy, and they must regulate its expression; but, he asked, what was that state of society, in which free speech and discussion were so dangerous. (Applause)

Mr. Beecher proceeded to say that there could be no real union of men educated in such antagonistic ideas. There might be a union of juxtaposition, the same as marbles in a tumbler, which are close together, but do not mingle in the least degree. There might be a subtending of the form of government itself, but the union which subsists in the sympathy of a people with one another, did not and could not exist between the Northern and Southern people. Who was to give way?—from which side was it to come? He warned the North not to forsake her principles of liberty, for old cities or States were never born again. Who would rebuild Athens? The desolate stones of Babylon and Palmyra would lie forever, as would the Parthenon and the Temple of Theseus. Like the leaves of last Summer, we might call them, but when Summer should sing with ten millions of leaves, not one of last year's leaves would be there. (Applause) The glory of New England had been from the first, her principles, but they were beginning to fall, and in the highest quarters. What should we think when the President of old Dartmouth College writes a work to prove the righteousness of slavery as a part of God's disciplinary establishments on earth, and admits that under proper circumstances he would himself own slaves? What a place to educate our future legislators is, was old Dartmouth College! (Laughter and applause.) What would be thought of the condition of the public mind in Boston, when one of her revered and deservedly-beloved pastors has come up so profoundly ignorant in his New England education, that he comes home from his pilgrimage to check her repugnance against slavery, and make her take comfort and assurance that slavery on the whole is as good, or better, for three millions of laboring men, as liberty?—(Loud applause.) He had instituted comparisons between our system and the laboring population under the slave system, and had left an impression on every page that liberty works no better than slavery, and it has mischiefs and inconveniences that slavery avoids. Read the book in old Faneuil Hall and a thousand indignant ghosts would come flocking there, as if they heard the old roll-call on Bunker Hill. (Cheers.) Yea, read that book on Bunker Hill; and would the column fall? No, it would stand on in silent majesty, pointing its granite finger up to Heaven and God, an everlasting witness against slavery, and all its abettors and palliators. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Beecher then made the following bid to the temporarily omnipotent Know Nothings for their support and adhesion to the anti-slavery movement. He said:

A great movement was now in progress for the formation of a great national party. If such a movement were true, real, and deep, he should hail it with grateful joy,—although he did not fear the effect of foreign men and ideas half so much as he did Southern men and ideas. Some of these foreigners we were proud to have for their industry, and the rest he regarded more as a source of vexation than of danger. If he understood the measures recommended by the Governor, he fully agreed with them; he did not see that they proposed more than a wholesome regulation of emigrants, not their exclusion or oppression. But he wished to ask whether the simple accident of birth was a basis broad enough for a permanent national party?—was it a principle even—was it anything more than an accidental effect, and was it broad enough to build a pyramid on? Should we not look a little as to what a man was after he was born, (laughter and applause,) especially as Arnold was born in Connecticut, and Lafayette in France? (Cheers.) If therefore a party was American, ought it not to be because it represents those principles which are fundamental to American institutions? Liberty for each, liberty for all, from the top to the bottom of society,—he should like to see a man describe American principles, and leave that out.—(Cheers.) He asked then, therefore, which of the two theories, Northern or Southern, was the American theory, and which should be taken in the formation of a new party? If an American party left out human rights, it would be what a man would be if he was created without a soul. Such a party would stink with dissolution before we could get it finished. (Loud applause.) No masonry could make it solid, no act could secure it, no anchor had ever been forged in the infernal stithy which could go deep enough into political mud to hold such a system. (Loud cheers.) If they reared up that mighty name—if they took that revered name of America all the world over, radiant and revered as the symbol of human arts and happiness—if they associated and stamped that name with the effete doctrines of despotism—did they think that they could supplicate from any gods the boon of immortality for such an unbaptized monster as that? (Loud cheers.)

No, it might ravage our inheritance for a few days, but there was a spark of liberty still left among us, which shall live, and around it shall start up hosts of men, who have not bowed to Baal, and will war against such a system, to the knife, and from the knife to the hilt, against the miscreant thing—because it shall be, by the name of the living God, Almighty God, the Father of man, and the lover of liberty, it shall be that this American soil shall be absolutely free! (Loud and continued cheers.)

To be a truly national party, it must first be a Northern party, and then become national. Here, here, was where liberty was born. We were its depository. From us came the first ideas in America of liberty—from us came her most sacred institutions—from us had gone, as from the heart, the very stream that circled through all the veins of the land; and if there was any party who had a right, in the memorials of her history and the gray hairs which stand in honor upon her brow, to take the lead and give nature to a new party, it was old revolutionary liberty-loving New England! (Loud cheers.)

Now at this time it was in her power to reassert her lost ascendency in the councils of the nation, if she be true to what she knows and believes; but if, abandoning the history, the policy, the glory and honor of her ancestry, abandoning her own conscience, she chooses to kneel down before the presence of southern power, and to beg the boon of office and emolument from them, New England's name would go out as goes out the stinking wick of a burnt out candle. (Applause.)—But if instead of that she resided in herself and her own lordly power of good, then let those who wanted office appear and it should be given—they who wanted some pabulum beside their own manhood, and in the name of Heaven let New England take a position which would enable her to give her own sons all that her own sons ought to take.

When Hercules was born and yet a child, the jealous Juno sent two serpents to his cradle to destroy him. Hercules or the serpents must die, for they could not sleep in the same cradle. Accordingly Hercules seized them with both hands, and strangled them, while his brother, Iphichus, filled the house with lamentations.

An infernal June, in the destined greatness of this great country, had sent a serpent upon it, and now he asked, what should we do?—Should we choke it, or form an old fogy national party, and scream? (Laughter and applause.) We should never rest till there was a victory of principle. Northern ideas or Southern must become American before there was peace. All attempts at evading, adjourning, concealing, and compromising the great question were quite in vain.

The reason of our long agitation was not that restless abolitionists were abroad, or that ministers would meddle with improper things. Those were symptoms only, not the disease; the effect, not the cause. Two great powers that would not live together were in the midst, tugging at each other's throat. Though we separated them a hundred times, they would search each other out; and if, by insane blindness, we contrived to put off the settlement of this question, and sent the dispute unsettled to our children, it would go down, gathering volume at every step, to waste and desolate their heritage. Let then, in God's name, let this question be settled now. Clear a space, place the champions, let them put their lances in the rest for the charge, sound the trumpet, and God save the Right!

Mr. Beecher resumed his seat amid loud and enthusiastic applause. We have given an extended report, as this so far has been the lecture of the series.

At the conclusion of the lecture, the Hutchinson family favored the audience with two of their songs, having reference to slavery, and which were loudly applauded.

"Old Folks' Concert."

The next meeting of the "Old Folks" for Rehearsal, will be held at EXCHANGE HALL, on SATURDAY Evening, the 20th inst., at 7 o'clock.

LOCAL.

☞ Thursday was a great day, memorable in the annals of slop. Six inches, more or less, of good solid snow, had fallen in the night and early morning; and then came down a lot of rain which we did not measure, but which proved quantum sufficit to convert the whole mass into a mess of beautiful snow porridge. Trailing skirts disappeared from the streets, and indeed all others; the girls' schools closed with one session; dry goods kept on the shelves and the clerks sat on the counters and elsewhere, except when an avalanche from a roof called for a shovel. Horses stood still in the stables. Male pedestrians got wet feet generally; and the Apothecaries probably took a survey of their cough medicines. And still the rain kept falling; and still the streams were swelling, with the waters as they rose. It was, in short, the very Poetry of Slosh; not to be beat, we think, for the season.

☞ Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather, the Fair and Tableaux of the Portsmouth Benevolent Society announced for last evening, was postponed till this evening. We understand that new and elegant Tableaux will be presented, surpassing in beauty and brilliancy any before displayed. Additional attractions will be offered. As the Committee have spared no pains in their endeavor to please the public, and as the proceeds are to be used for benevolent purposes, we hope to see the hall crowded.

☞ Mr. Russell's Readings at the Lyceum on Tuesday evening, were well attended, and made out a pleasant evening's entertainment. The readings from Shakespeare were not so spirited as we expected; but the poem of the ship was well recited; and Bozzaris and The Bells were admirably rendered.

☞ Mr. Whitehouse and his American Bards gave a musical entertainment at the Temple on Wednesday evening, to a house not more than sufficient to clear expenses. Mr. W.'s own voice is pleasant, and in some of the pieces, the four voices were purely blended. The concert contained quite a variety of pieces, sentimental, humorous and comic. The latter were received with the most favor.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Canard steamer Canada has arrived with a week's later intelligence from Europe, having left Liverpool on the 6th inst. The first and most important intelligence relates to the negotiations with regard to peace, which have been considered at Vienna by the representatives of the allied powers. The propositions of the powers, which related entirely to the everlastingly disputed question of the "four points," were submitted to the Russian Ambassador in the presence of the Prussian Minister and Ambassador, but no definite answer was received from the Russian Minister.

According to one account in the telegraphic despatch the terms now offered to Russia by the ambassadors of the allied powers are far less stringent than have hitherto been insisted on; for they demand of her neither the dismantling of Sebastopol nor the suppression of her fleet in the Black Sea—measures before held to be cardinal points of any treaty. But this intelligence does not come from an official quarter, (says the Boston Courier, whose summary we use,) and we take leave to doubt it.

In regard to the operations before Sebastopol, the British and French accounts are that the works had been steadily progressing, and a despatch dated Dec. 25, from Gen. Canrobert, is published, stating that the plan of operations would be that a brisk fire would soon be opened and continued for forty-eight hours, when a general assault was to be made by both the French and English forces on the south side of the town. If this plan be followed out, there will be an awful carnage, and we can only conjecture the result.

Menschikoff, on his side, writes that between Dec. 20 and 26 nothing remarkable occurred except a sortie in which several officers and men were captured, and a considerable number killed. This, of course, must refer to the allied troops, for the Russian commander of course could not tell how many of his own force had been taken prisoners. He evidently was determined and prepared to make a desperate defence against any assault, and the chances would seem to be in his favor.

Near Sebastopol, the French works were steadily advancing, and on the 25th ult. the allies had two hundred and fifty guns in battery ready to open their fire. It was thought that they would soon take the offensive. Sorties from the garrison of Sebastapol were of frequent occurrence, but they were generally unsuccessful.

Admirals Dundas (British) and Hamelin (French) had reached Constantinople on their way home, and were succeeded by Admirals Lyons and Brust. Lord Cardigan had left for England, and Gen. Sir De Lacy Evans, the officer who so gallantly distinguished himself at Alma, and was afterwards wounded, had resigned his command in disgust. This last piece of news would appear to strongly confirm the complaints made of inefficiency and incompetency in the British management of the campaign.

Of commercial matters there is little to say. In Liverpool there was little or no alteration in the cotton market, and affairs were dull at Manchester. The market for breadstuffs was feeble; that for provisions was very firm. The money market at London was in good condition, and consols which the week before left off at 91 3-8 are now reported at 93 1-4.

A PRUSSIAN NAVY.—The ambition of Prussia, (whose one man of war has long been a standing joke,) to become a naval power, has recently been gratified by obtaining from the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg, the cession of a tract of land lying at the mouth of the Jahde. This will give Prussia a harbor on the North Sea, without the necessity of sending its men of war through the Sound. It is proposed to establish there a naval station.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.—A doctor was called early Saturday morning to the New England House, Portland, where a lady and gentleman were suffering from inhalation of coal gas. The lady was insensible from its effects. A fire had been made in their room, and the damper being turned, the gas escaped into the room, and nearly destroyed the life of one person. Too much care cannot be taken where charcoal is used.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinion expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT
—IN—
Rotary Planing, Tonguing and Grooving Machines.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 21st, 1854.

THIS Improvement has been thoroughly tested and found to possess just what is necessary to perfect the rotary planer.

My machine will plane very much faster and better than any other now in use. I would particularly call the attention of those in want of machines for nice work, or for planing very thin, cross-grained or knotty material, to these machines, as it is impossible for them to tear or throw out loose knots.

My Clapboard Machine will plane and joint as fast as the clapboards can be put into the machine, and perform the work without sorting them so as to plane with the grain, upon any quality of clap boards, in a very superior manner, without tearing the thin edge.

Applications for rights and machines, or for farther particulars, can be made to the Patentee,

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA
PENS.
WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S
Celebrated Catholicon,
FOR THE
RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands pre-eminent as for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, in my friend can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAIT, 38 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that latterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits.

It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

New Light and more Light.
PATENT SMOKE-BURNING
OIL LAMP!

THIS newly invented Lamp, so differently constructed from any other, is believed to be the BEST LAMP ever offered to the Public, for the following reasons:—

It requires no order.) By its use, the danger from Fluid and other EXPLOSIVE COMPOUNDS is avoided; at the same time without the least odor, an amount of Light is produced truly astonishing. The economy with which it may be used makes it desirable for every one, while the price of it puts it within reach of all.

Hundreds of testimonials, from those using them, may be seen at the Store of the subscriber, who is the only agent for the sale of them in this city.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the rich display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSION DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS, with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FIXTURES, as the French call them, or WHAT NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just call on the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of any room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit, and patronize.

Morning Chronicle.

A FIGHTING FAMILY.—In the Police Court this morning, Thomas Hart, William Hart, his brother, and Bridget Hart, wife of Thomas, were charged with assaulting officer Putnam, at East Boston last night. It appears that Mr. Putnam found Thomas Hart drunk in the street and assisted him home, and when he got him there, the whole three turned upon and assaulted the officer, the woman catching him by the hair of the head and one of the men kicking him, while the other held him by the throat. The Court sentenced the woman to pay a fine of $5 without costs, and the men each $12 and one-half the costs, to be committed to the House of Correction until the fine is paid.—Boston Traveller, 15th.

The next time officer Putnam picks up Thomas Hart, he will probably put him into the lock-up, instead of taking him home to Bridget.

INCENDIARY CAUGHT.—We learn from the Haverhill Gazette, that one of the incendiaries who have caused the destruction of so much property in that town, has been caught. The culprit is Nathan Case, a lad perhaps 17 years of age, and an inmate of the Almshouse. He confesses to have set fire to the barn which was burned a few weeks ago, likewise to Mr. Brown's barn. He has a father and mother residing there. The father is idiotic and his mother insane, and their son was born in the Almshouse! His mother set fire to Mr. Appleton's house some years since.

A promising family, these Cases.

The committee appointed at the railroad meeting in San Francisco had decided that a stage route across the Plains is the most practicable means of securing the speedy completion of the railroad, and the State Legislature will probably be called upon to make an appropriation for the purpose.

The City Marshal of Oakland, John Hogan had absconded with $20,000 of the city funds.

The question of the State Capital was about to be decided, and Sacramento would doubtless be the place.

Miss Sarah Pellett had declared her intention of taking out five thousand respectable girls to California.

A libel suit, brought by George Thatcher and wife against the Christian Advocate, had resulted in favor of the plaintiffs, with $3000 damages. The paper had published a letter stating that the plaintiffs were living together without being married.

THE PROPOSED REFORM SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.—Dr. S. G. Howe of Boston, has written a forcible letter to the commissioners of the State Reform School for girls, in condemnation of the principle on which such an establishment is based. He thinks separation, and not congregation, of the vicious, is the true reformatory method, and says, "There is an instinctive shudder at the thought of bringing together, under one roof, or into one establishment, two or three hundred unchaste or unchastely disposed females; and reflection shows that the instinct is a true one."

A YOUNG ROGUE.—A fine trick was played upon our citizens the other evening by a lad who had been skating upon the canal. Some one saw him break through the ice and instantly ran for help. In the meantime the younster extricated himself and ran home; but fearing a flogging, he crept slyly to bed. The people rallied, and searched for him in the canal a long time; and prayers were offered in some of the religous meetings for the bereaved (?) family.—Holyoke Mirror.

EXTRAORDINARY DIVIDEND.—The Lexington (Mo) Mutual Fire and Marine Insurance Company declared on the 1st inst. a dividend of forty-five per cent. to the stock, forty-five per cent. to the customers, and reserved seven per cent. for the contingent fund—all from the business of 1854.

"I've set my face against it," ejaculated a young lady of excellent taste in other respects, who professed a dislike for the quite prevalent fashion of wearing the beard which gentlemen have adopted, much to their comfort and convenience. "I've set my face against it, and there let it rest." Despite this pronunciamento, we shall wear our beard for some time to come, and if the ladies choose "to set their faces against it," we shall bear the proximity, "and there let it rest," with a good degree of complacency, hoping that the faces may all be as beautiful, even in pentance, as the young lady's in question.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 1855.

ACQUISITION OF CUBA.—The speech of Mr. Boyce of South Carolina, on the subject of the acquisition of Cuba, made in the House on Friday last, is highly spoken of by Washington writers. He is said to have taken strong ground against indefinite extension of territory.

"Mr. Boyce said there was, no doubt, a feverish impatience on the part of our countrymen for a further extension of territory. We are in hot haste to become the masters of the world. In one quarter there is a strong desire for the acquisition of Canada; in another for the Sandwich Islands; some are for another partition of Mexico, and others for settling in Central America, and on the Amazon, with a view to the ultimate acquisition of Cuba.—Some have such capacious stomachs as to declare they could swallow the whole continent. He did not sympathize with this idea, and was therefore, opposed to indefinite extension.

So long as Cuba remains in the possession of Spain, we have nothing to dread. We cannot acquire Cuba without a vast increase of our navy, and this would be a sufficient reason for him to oppose it. He admitted that the acquisition of Cuba would extend our commerce and benefit the North; but however anxious he might be for the moneyed prosperity of the North, he was overruled by more important considerations; among them, that it would paralyze the great sugar interest of the South. Instead of annexation, we should seek a treaty of reciprocity with Spain, to apply to Cuba. By this, greater advantages would be obtained for the United States.

After saying that it is inexpedient at this time to annex Cuba, he proceeded to consider the subject as a southern question, arguing that it is full of peril to that section.

In the course of his remarks he contended that the Spanish creoles are unfit for self government, and said he had great doubt whether Cuba would be a reliable slave State, for the reasons which he stated at length."

The Boston Journal hopes there is some truth in the story that the administration has given up the expansion policy.

We do not sympathize much in the hope, as the administration has not, at this time, a great deal of power. We believe the story, however: if the South really does not wish for Cuba, we shall not have it at present.

The acquisition of Cuba has always seemed to us far more desirable than any other territory which we have added within twenty years—and we have desired to buy it, fairly and honorably;—not steal it first, then conquer it, and lastly pay for it. But we are content with our territory as it is, if our people will be easy; and if Spain wishes to keep and can keep Cuba, very well. Let us trade with it and her, more freely than ever. We hope, besides, that Spain, dark as she is, may see light enough to abolish slavery there, and then the island would become more desirable than now, either as a neighbor or a member of our family.

SMALL NOTE LAW.

Governor Bigler has vetoed the bill relieving the Ohio and Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from fines to the amount of $70,000, incurred by these companies in passing small notes contrary to the small note law of Pennsylvania. Several individuals passed constantly along the line of these roads noting all violations of the law, until the penalties had accumulated to the amount of $70,000, when they brought suit. The whole affair, it is alleged, was a speculation on the part of the informers. The bill vetoed did not relieve the companies entirely, but consolidated all the suits into one against each company, with one penalty of $500 in each case. The senate has sustained the veto. The informers were convicted of conspiracy some time since, and sent to the penitentiary. Boston Post.

We know no more about the above matters, than what we learn from the Post. And as we do not know why Gov. B. vetoed the bill, we can hardly pass certain judgment on him. If he vetoed it because it fined the companies so little, we think he did wrong. But if he did so because it fined them so much, then we think he did right.

One thing is certain, the wrong men have gone to the penitentiary. These informers conspired to do exactly what the letter of the small bill law invited and bribed them to do. But the Solons in the legislature, who enacted such a silly statute, ought to go into the penitentiary, and to stay there long enough to work out the fines which their law pledged to the informers.

It is a most singular state of things, when informers are condemned and imprisoned as conspirators, and at the same time the parties against whom they inform are heavily fined.

UNFORTUNATE FAILURE.—We are informed that the Hutchinson singers came up from Lynn on Tuesday to make an anti-slavery chant in the House of Representatives, in honor of the election of Henry Wilson to the post of United States Senator. The Abolition members of the House not only lost the election of their candidate on that day, but they lost the singing of a good anti-slavery song, which is a new feature in legislative luxuries, and which belongs particularly to the present musical branch of the state Legislature.—Boston Courier.

That is to say, in mercantile phrase,—The Hutchinson's notes lie over.

NEW FASHION.—The Empress of France has notified her milliner that during the present winter she intends to wear her bonnet on her head instead of hanging it on her comb!

CELEBRATION OF FRANKLIN'S BIRTH DAY.—As we stated a few days ago, we received an invitation to attend a Printers' Supper at Concord, on the 17th inst., being the Birth Day of Benjamin Franklin, the Statesman, Philosopher and Printer. At the time, we supposed that other matters would prevent our acceptance. Circumstances decided otherwise; a storm detained us in Concord, and there was no excuse for not looking in upon our brothers. In the spacious dining room of the Phœnix Hotel, we found about sixty printers, of all ages and conditions; the veteran master printer, the old jour. and the young "devil"; sitting at the bountifully supplied festive board. At the head of the table, as President, sat Asa M'Farland, of the Statesman, the pattern of typographic perfection in our boyhood. At his right hand set Gov. Baker, and at his left, Gen. Lowe, Mayor of Concord, and near them other invited guests.

After the table was cleared—partly by the company—but the greater moiety by the waiters—the President commenced the intellectual part of the feast. The Governor, the Mayor, Barton of the Reporter, Fogg of the Independent Democrat, Eastman the junior of the Patriot,—all contributed their quota, in answer to sentiments proposed.

Letters were then read from John Prentiss of Keene, Richard Boylston of Amherst, B. P. Shillaber of the Post, Brewster and Fuller of Portsmouth, Buckingham, formerly of the Boston Courier, Edmund Burke; and last but not least from Albin Beard of the Nashua Telegraph, who conjured up scenes of old times, which made the older members of the party grow young again.

The younger portion of the company were not backward in offering their sentiments, some of which were of superior merit.

About midnight the company separated, highly pleased with themselves and with one another. As Shillaber said in his letter in substance:—these reunions cannot but be of benefit to the craft generally, by inciting them to industry and noble deeds, and at the same time keep alive the recollection of the great Philosopher, who from such small beginnings acquired so great a renown.

We cannot leave this matter without giving our testimony in favor of the gentlemanly proprietors of the Phœnix Hotel. The seeker after comfort, and the good trencher man—each will find their highest expectations satisfied at this well arranged establishment.—To visitors at the Capital, we say, stop at the Phœnix—kept by S. H. Dumas & Co.

THE CALICO BALL.—This novel affair came off Monday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Coman, in Fourth street.. About four hundred persons were present—made up of an equal number of both sexes. The ladies, with one exception, wore calico dresses of every imaginable style and pattern. The gentlemen had suits of various kinds, some of them being of a shabby genteel description. The dancing continued until the small hours. One who was there writes:

It Won't Do.—That is—calico won't do for party dresses. The ladies can't stand it. Its texture is too opaque for even the shining qualities of benevolence that it enfolds to illumine. I was disappointed at the ball last night. Not that the affair was, in its main and best feature, unsuccessful—for the poor will get at least two hundred good and serviceable suits of clothes. But I did not think that brocades and satins, laces and diamonds, were so potential. Chocolate colored 'prints' and calicoes, whose colors are chosen because they won't 'show spots,' are a leaden weight to the gaiety of a ball.

One could think of nothing but a party of gay people, doing penance in these hard times, for the dissipations of the past season. There were, however, exceptions. The radiant beauty of some faces won't be obscured, even by calico.

Every lady present was dressed in calico, or something as cheap and serviceable. A few, however, attempted to neutralize the effect by extra decorations or superior management in the 'getting up.'

The gentlemen were variously dressed, mostly as at any other party; some in every day sort of suits, and a few in coarse pea jacket and corduroy affairs, which were got up expressly, and which were very becoming.—N. Y. Mirror.

That's it, exactly, said Uncle Toby, coarse pea jackets and corduroys become men, even gentlemen,—for the ladies say so—but nothing but brocades and satins, laces and diamonds, gewgaws and spider webs, will do for a lady. That's it, exactly; if a lady is a doll, on which to hang ornaments; but a good substantial woman, a fit helpmeet for a man who has to work or think oftener than to dance, will shine even in calico, and without silks or diamonds. Uncle Toby has no objection to either, on women who can afford them of their own property or earnings, or whose husbands or fathers, brothers or sweethearts can. But from those ladies, whose ladyship consists only or chiefly in their finery, let our beloved country have a clean riddance.

By the way, when the rich wear only silk or costly worsted, those who ape the rich cannot wear calico.

A THIMBLE!—A little son of the editor of the Manchester Mirror, swallowed a silver thimble a few days since.—Boston Journal.

Beg your pardon, Mr. Journal, our "little son" can't go thimbles yet! However, one of our brother editors in this city has one that can, and does.—Manchester Mirror.

LOCAL.

RAILROAD PASSENGERS.—The Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad has recently issued new orders to the conductors of that road, concerning free passes in their trains. Some of the officers of the Road and of the Boston & Maine, and Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Roads, are to be passed without being reported, as are the special agents of the post office department. A few cases are left to the sound discretion of the conductor; such, for instance, as officers of other roads passing occasionally over this, shipwrecked seamen, destitute persons, &c. All these, however, have to be specially reported at the office in Salem. No others must be permitted to pass free in a train, under any pretext, whatever, unless furnished with a pass.

The announcement of this new regulation and its enforcement, has caused quite a commotion among those expressmen and "season ticket" passengers whose tickets had long since expired, who, to use a sailor's expression, were "brought up with a round turn." The season ticket passengers, of which there is a large number daily passing over the road, had grown quite careless of late, and had neglected in some cases to renew their tickets when they had run out, promising the conductors to renew them, but neglecting to keep their agreements. These people will of course now have to pay full fare, or be provided with a ticket. We have been told that in several instances, persons had been riding for many months with tickets whose time had expired. These are instances of indulgence which no railroad can afford to extend in times like the present. The reform is a salutary one, and should be persevered in.

REEFING TOPSAILS.

The new ship Ocean Rover, built at this port, was supplied with a mizzen-topsail, rigged with Foster's Patent Reef Gear. From the following letter, written by the captain of that ship, it appears to be a valuable improvement, and worthy of general adoption. The ingenuity of the inventor, Mr. Wm. H. Foster, of this city, deserves a reward in some degree commensurate with the usefulness of his invention.

CHARLESTON, January 10, 1855.
Ship "Ocean Rover"

William H. Foster, Esq.:—Dear Sir,—I have been long neglecting to inform you of the operation of your Patent Gear for Reefing Topsails from the deck, on board the ship "Ocean Rover," which I hope you will excuse. I am happy to say that so far as I have had occasion to use it, it has given me perfect satisfaction, and that I have only to regret that it is not applied to all the topsail yards. On the passage to this port I experienced strong gales from the S. W., and had occasion to use it several times, and on every occasion it worked finely. I am now bound for Liverpool, and from that port I will write you. Wishing you success and ample remuneration for this great invention of the day,

I am yours, respectfully,
McL. F. PICKERING.

HOW SHIPS ARE LOST.—The Boston Traveller says of the ship Tinqua, which struck on the outer shoal of Cape Hattaras, "when the crew left her she was full of water, but with her masts still standing, and when last seen was drifting northeast, and if fallen in with would be found in the Gulf Stream. The stern was all under water. The captain had not sounded before the vessel struck, supposing himself 40 miles eastward of where he was."

☞ A correspondent at Exeter inform us that it is rumored in that town, that Hon. J. S. Wells has accepted the appointment of U. S. Senator in place of Moses Norris, deceased, and that he started for Washington on Wednesday evening.

☞ Rev. B. S. Fanton, of Fall River, Mass. will preach at the Pleasant street Church tomorrow.

☞ Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather, the Fair and Tableaux, at Jefferson Hall have been postponed to Monday evening next.

ORIGIN OF KNOW NOTHINGISM.—The following is one of the resolutions adopted by the infamous Hartford Convention. It embodies the chief idea of Know Nothingism:—

6th.—Resolved, No person who shall hereafter be a naturalized citizen of the United States, shall be eligible as a member of the Senate or House of Representatives of the United States, nor be capable of holding any civil office under the authority of the United States.—N. H. Patriot.

"Federal relations!" said Mrs. Partington, as she heard from her position in the gallery of the senate, a committee appointed upon federal relations, and she looked down pleasantly into the good natured face of the president and patted her snuff box tenderly; "federal relations! well that is queer enough; though I don't know as I blame him much, if his relations are federal, for making a to-do about it; but what upon airth has the gineral court to do with it?" She stopped here in wonder, attracted by a motion of the handsome member from Bristol, while Ike reached over the front of the gallery and tapped upon the head of the old Hessian drum.—Post.

Many lives might be saved by knowledge of this simple recipe. A large teaspoonful of mustard mixed in a tumbler of warm water, and swallowed as soon as possible, acts as an instant emetic sufficient to remove all that is lodged in the stomach.

'Old Folks' Concert."

The next meeting of the "Old Folks," for Rehearsal, will be held AT EXCHANGE HALL, on SATURDAY Evening, the 20th inst., at 7 o'clock.

Mass County Convention at Derry.

A MASS Convention for Rockingham County of the friends of the Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic, will be held at DERRY, January 23d, at 10 o'clock, and continue through the day and evening. Several good speakers will be present. We hope there will be a great gathering of the men and women of the county. By order of the State Committee.

E. W. JACKSON,
Cor. Sec. of State Committee.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Jan. 18.

In the Senate a message was received from the President, enclosing a communication from the Secretary of War, recommending an increase of force to keep the Indians in check. The President proposes that three thousand volunteers be raised to protect overland travlers. There was some debate on Mr. Choate's letter resigning his position as Regent of the Smithsonian Institution, and the letter was finally laid on the table. The consideration of the Judicial Reform Bill was postponed to December next.

In the House a special committee was appointed to inquire into the affairs of the Smithsonian Institution. The message from the President in relation to Indian troubles was received and referred. The Pacific Railroad bill came up in committee of the Whole, and the enacting clause of the original bill was stricken out. A motion to lay the bill on the table was lost.

DISASTROUS SHIPWRECK.—Schooner R. L. Myers, at New York 17th, from Washington, N. C., had on board the master and part of the crew of ship Tingqua, Shanghae for New York, the Tingqua having gone ashore south of Cape Hatteras, in a thick fog on Friday last, and went to pieces. She was commanded by Capt. Jacob Whitmore, and owned by Messrs. Oliphant & Sons. She measured 700 tons. Vessel and cargo of tea and silks a total loss. Crew saved, being picked up by three different vessels. Vessel and freight valued at $60,000, cargo $290,000—all covered by insurance in New York.

The Tingqua was built at this port in 1852, by Geo. Raynes, and was a superior ship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The long shore men, &c., now on a strike, held a meeting last night, at which a compromise was strongly urged by some of the leaders. The proposition did not, however, find favor with a majority of the men, and the matter was laid over.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The annual ball of the New York Fire Department came off at the Academy of Music last night. It was a brilliant affair, and will yield some $6000 for the benefit of the fund.

The Grisi and Mario concert for the benifit of the poor yielded about $6500 after deducting all expenses.

The strike of the 'long shore men, caulkers, labores, &c., has become general in New York city, and the work of repairing, loading and unloading ships at the wharves is almost entirely suspended. It is stated that they have a fund sufficient to last them a month, while the merchants declare they will not yield.

Aunt Rosy was dividing a piece of mince pie among the boys, when Jim, who had wickedly pulled the cat's tail, asked for his share. "No, Jim, you are a wicked boy and the Bible says there is no piece for the wicked."

Hon. Rufus Choate has resigned his seat as Regent of the Smithsonian Institution on account of the recent unjustifiable proceedings of the Regents. His letter of resignation was communicated to Congress. In the house the letter was referred to a special investigating committee.

Charles G. Tucker, who was married in Boston in 1850, and shortly afterward eloped with Mrs Winter, has been arrested at New Haven for bigamy,—having abandoned Mrs Winter and married another woman, his first wife still resideing in Boston.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—The winter term of this Institution commenced Friday the 12th inst., with only 25 students. The reason for this small number is, no less than 175 are engaged in teaching winter schools.

On Monday, in Brooklyn, N. Y., about fifteen hundred persons were supplied with soup. It is said that scarcely an American is seen in the multitude that daily crowd around soup houses in New York.

Miss Sarah Bacon, the bookseller of Cincinnati, who committed suicide, was rendered insane by the loss of $1000 which she had deposited in one of the banks that failed.

There is a story current in the French ranks at Sebastopol that Gen. Canrobert is a son of Napoleon the 1st and Madame de Raincy, which among Frenchmen is enough to secure him enthusiastic admiration and obedience.

The papers say, "It is evident that the apple of discord has been thrown in our midst, and, unless nipped in the bud, it threatens to burst forth into a conflagration that will deluge the whole land." A lively apple, that!—Boston Post.

Of seven thousand children who are every year brought into the celebrated foundling hospital in Paris, less than two hundred are alive at the end of ten years.

The best contrivance for keeping people awake in church, is a clergyman who is wide awake himself.

ORANGES AND LEMONS.—The New-York papers of Saturday mention that these fruits are very plenty and cheap in that city. They were never before sold at such low rates. The Commercial Advertiser says this is the more remarkable from the contrast with almost everything else that is eatable. Sound oranges are sold at ten cents a dozen, and sound lemons at six cents a dozen. The reduction in price is probably owing to the recent arrival of several cargoes of fruit which were shipped for the demand during the holidays, but arrived too late. The market is thus glutted with a perishable commodity, which holders are glad to sell at any price.

STREET TALK.—Two sons of Erin were moralizing over the result or the late election in Massachusetts.

'Bad news, Pat,' says Mike.

'Faith an'you're right there,' responded Pat.

'What would ould General Jackson say to this, if he was alive now?' ejaculated Mike.

'Be gorra,' replied Pat, 'he'd fly he was glad he was dead.'

The Dundee Advertiser says: An esteemed correspondent in Ireland, has sent us a small sample of yarn made from the common nettle. It is very strong, and appears of good spinning quality, and the sender states that he has seen beautiful work made with it in that country. When even the common nettle can thus be turned to account, we need not despair of finding abundant material for manufacture.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we advocate or condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "Americans against foreigners." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

HERTS BROTHERS

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metallic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and numerous experiments has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S Celebrated Catholicon,

FOR THE

RELIEF & CURE OF SUFFERING FEMALES.

It stands preeminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE WOMB; MENSTRUAL HEMORRAGE or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED, AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted) no matter how severe or of how long standing.

Let all interested call and obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use; together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observation.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

Should any entertain doubts as to the efficacy of the UTERINE CATHOLICON, I would respectfully state that I have for many years past, as my friends can well attest, been troubled with the disease for which this medicine is recommended, in its worst forms, and that by its use I have been entirely cured, and thus induced to accept an agency, and offer it for the benefit of others.

MRS. S. GAFF, 58 South street, Boston.

I feel it my duty to make known to the afflicted the virtues of MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON, which has relieved me of Female Complaints of fifteen years' standing, and of so serious a nature, that utterly my physician suspected Cancer of the Womb. I suffered extremely, and at last was entirely disabled from attending to my usual pursuits. . . . . It has given me more relief than any thing I have ever used for these difficulties. I will take pleasure in giving further details of my case to any lady who will call on me at 67 Mill street.

New Light and more Light.

PATENT SMOKE-BURNING

OIL LAMP!

THIS newly invented Lamp, so differently constructed from anything else, is believed to be the BEST LAMP ever offered to the Public, for the following reasons:—

It requires only the Poorest Oil, Lard, Tallow or Grease; and with the same material, produces FOUR OR FIVE TIMES AS MUCH LIGHT As ANY other known Lamp. It is simple in its construction (consequently not liable to get out of order.) By its use, the danger from Fluid and other EXPLOSIVE COMPOUNDS is avoided; at the same time without the least odor, a amount of Light is produced truly astonishing. The economy with which it may be used makes it desirable for every one, while the price of it puts it within reach of all.

Hundreds of testimonials from those using them, may be seen at the Store of the subscriber, who is the only agent for the sale of them in this city.

Splendid Furniture.

THOSE who have not had an opportunity of feasting their eyes by the splendid display of Furniture at the World's Fair, or State Exhibition, may be in a measure compensated for the loss by visiting the

Daniel Street Furniture Rooms,

Under the Sign of the French Sofa. While they admire, they can have an opportunity, if they wish, of securing at a low price, the best of Furniture in the market for their own use.

Here may be found the EXTENSIVE DINING TABLES of different sizes; MARBLE TOP CENTRE TABLES; and a large assortment of FRENCH SOFAS and CHAIRS, covered with plush or silk damask—or the BLACK WALNUT and MAHOGANY SOFAS with hair cloth—as well as some more common articles of the kind. Or you may be well rested in the CANE SEATED CHAIRS, with or without rockers.

These FRAGRAS, as the French call them, or WEST NOTS as the Yankees say, are elegant articles—so are those UMBRELLA STANDS, so useful for the entry.

If you wish to complete the beauty of the chamber, just examine the varieties of ELEGANT CHAMBER SETS, and also that necessary article and useful ornament of every room, the LOOKING GLASS, in frames of either Mahogany or gilt.

These are but few of the many additions which have recently been made to the Daniel street Furniture Rooms, which the public are invited to visit and patronize.

TEMPERANCE AND DANCING.

A temperance meeting was held at the Pleasant Street Church, on Monday week, and owing to a variety of causes, the attendance was very slim. The speakers were Rev. Mr. Lamson, and Rev. Mr. Jackson. The latter gentleman, who is in the employ of the State Temperance Society, stated that he was in Concord on the evening of Jan. 4th, when the Granite Guards gave their ball, and that some of the young men who attended the same, were carried home intoxicated, early in the evening.

This statement we have since seen confirmed in the Phœnix, the temperance paper published at Concord; and it is doubtless correct. Notwithstanding this, we never knew a military ball to come off where there was less dissipation exhibited than at the one in Concord. Many staunch temperance men were present, and among the rest, five or six from Portsmouth. As it was nine o'clock when we entered the hall, the tipsy individuals spoken of had probably been taken away before we arrived, and consequently were not seen by us. What was done after supper—which was despatched about one o'clock—we cannot say, as we did not return after that indispensable ceremony; but we are confident that before that time, no liquor was to be had in the hall. Nothing being said about drunkenness after supper, it is fair to presume that there was none.

A class of people who are always ready to condemn dancing as having an immoral tendency, may, however, cite this case to prove the soundness of their arguments; and it is for their especial benefit that this article is written. To say that balls and dancing cause drunkenness, is absurd. As well might we say that elections have a baneful effect, and that voting is bad business; for where one man gets drunk at a ball, ten get drunk on town meeting day. We have participated in a number of balls, but never yet got drunk. If anybody chooses to make a fool of himself by the too free use of liquor, other people are not to blame for it. A drunkard is a nuisance and a disgrace, whether in a ball room, or a church; but the supposition that people will not go where they enjoy themselves, because intemperate men are to be found there, is not likely to be verified for some time to come.

By the way, we have seen, within a short time, a member of an "evangelical church," in "good and regular standing," staggering through the streets in broad daylight. Did any body say it was the pernicious influence of the church that caused the unfortunate occurrence we witnessed? No, but they might have done so, with as much propriety as it can be said that balls and dancing lead people on to drinking. We are of the opinion that drunkards injure balls, more than balls hurt drunkards. WOODLAND.

LATEST FROM THE WALDOBORO' WILD MAN.—Our readers will recollect that last week we published a communication relating to the discovery of a wild man in Waldoboro', purporting to come from one J. W. McHenri. We have since learned that there is no such man as J. W. McHenri. But the wild man does really exist, there can be no humbug about him. We have been enabled through the kindness of a friend, to obtain his name and pedigree. He is a lineal descendant of the "Striped Pig," a cousin to the "Horse with a snake in his eye," and a distant relative of the "Elephant." He will in a few days, visit this place in charge of General Muggins, Commander-in-Chief of the "Knights of Star Spangled Banner, or Guardians of the Tail Feathers of the American Eagle," when our citizens will have an excellent opportunity to gratify their curiosity in regard to him. By close examination the hair on his body proves to be very coarse, and very much resembles ratan. Some brute in human form, was so cruel as to seize the little fellow by the nape of the neck, and suck the blood entirely from his body, but by the new French process of resuscitating a dead body, his veins were again infused with blood, and at last accounts he was in a very healthy condition. We had almost forgotten to mention his name, it is DEMI surnamed JOHN. If we learn anything further in regard to this remarkable individual we shall give it to the public.—Thomaston Journal, Jan. 11.

Morning Chronicle.

CONNECTICUT AND VERMONT.

We see it stated in the Tribune, that the commitments to the Jail in Norwich, Conn., since the 1st of August, (the day when the public grog shops were abolished,) have fallen off twenty per cent. There are now 17 persons in the jail; generally the number is much larger.

The Keepers of the Alms-House in Norwich report:—They have kept the establishment for ten years. Never had so few Inmates as now. Last year, from 1st August to 25th December, there were thirty-nine commitments. This year only eleven in the same time.

In the autumn Joe Pentland's Circus was exhibited in Norwich, on what is called Jail Hill. After the exhibition of the evening was closed, some friends of temperance remained upon the ground to see if the appearances of dissipation and rowdyism, common on such occasions, would be manifested at this time. How changed! In half an hour all were gone; hundreds of persons had quietly sought their own homes. Under the old system there would have been loud talking, brawling, swearing, fighting all night long, and next day the Police Courts would have been filled.

Do these things show that there is as much drinking in Norwich as ever? The idea is preposterous. The man is insane or very wicked who can assert it.

The fact is, scores of those who did little else but drink before the 1st of August last, are now at work, sober, industrious citizens. This is known—this may be seen every day—and this alone proves that the consumption of intoxicating drinks has immensely diminished. The chief consumers have gone about better business by thousands. We will only add, in corroboration of what we have said, that in New-London, during the three months previous to 1st August, there were 39 commitments to the jail; during the five months since the law went into operation, there have been only 20, and now the jail in that city is without a prisoner—the jail is to let. It is but a few years since it was necessary to enlarge the jails, both in Norwich and New-London, in order to accommodate the increasing number of prisoners.

We have a score of facts besides those now given, showing that the new Law works well in Connecticut; the law is everywhere enforced; there is not an open grog shop in the State. Sixteen hundred of them were shut up on the last day of July; not one of them has since openly resumed business.—That liquors are obtained and drank to some extent in Connecticut, nobody doubts. But that the amount now consumed is to be compared to what it was when all these grog-shops were in full blast, it is worse than idle, it is infamous to assert.

So much for Connecticut. Now let the reader look at some facts from Vermont which are better than forty temperance lectures. The warden of the Vermont State Prison writes as follows:

The pecuniary prospects of our prison look rather gloomy for want of more convicts; four years ago we had 92 convicts; now only 65. A large portion of our expenditures are the same, with this small number, as when we had the larger number, and the receipts must be about $2,500 less this year than then.

I have looked about for the cause; and thought justice was not meted out as it should be, by our courts. But I am driven to the conclusion, after all, that our stringent liquor law is the real cause; which, I am sure, is an injury to the prison in this respect, and it will be the means of its calling on the State Treasury for a portion of its support; when, if no liquor law was in force, it would pay a small sum into the Treasury annually.

The Boston Telegraph learns that the county jails in Vermont are, from the same cause, encountering hard times, and it is thought some of them "will be obliged to suspend and shut up for want of customers."

It should be remembered that Vermont has been, for the last four years, enjoying a very close liquor law, and one year ago enacted another, a little closer. Under this new law, the State Prison in Vermont is in a fair way to become a burden on the State Treasury! When the number of criminals was 90 or 100, their labor paid the expenses of the establishment; but now when reduced to about 60, the necessary expenditures for support of officers, &c., continuing the same, about $2,500 will be necessary, in addition to their labor, to maintain them.

A BEAUTIFUL IDEA.—The Lowell News contains an advertisement of the Lowell chorus society for a Sunday evening rehearsal,—in which it is stated that they perform nothing but the highest order of Sacred Music, such as the best christians ought to admire, and receive a benefit from. They invite all persons who are interested in the advancement or cultivation of such music, and who wish to be prepared to take part in the 'Great Anthems of Eternity,' are requested to join their class.

A New-York lady by the name of Waters, while sitting in a car at the Erie Railroad depot in Jersey City, put her head out of the window for the purpose of ascertaining if her baggage had been properly taken care of.—At that moment the train started, and her head coming in contact with a post near the track, she fell back into the car, dead.

The Ohio Farmer says, Charles Carpenter, of Kelley's Island, from a single acre of grapes, last season, expressed 808 gallons of juice, making 700 gallons of wine. Beside this, he sold $100 worth of grapes, and his family and fifteen hands ate all they chose during the season. The single acre yielded at least $1200.

THE WHIGS ALIVE.

Our worthy neighbor, the old Gazette, tells all good democrats to "remember, that under whatever name or cover our assailants approach, they are still whigs—they are still sectionalists—they are still foes to the peace of the Union, and dangerous to our national security."

Now let the reader consider for a moment, the whig party alive and working, dangerous creatures, as described in the above lines,—and then look at the following extract from that leading democratic paper, the Eastern Argus, which we will entitle

THE WHIGS DEAD.

The time was, when the great whig party, under Hamilton—the Adamses, Clay, Webster, and other great leaders, claimed to be, and was a party of principles. With an ability and a devotion worthy a better cause, it maintained a steady, powerful, yet hopeless warfare upon the great democratic party of the country. No one, whatever may be his political preferences, can read the history of this long contest, waged with an earnestness and ability seldom if ever equalled, never surpassed, in the history of political warfare, without feeling that there was grandeur in the struggle; something ennobling in this contest for principles. But those days are past and gone. The great expounders of whig principles are gone also, and with them have perished the whig party.

But the great democratic party of the country is not gone. It still stands bravely upon its time honored platform of principles, defying alike the ravages of time and the assaults of its foes.

We are not called upon to harmonize these views; we only give them as we find them.

But let no true friend of the country and of mankind be frightened, whether either or both of these parties be dead or living. New parties are easily and rapidly formed, as good as the old.

Principles are eternal as well as essential, while policies and parties are ephemeral and must be ever changing, with varying circumstances. We have not much faith in the immortality of parties; new issues break up old parties; and new ones will continue to arise and pass away in their turn.

For the Chronicle.

WOMEN'S VOTING.

The signs of the times are ominous. The world is turning over very fast. Wisdom sprouts out of sap heads, like toad stools from a manure heap. We shall soon see wonders. Won't it be a glorious time, when all the girls wear breeches, and go a courting? Jolly will be that joyous day.

How glad I was to see that article the other day, in the Chronicle, from—(I do not know who,) but he was in favor of it. How glad I was, I say, to see the "women's rights" in the newspapers. Every "decent man," or every sensible man, as Miss Lucy says, will be in favor of it. There are some men who seem to be insensible, on the subject. They have raised their standard, but it has got to come to the ground. Beecher says so, and he is one of the sensibles.

What a grand time there will be when the women take part in politics. The Whig women did, when General Harrison was elected, in 1840. Then the men and women could stay at political meetings almost all night. O what happy times there were, just then! The men were happy—O how happy were the men! The hard cider made many of them drunk; but of course the women kept them steady; for they were there, in the good times of Harrison and hard cider. It was Tip and Ty, we all know why. That was a sample of the happy times, when the women will keep the men politically sensible.

O what a happy change is coming, when the naughty man that is'nt decent enough to believe in women's voting, will have to stay at home and nurse the babe, and give his wife a chance to act the sovereign! And then, that wife who is not quite a mother, yet—she will be at the polls, to mix among the crowd, and take her turn with modesty most wonderful, becoming woman! O won't it be a glorious day! The old grey headed chap will have to stay at home, and cook a dinner for his decrepit wife, if she gets home alive from doing a patriot's duty. The young women, wading through the mire, with garments drabbled and muddy for a foot or two—they'll never mind it—they?—I tell you—they'll never mind it! O, it will be a glorious day for women's rights!

A brighter day is coming. Here and there may be a Lucy, now; but in that day we'll hear of many a Luce. The manly virtues will be found in women—those gentler virtues will have been dismissed, when Lucy shall be turned to Luce. They are not prized, even now, by "decent men."

O what a brilliant time 'twill be, when men shall nurse the children, to let the women go a voting; and every surly chap that will not yield to women's rights, shall make his shirts, and mend his stockings, and once a week, at least, be turned into a washer woman! Beecher says it, and it must be so. A.

WOOD.—The Portland Advertiser congratulates its readers that good hard wood is falling in price in that city, and is now sold at $6 a cord. The Boston Journal says—We wish we could extend similar congratulations to our readers. In this city, good Eastern wood sells for only ten dollars a cord.

THE CONCERT.

The following extracts are clipped from the New York Express:

OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.—The people of Portsmouth, N. H., are to be treated to a second concert by the "old folks." The Chronicle publishes the programme, which we copy for the perusal of our readers of the older generation.

The editor here gives the programme entire as it is published in our advertising columns and exclaims—

Oh! that we could be there! We have not heard a real live Psalm Tune for 20 years,—and our head is so full of Ta-ral-a-ras, and other Italian jingle,—that if we had time, we would walk all the way to Portsmouth daily to hear "Old Hundred." Even a good old Yankee Hymn, sung through the nose by the Choir, would be refreshing.

When preparation for these concerts in Portsmouth, was first being made, we told some inquirers that they would prove an interest and success, second only to the reception of the "Sons" home, a year or two since. The result has proved we were correct.

CLEAR THE SIDEWALKS.—According to the Snow Ordinance passed by our City Council a few weeks since, the occupants or owners of buildings are ordered to "keep the sidewalk adjoining their premises free from snow;" and to "remove into the street and evenly spread," all snow from said sidewalks, "within six hours of the time it may fall or be blown there." The penalty for non-compliance, is a fine not exceeding $10 for each offence, and costs of prosecution; "and it shall be the duty of the Street Commissioner, under the counsel and direction of the Mayor, to cause this Ordinance to be enforced." Now we know of some places where this service of the Street Commissioner is needed; and it is to be hoped His Honor the Mayor may "counsel and direct" as his wholesome law provides.

EXECUTION FOR MURDER.—Galena, Ill., Jan. 19.—John J. Taylor was executed here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, for the murder of his wife. About 10,00 were present. He spoke for nearly an hour, and professed his innocence at heart for the crime, blaming liquor for it all. He expressed a hope and belief that he was forgiven by his Maker, and died without a struggle.

NOTICE TO CABINET MAKERS.

THE Subscriber, wishing to introduce into Portsmouth and vicinity, the use of his

PATENT SELF ACTING

TABLE LEAF SUPPORT,

would ask the attention of Cabinet Makers and others interested in this very desirable improvement in the mode of supporting Table Leaves. It is a substitute for the Fly Rail and Swivel now in use for that purpose,—it is as simple in its construction, as cheap, and much more convenient, requiring no stooping to raise or lower the Leaf.

Wishing to exclusive Rights to use them in that vicinity, all letters addressed to me desiring information as to terms, prices, &c., or Circulars and descriptions will be promptly attended to.

One or more persons could do a good business putting them in from house to house. To such they will be furnished at a discount from the retail price, which is 30 cents per Table. To those owning "Rights" they will be furnished at cost if desired.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 19.

SENATE.—Mr. Seward, of New York, presented a resolution authorizing the President to negotiate with the British government for the establishment of a light house on Cape Race. Passed.

Mr. Houston, of Texas, presented a memorial from certain Cherokee Indians, for the payment of sums under the treaty of 1835. Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

He also presented a memorial from a committee of the soldiers of the war of 1812, relative to the appointment of pension agents.

A bill for the relief of Thomas Ap-Catesby Jones was taken up. The bill provides for the payment of the sum of which he was deprived by the decision of a court martial in 1851. The President had restored Commodore Jones, but cannot interfere with the matter of the amount claimed. The bill was advocated by Messrs Seward, of New York, Gwinn, of California, and others. After some debate, Mr. Seward said he should propose to send back the bill to the committee, to be altered to something in the shape of a reward to the old hero, without reference to this court martial.

The bill for the relief of the children and heirs of Baron de Kalb, was taken up and passed.

HOUSE.—Mr. Faulkner, of Virginia, asked leave to introduce a bill for the suppression of Indian hostilities. He had made the motion in response to the message of the President, asking for three thousand volunteers to serve for eighteen months to check the apprehended outrages of the Indians. Mr. F. wanted the bill printed and recommitted to the committee on Military Affairs.

Many speeches were made upon the Pacific Railroad bill, and it was apparent that unity of action had not been agreed upon by the friends of the bill. Some want three roads, others one grand trunk road with two branches. Mr. Benton's resolution to commit the bill to a select committee of thirty-one was rejected. The struggle will be resumed tomorrow.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT AND LOSS OF LIVES. The morning train from Portland for Boston, on Friday, when about four miles out, was thrown from the track, by the breaking of the gearing of the snow plough. The Roadmaster, Mr. Elbridge G. Leavitt, and the Engineer, Mr Franklin Rogers were killed, and Mr. Waterman slightly wounded. No passengers were injured. The nature of the accident is such that it is evident no blame can be attached to any person.

The passengers returned to Portland, and in consequence of the accident, the next train over the road did not arrive in Boston until midnight. All the down trains were delayed nearly all day.

The storm in Maine is represented to have been very severe, and none of the trains due at Portland had arrived when the train for Boston left.—Boston Ada.

The Liverpool Times gives the following report of the melancholy fate of a government staff of Photographers, on their way to Sebastopol:

LOSS OF THE GOVERNMENT STAFF OF PHOTOGRAPHERS IN THE BLACK SEA.—Some months since the government despatched Mr Nichlin, photographic artist, with two sappers and miners as assistants, with a valuable set of apparatus, for the purpose of taking views about the fortifications of Sebastopol. We regret to learn that the whole perished with the Rip Van Winkle, which foundered in the late hurricane off Balaklava.

OUTRAGEOUS IMPOSITION.—We learn that yesterday a very respectable Irish family, who have by their industry acquired a little property, received a letter purporting to come from Gov. Gardiner, stating that if the man did not come up to the State House and see His Excellency before 12 o'clock, his goods and house would be confiscated. The man accordingly went up to Boston, and the woman in great distress offered one of our citizens the house at his own price if he would take it off her hands. Fortunately there was no harm done, but no thanks are due to the perpetrator of this gross hoax on that account. Lynn Daily, Jan. 17.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The annual election for officers of the Mercantile Library Association was held yesterday, and was the occasion of most disgraceful proceedings on the part of the members, who amused themselves by throwing about the bibles and prayer books of a religious society, who worshipped there on Sundays.

DRUNKENNESS IN CONGRESS.—A Washington letter writer says: "I have never witnessed a more animated scene in the House, than occurred this (Thursday) morning. The House having gone into Committee on Swamp Land bill, Mr. Harris of Mississippi, took the floor to deliver a general speech on the state of the Union, embracing, according to his custom, all the controverted political topics of the day. I regret to say that this member was so shamefully intoxicated, that his condition was shameful to himself and the House. As he previously transgressed his privilege in the same manner, the House certainly ought no longer to tolerate him in these violations of common propriety. The colleagues of the member persuaded him, after a few minutes of wild gesticulation and ineffective effort to proceed, to yield the floor."

THE FAILURES AT THE SOUTHWEST.—There seems to be a great monetary panic at the Southwest, and several large firms in St. Louis and New Orleans have suspended during the past week. A Western merchant now in Boston, estimates that the indebtedness of the houses which have suspended since January 1st, in the Southwestern cities, cannot be below ten millions of dollars.—Transcript.

We learn from the Dover Enq. that Nancy Hall of Barrington, was found dead about half a mile from Pittsfield village, on the morning of Nov. 29th last. Mrs. Hall left her home on the morning of the 28th to visit her daghter at Pittsfield, a distance of about 17 miles. It is supposed that, being languid from the effects of her journey, she sat down to rest, and fell asleep and perished from the effects of the cold. She was 49 years of age, and leaves a husband and only daughter.

n22 ALBERT LAIGHTON.

A PLEASURE TRIP ON THE PACIFIC.—A California paper says that a trip from there to Honolulu is getting quite the fashion—going down and stopping there a fortnight, amid the bananas, oranges and pine-apples; paying a visit to the volcanoes and other curiosities; and then returning to business refreshed in health and spirits and after an agreeable sojourn in the beautiful tropical climate of the Sandwich Islands, and an absence of a little over a month. The passage is made in from ten to fifteen days.

The American Colonization Society met in Trinity Church, Washington City, on Tuesday. The receipts for the year have been about $65,000, and the expenditures have exceeded this sum. Nearly six thousand emigrants have been sent out during the year, chiefly emancipated slaves; but the want of funds has constrained the executive committee to delay sending many suitable emigrants who are anxious to go. An earnest appeal is renewedly put forth for funds.

Elizabeth Frances Howard, or Sullivan, who stabbed Henry Kerrison, the policeman at San Francisco, was connected for a time with the People's Theatre, and lately has kept a cigar shop in that city. She is a native of New York, and lately from New Orleans. After her arrest a letter addressed to Kerrison was found upon her person, in which she threatens him with death for betraying her and leaving her to a life of prostitution.

The Weekly Chronicle,

An Independent Family Newspaper,

Only $1 per year, in Advance.

The Weekly Chronicle and the American Phrenological Journal, or Water-Cure Journal, for only $1.50 per year; or all three for $2.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE has now been before the public for two years; and the steadily-increasing list bespeaks its popularity, no less than the favorable opinions expressed of it wherever it is known. Being published in connection with the Daily Chronicle, we are enabled to give in the Weekly, more reading matter than could otherwise be afforded for $1.

During the present Winter much interest will be felt in the movements of the various political parties in the State and Nation. And perhaps there is no more reliable source for information respecting the movements, prospects and conditions of each and all parties—than a newspaper free from the shackles of any of them. We shall not hesitate to express any opinion which we deem our duty as public journalists calls for; nor shall we feel bound to condemn any movement because this or that sect or party may agree or disagree with us. But while we shall not feel bound to the sway of any party, we mean to treat all courteously; and while fearlessly expressing our convictions, we hope to be able to "give a reason for the faith that is in us."

On the American question we long ago expressed our opinion; and all who have been our readers, know that the Chronicle has ever been in favor of "American governing America." We do not feel inclined to resign this policy, merely because the Know Nothing party have adopted it.

In matters of Local interest, our Daily issue enables us to give full reports—forming a most interesting feature in the Weekly.

TERMS $1 a year, strictly in advance. We will furnish the Weekly Chronicle, and either the American Phrenological Journal or the Water-Cure Journal, for $1.50 per year; or the Chronicle and both these excellent Monthlies, for $2 per year. The regular subscription price of each of the above monthlies is $1 per year.

AMALGAMATED IRIDIUM ZINC & PLATINA

PENS.

WARRANTED NOT TO CORRODE.

HERTS BROTHERS, having been many years engaged in the manufacture of Metalic Pens, and during that time, having devoted their unceasing attention to improving and perfecting that useful and necessary article, the result of their unceasing efforts and enormous expenditure has been the construction of a Pen on a principle entirely new, combining all the advantages of the elasticity and clearness of the Quill, with six times the durability of the Steel Pen; and thus entirely obviating the only objection that has hitherto existed against the use of Steel Pens.

This Pen will be found an invaluable article in Offices, as they never need wiping, also to Banks and Schools, as they will not spatter nor cut the thinnest paper, and are warranted anti-corrosive.

CAUTION.—The universal celebrity of these Pens having induced several disreputable Makers to foist upon the public a spurious imitation, it will please to be observed that each genuine Pen is stamped, "HERTS, BROTHERS' PATENT, 1853," and each box of Genuine Pens will contain a label with a fac-simile of the Manufacturers' name.
